PA NEWC OBSERVES

Motorists who were out last night about ten o'clock witnessed one of the most noticeable shooting stars that has been seen in a long time. It appeared in the northeast, and was visible for quite a while as it streaked across the sky.

Plans of the South Side Board of Trade to undertake the improvement of Gaston Park is a commendable plan. This park could be improved and beautified without a great deal of expense, if the proper effort were made.

The Meyer avenue paving job is progressing along with the other street projects. Concrete has been poured along one side.

Pa Newc notices that most of the city's playground instructors need not depend upon an Atlantic City visit to tan them. Old Sol has done well right here. Most of them, being out-of-doors all through the day, have acquired vigorous tan coats.

The Lions Club men plan to get together with their wives for a jolly good outing at the McCombs farm, Mt. Jackson road, on Friday night of this week. The Kiwanians, while it's not yet definite, may picnic at Camp Rentz of the "Y" the second week in August.

Another convenient postal substation may be opened within the near future on Long avenue, Postmaster Edwin Crawford indicates. The station once was known as No. 5.

Repair work on gas lines on West Washington street between Beaver street and the Shenango river will be completed soon.

The school houses, looking from the outside, do appear deserted. But inside many of them there's improvement work going on. A month from today and it won't be so long until the bells commence their ringing.

One resident told Pa Newc that yesterday, a rainy, dismal day, found it more difficult for him to locate a parking place for his car than on

Daring Hold-up On South Side By Two Bandits

ROBBERS SECURE $83 FROM STORE AND MEN

All Three Of Robbers' Victims Are Tied Together In Rear Of Store

One of the most daring hold-ups on the South Side in a number of years took place on Tuesday evening about 11 o'clock at the store of John C. Wajert, of 16 West Long avenue, when two young men secured about $83 from the proprietor and a customer who was in the store at the time.

Another customer who entered the store during the hold-up was tied to Wajert in the back of the store. The robbers failed to get any money from the third man.

Mr. Wajert was about to close his business place about 11:00 o'clock. A customer was having a drink at the time when two young men about 28 years old stepped into the store and asked Mr. Wajert for a Kodak. Thinking that the two men asked for the wrong item, Mr. Wajert asked if they wanted films.

Revolver Is Drawn

While Wajert was turning around, one of the two men said, "I mean this" and pulled out a revolver. While one of the the robbers covered Wajert the other covered Isadore Szelest of 10 West Long avenue who was in the drug store at the time. Both were ordered in the back of the store where they were bound face down, by wire which the two bandits had with them.

The bandits tied Mr. Wajert's and Mr. Szelest's hands. Then the bandits searched the two victims and secured $47.50 from Mr. Szelest's pockets and about two dollars or more in change from Wajert. One of the two robbers secured keys from Wajert's pocket and opened the safe

Fifteen Firemen In Erie Overcome

WOMAN SUFFERS FRACTURED ARM

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., July 22.—Fifteen of the twenty-five firemen overcome fighting a spectacular blaze which destroyed the Commodore Bowling Alley on East Twelfth Street, above the Twelfth Street Market House, were recovering today at the Hamot hospital.

Mrs. Daniel G. Whalley, 50, of 1018 French street, rescued from the blazing building, was confined to the hospital suffering a fractured arm.

Loss Is $60,000.

Loss in the blaze was estimated by firemen at about $60,000. The firefighters were swept down regularly by the thick billows of smoke as they sought to enter the building. Police and private cars rushed them to the hospital.

Woman Injured.

Mrs. Whalley, who operates a store in the Market below the bowling alley, was injured when she fell in her haste to recover valuables in the path of the blaze.

Day crews were ordered on duty early this morning as members of the regular night force were exhausted and overcome. Chief Michael Leonard directed the fight against the flames, ladders were raised to the second floor of the building and tons of water poured through the opened windows.

Eighteen bowling alleys in the building were destroyed by the blaze. Smoke and water damaged 350 market stalls on the first floor. The blaze was brought under control only with great difficulty.

Post Office Lease Supervisor Here

Believes Decision Is About Reached On Site For Building

Official Goes To Ellwood City On Business On Site There

Enroute to Ellwood City, where he planned to negotiate matters bearing upon that city's new post office site, M. V. Brown, of Pittsburgh, U. S. Post Office lease supervisor who helped make the site inspection here some time ago, stopped to spend last night here.

Mr. Brown was returning from Girard, O., where he had been called on business for the department.

He said that while he has been somewhat out of touch with the New Castle site situation for weeks, everything gives him reason to believe that a decision in regard to a site choice would soon be reached.

In Erie, Mr. Brown has been notified, work on a new $565,000 post office building is expected to be started next week. It will rise directly across the street, he said, from the city's magnificent railroad depot.

After completing his Ellwood City business, Mr. Brown planned to return to Pittsburgh.

France Balking At Suggestions Of Disarmament

Curt Announcement She Has No Intention Of Cutting Disappoints

HOOVER BELIEVED IDEA PROGRESSING

"Real Disarmament" Plan For Geneva Conference Hits Stumbling Block

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22. France's curt announcement to the world that she has no intention of reducing her armament, either on land or on sea, unless her security is guaranteed by other world powers constituted a heavy blow today to President Hoover's carefully planned foreign policy for the next year.

It has been Mr. Hoover's hope that the present London conference can clear up the German situation, and put France and Germany on a more friendly footing, this to be followed next February by the nations getting together at Geneva and undertaking some "real disarmament." All of the moves which the president has initiated during past weeks have been in support of the administration's ultimate objective—radical reduction in armament.

Furore Created.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 22.—This conference in London ought to be called "a hard luck testimonial meeting." It had no more than opened than each nation jumped up and told how poor they were, before the others had even a chance to ask 'em for anything.

Ramsay MacDonald (a Scotchman) was the host and toastmaster. Before he finished he had 'em all in tears with England's condition.

France brought their own lunch (and not much of it).

Even "Uncle Andy" Mellon, to stave off a possible touch, joined the spirit of the thing and wore a Pennsylvania homespun suit and no socks.

It wound up by Germany offering to loan them what little she had left.

Yours,

Will Rogers

Capture Huge Snake In Bay At Sandusky

Tales Of Immense Serpent In Bay Are Verified By Capture Of Monster

EXPERT SAYS ITS INDIAN PYTHON

Mystery Unexplained As To How Serpent Came To Be In Lake Erie

(International News Service)

SANDUSKY, O., July 22.—Lake Erie residents who chuckled over the gossip of the past week that a huge sea serpent was haunting the waters of Sandusky Bay, showed evidences of belated alarm today with the capture of the reported monster, an 18-foot snake.

The reptile, believed to be an Indian Python, or Python Moluius, was taken from the lake by Clifford Wilson and Frances Bagenstose, cement company salesmen of Cincinnati, O. It was expected to be taken to Cincinnati today for presentation to the Cincinnati Zoo.

Says It's Indian Python

Discovery of the serpent, the reports of which were regarded as unreliable until the snake was displayed, brought Harold L. Madison, curator of the Cleveland museum of natural history, to the scene.

Madison termed the reptile as Indian Python, overriding an early theory that the snake was a Boa Constrictor.

"The markings are definite. There is a lance-shaped spot about two inches long on the Indian Python's head and this appears clearly on this snake. He stated.

Speculation was rife today as to how the snake had gotten into the lake and from whence it came.

Not Lake Erie Native

"The reptile is not a native of Lake Erie," Madison said, "and you can't find another within a thousand miles of it."

The curator's theory blasted an earlier belief that the serpent was one of two Boa Constrictors which had been stolen from the Toledo Zoo several months ago.

Wilson and Bagenstose related that the snake rose up beside their boat as they were fishing in Sandusky Bay late yesterday. Wilson stated that he saw the reptile first and struck it with an oar.

The snake, he said, rolled over on its back and he hit it again before dragging it into the boat. It was believed dead until the two men took it to shore when it became active and was placed into a box.

Retail Grocers Hear Speakers

Banquet And Meeting Held Tuesday Night At Elk's Home

GROCERS' PROBLEMS ARE CONSIDERED

First annual banquet meeting of the New Castle Retail Grocers association held last night at the Elks club was a decidedly successful affair and was attended by more than a hundred members, special guests and friends of the association.

Addresses of the evening were along the line of better merchandising and all the speakers were expressive of the belief that the independent grocer has better days in store for him, through cooperative buying and advertising and the improvement of selling methods, in other words, according to one of the speakers because the independent grocer is making himself "better than his competition".

MAN RUNS AMUCK WITH SHOT GUN IN MINING VILLAGE

(Bulletin 10:30 A. M.)

Four persons were shot to death and four were injured when a miner at No. 2 Mine, near Leesburg, ran amuck this morning, and started shooting with a shotgun, and revolver, and used a knife in attacking a number of others.

The man who is charged with the killing is Marco DeMosonte, and he was shot in the leg, while being overpowered, and is now in the hospital at Mercer.

Those shot and killed are:

Mrs. Marco DeMosonte, his wife; Mrs. Alfonso Facetti, a relative; Gaston Diviliqua, and Mrs. Frank Yakello.

Those injured are Mrs. Pete Piscilian, and son Tony, and Mrs. Mike Banan and daughter, Florence. All were taken to the Mercer hospital.

According to reports received here of the shooting, the man who ran amuck was in Mercer yesterday for examination, and it was expected that he would be removed from the town today.

Apparently, armed with a shotgun and revolver, he started out this morning, shooting his family, and those he came in contact with in the village. He was finally subdued by George Matthews, of the Union Supply Company, after being shot in the leg, and was taken into custody and removed to Mercer.

The demented man used a knife in attacking some of the persons wounded, after he had used the shotgun and revolver.

Seventy Five Striking Miners Being Questioned In West Virginia Disorder

CONSPIRACY CHARGES MAY BE PREFERRED

(International News Service)

WELLSBURG, W. Va., July 22.—Seventy-five striking miners under arrest here in connection with mine strike disorders of which the latest outbreak was the firing upon a group of 50 miners as they were entering a mine were being questioned today by Brooks County Prosecutor James Wilkins.

Tentative charges of violating the Redman Conspiracy Act are lodged against the arrested men, they face conviction of from 2 to 10 years imprisonment upon conviction.

Are Rounded Up

Enroute to Steubenville to participate in a demonstration, 61 of the suspects were rounded up by seven Brooks county deputies. They were arrested on the McKinleyville road near the scene of the disorder in which William Thompson, a negro miner, was injured by a shot from snipers' bullets. Peace Caravan Speakers Come

Meeting tonight in the Cathedral, to be addressed by members of the Pennsylvania Disarmament Caravan now enroute throughout the state to bring before the people the objects of the Disarmament Conference to be held in Geneva next February, will be held at eight o'clock. The meeting is being held under the auspices of the International Relations Committee of the Woman's Club.

The Caravan, which participated in a meeting at the Slippery Rock State Teachers' College at noon, is expected to arrive in the city between three and four o'clock. It will be met on the way here by a detachment of city police and a number of cars bearing members of the Woman's Club and other ladies interested in the movement and escorted to the home of Mrs. William Cosel, Leasure avenue, who is chairman of the International Relations Committee of the Woman's Club. They will be entertained there at dinner.

Churches of the city are co-operating in the affair and at the First United Presbyterian church, prayer meeting has been dispensed with in order that the people may attend from that church.

The meeting is free and open to all and as the Cathedral is known for its coolness in the warmer weather now prevaling, those attending can do so in comfort. The speakers will be brief and the program will be over before ten o'clock, so that no person will be detained for a very long time. An opportunity

MINISTERS DISCUSS GERMAN FINANCES

Stimson Says Possibilities For Agreement At Conference Seem Excellent

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 22.—Meeting the American newspaper correspondents here today to report "real progress achieved" at the seven-power conference, Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, dropped a bombshell into the midst of the correspondents with the announcement that the so-called "American Plan" for German relief was really American and British in conception.

The "four point" plan, the American secretary of state said, actually was presented by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, and had been discussed in Paris previous to its issuance in Washington by President Hoover.

Real Progress.

"Very real progress was achieved at the conference today and we are very hopeful that we will be able to finish tomorrow," Mr. Stimson said.

"The minds of the conferees are uniting on the suggestion of possible aid for Germany, and all acrimonious issues were absent."

He then dropped his bombshell

Former Secretary Fall Starts Prison Routine

(International News Service)

SANTA FE, N. M., July 22.—Albert Bacon Fall, once the most powerful political figure in this sparsely settled western state, now number 6991 in the penitentiary here, gradually took up prison routine today.

He was one of two federal prisoners in the institution, the other being an Indian serving a term for thefts on a government reservation.

Fall's seintence of a year and a day was for accepting a bribe in connection with naval oil leases while secretary of interior in the cabinet of President Warren Harding.

Since Fall went behind the gray stone walls he has been protected from all publicity and only unofficial reports have come from authorities. His room is on the second floor in the penitentiary hospital. From the iron-barred windows he can see the towering Sangre De Cristo range of the Rockies.

On his first day, Fall read in bed until 1:30 a. m. and slept until 10 o'clock when Dr. Eugene W. Fiske, prison physician, gave him an examination. His findings bore out previous ones by army doctors showing Fall with a weak heart and arrested tuberculosis.

In the physician's opinion, Fall will leave in better health than he has had for years partially because worry over serving a prison sentence is behind him.

Fall's needs are looked after by Robert H. Evans, serving a life term for murdering a night watchman.

Yesterday Fall received his first mail, reported to consist largely of advertisements from publishing houses.

Mrs. Fall, her two daughters, Mrs Jouett Elliott and Mrs. C. C. Chase, and Martha Fall, a granddaughter, visited the ex-secretary in the afternoon.

Probe Fatal Plane Crash Of Two State Guard Fliers

(International News Service)

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., July 22.—Three officers of the 103rd observation squadron of the Pennsylvania National Guard air corps unit today opened an investigation into cause of a plane crash in which Lieut. Frank A. Johnson, 43, of Upper Darby, and Sergeant Paul W. Dernoeden, 23, of Philadelphia were killed last night when their airplane struck a tree, crashed and burst into flames just outside the army air depot here

Johnson, pilot of the ship, and Dernoeden, co-pilot and mechanic, were burned almost beyond recognition.

Cause of Crash Mystery.

Cause of the crash remained a mystery early today as the board of investigation, consisting of Capt George R. Dickens, Capt. Frank S. Gilleskie and Lieut. G. D. Decoursey, all members of the National Guard unit, opened its inquiry.

The two fliers started from the air depot for the state National Guard training camp at Mt. Gretna to establish contact with ground radio stations of the National Guard, now encamped at Mt. Gretna.

About an hour after it took off according to attaches at the depot it returned over Middletown, cruising about over the depot at a low altitude.

Both residents of the town and mechanics at the field said the motor of the plane sounded in good condition.

Bankers Plan To Aid Germany

President's Proposals Are In Measure Plan Of American Bankers

CREDITS WILL NOT BE WITHDRAWN

By PIERCE MILLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22—President Hoover's new proposals for the rescue of Germany from financial distress actually represent to a large degree, the American Banker's plan to save the billions invested in Germany, it was learned from official sources today.

The president put forward his proposals, the foundation rock of which is maintenance of more than $1,200,000,000 of short term credits already granted German banks, after assurances from at least twelve of the biggest bankers in New York that their $600,000,000 of credits would not be withdrawn during six or eight months required to put the German financial structure on a solid basis.

These assurances at first reluctantly considered and finally given, enabled the president to submit his suggestions to the London conference, confident that the American bankers would do their part.

The other features of the new proposals are a natural corollary to the prime necessity for keeping the foreign money granted Germany in the past, in that country. Conversion of the short term credits during the next six or eight months into long term obligations, the hope of American bankers is expected to obviate the necessity for new money.

Explosion In Open Hearth Mill Of Carnegie Steel Plant, Two Girls Among Victims

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Six persons, two of them girls, injured in an explosion in the open hearth mill No. 3 of the Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel company, were recovering today.

Andrew Sovich, 38, an employe, 442 Cherry Way, Homestead, the most seriously injured, was confined to the Homestead hospital suffering burns about the face and body.

The explosion occurred when a large section of cinder-slag was dropped into a wet gondola car. The blast was heard over the entire Homestead district and shattered windows four blocks away.

those balmy days we've been enjoying.

There was a freshness to things this morning, the first for a long time. That torrid, sticky heat had gone. We'll not venture a guess how long.

So far this summer, and we hope all summer, there's been very little occasion or none at all for the community's Flying Squadron of skilled swimmers to function. Nevertheless, the Squadron stands alert to answer any emergency call.

Yesterday's temperature was quite a contrast to that of a year ago, when the last day of the extreme heat wave was ended by a slight shower. The temperature dropped from 100 degrees to 83 degrees on the succeeding day, when another shower was observed. Curiously enough, we have had rain on the same two days this year, July 21 and 22.

Councilman Reeves suggestion that tree limbs be taken to a central spot and burned is a good idea. A great many people have been having the tops cut out of their trees following the severe winds this summer, and the debris has been hauled to the nearest convenient spot. This constitutes a fire hazard.

PROBING ATTACK MADE ON MINERS ENTERING SHAFT

miners as they were about to enter the McKinleyville mine of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Coal Company.

According to a signed statement allegedly made by Mike Mauer, president of Local No. 41, National Miners Union, members of the Union on Monday, the day before the shooting, decided to prevent the strike breakers from entering the McKinleyville mine. The signed statement was procured by Sheriff Irvin Charnock, he said.

All the prisoners were held under heavy guard in the Brooks county courtroom as there was not sufficient room in the jail for their incarceration.

Situation Quiet

Mauer named Alex Furbee, chaplain and spiritual adviser of the McKinleyville mine colony, as one of the leaders in the movement to organize the National Miners Union here. Authorities claim to have found Union literature in Furbee's home following his arrest.

Although picketing was continued as usual in this sector, no active demonstrations ensued and the situation was, for the most part, generally quiet. Pickets who, lined the highways heckled carloads of strike-ignoring miners at the city line between Warwood and Wheeling at the Warwood mine of the Wheeling Coal Company, but their booing ceased on orders from Capt. J. R. Brockus of the West Virginia State Police.

Two men were being held today in $10,000 bond each on charges in connection with the serious wounding of Ernest Kalkidonia and two other strikers a few days ago. O. D. Pryor and Jack Roberts, a mine guard said to have been a former coal and iron policeman from Pittsburgh, have been charged with firing into a group of miners.

hinted here that the president has been toying with the idea of a general scaling down of reparations and war debts. In fact, Acting Secretary of State Castle, on July 7, in discussing the factors leading up to the Hoover moratorium, revealed that President Hoover "had in mind a re-examination of capacity to pay, all around, to see whether all these debts, reparations and everything else, might now have to be scaled down."

This statement aroused such a furore in congressional quarters that next day, Castle was forced to take refuge behind a semi-denial of the diplomatic variety. He gravely informed newspaper correspondents that "the president has at no time either proposed or considered any permanent revision of the foreign debt settlements."

The two statements, coming on successive days, caused considerable amusement in diplomatic circles, which promptly cabled both of them to their home governments.

Notice Is Served.

But France's note to the League of Nations today virtually served notice that no matter what is done relative to scaling down debts and reparations, she is not going to reduce her armament by so much as one soldier or one ship until the other powers enter into a mutual protective pact. Moreover, France reviews the idea contained in the famous Article Ten of the League, which would have the league determine the aggressor in any new war, and send a league army against the guilty country.

If France persists in this policy—and there is scant doubt here that she will—it would seem to preclude at the outset any hopes that the administration has had of obtaining "real disarmament" at Geneva next February.

The idea of the United States joining any mutual security pact, or agreeing to guarantee the inviolability of the international boundaries set up in the Versailles treaty, is so fantastic that it is not considered here for a moment. The senate would go berserk at the bare suggestion.

Security Pledges.

France's intransigeancy on the point of security was amply demonstrated at the London naval conference. There, too, she demanded security pledges as a price for her coming into the treaty. Neither the Americans nor the British were willing to give such guarantees, and so France cooly remained out of the treaty, free to build up her navy without restrictions in all the categories of vessels smaller than battleships. That she has proceeded to do ever since.

The French army today is about 600,000 men, which is twice as large as any country in the world, save possibly Soviet Russia. By her note to Geneva, she has now served notice she will not reduce this army unless she gets guarantees from Great Britain and the United States which neither of these countries can give.

It makes the outlook for the Geneva conference, toward which Mr. Hoover has looked so hopefully, very dark, indeed.

They are warned that disciplinary action will be taken if they violate the order.

neared the air depot the pilot brought it down within 200 feet of the ground.

Zooming toward the field, the plane just missed a church steeple sank lower and scraped a tree-top. Part of the landing gear was torn off, and it was thought the shock of the impact jerked the stick from the pilot's hands. The plane heeled over and crashed to the ground. Fire broke out immediately and rescuers who hurried to aid the two were unable to reach the doomed pilots. Middletown firemen put out the blaze after about 15 minutes.

The air depot grounds were closed immediately, the bodies were taken to an undertaking establishment and officers at the depot refused any statements concerning the crash. Several hours afterward a statement containing the names of the dead fliers and personnel of the investigating board was issued.

ner, which resulted in many expressions of appreciation, especially on the part of the many visitors from other points in attendance.

At the beginning of the banquet, all stood and sang America, after which William M. Alexander invoked the divine blessing on the assembled throng.

Following the banquet, at the suggestion of the toastmaster, each person at the banquet table arose, gave his or her name, address and business, then each shook hands with his neighbor at the table and the program was started with all in a most happy frame of mind.

C. Everett Anderson, president of the New Castle Retail Grocers association, was first called upon and expressed his appreciation of the attendance and welcomed the special guests.

He was followed by Mayor William H. Gillespie, who extended the official welcome of the city to the special visitors, then became reminiscent of the days when he, himself had been connected with a general store in Nebraska and later was connected with a very extensive lumber business. He expressed some very pertinent views on merchandising and the extension of credit in business, which proved most interesting to those present.

Pittsburgher Speaks.

W. P. Benson of Pittsburgh, president of the Dilworth company, was the next speaker.

Mr. Benson said among other things: "The future of the independent merchant is improving, in fact it is gaining ground much faster than expected. There is every reason for the independent merchant to take heart. One of the principal reasons for this improvement is the spirit of cooperation that has grown up among the independent merchants, who for a long time failed to grasp this very essential thing."

Past President M. Wylie McClelland of the New Castle Grocers association was then called upon and expressed his appreciation of the cooperation that had been extended in making the event a success.

John D. Millar Speaks.

The next speaker was introduced as the father of the "Handy Service Store" movement, which has spread all over the country and is one of the reasons for the success of the independent grocer in combating the chain organization method of merchandising, which has threatened his existence.

This speaker, John D. Millar of Altoona, put forth some very interesting ideas concerning methods of independent merchandising, saying among other things: "I am more hopeful of the future of the independent grocer than ever. There are those who believe that the chain organization should be legislated out of existence. But that is not what is needed.

"Everybody likes fair play and combating the chain organization method by legislation is a more or less mistaken idea. It is up to the independent merchant to make himself worthy of the patronage of the people and so attend to his business that the public will prefer to deal with him.

"It is not right to legislate any system out of existence, for after all the people have the right of determining how and where they shall spend their money . The best way to get the public to prefer the independent merchant is for him to make himself better than his competition. No business in the country has grown except through advertising and this with better buying and better selling methods means the salvation of the independent grocer."

State Secretary Heard.

J. V. Loughran of Pittsburgh, secretary of the Pennsylvania Retail Grocers association, then spoke at length on the cooperative movement among grocers and independent merchants and of the coming state convention to be held in Erie, Pa.

Mr. Loughran said among other things that Pennsylvania was one of the first states in the cooperative movement and had many excellent cooperative groups of merchants, yet there were in the state hundreds and thousands of merchants who were still attempting to do business in the old way. He explained how that the states of Pennsylvania Ohio and California had more cooperative organizations of merchants than all the rest of the country put together and that for that reason, the merchants of those states were advancing more rapidly and successfully than in some other sections.

He said the day of individualists among merchants was over, and that the successful merchant was that person who affiliated himself with others in the same business, learning from others those things in which he was lacking and giving his better ideas in return, He then spoke at length on the program of the coming state convention in August in Erie. He said in conclusion that cooperative organizations should be unselfish and not alone for themselves and that the independent merchants should "unite and stick together to death".

E. O. Spott of Tarentum, secretary of the business men's organization of that place for approximately a quarter of a century, was then heard in some witticisms and timely suggestions regarding cooperative efforts among merchants.

Frank W. Hill, the secretary of the local association, was the concluding speaker and after thanking those present for their assistance in making the affair a success, stated that the local association is not for its members alone but for all independent merchants and invited those not members to become associated in its work.

Those Present.

Those present at the affair included the following persons: John D. Millar, Altoona; Herman L. Vonuchan, Altoona; G. W. Clapper, Altoona; B. Budzowski, Frank W. Hill, Harry C. DARING HOLD-UP ON SOUTH SIDE BY TWO BANDITS where he searched but failed to get any money.

David Abraham who was on his way to work stepped into the store at the time to buy something, and after waiting a few moments and failing to see Mr. Wajert repeated the proprietor's name. One of the bandits ordered Mr. Wajert to keep quite or he would "plug" him.

Holds Up Customer

One of the two bandits then went to the front of the store while the other covered his victim and told the customer that Mr. Wajert wanted to see him in the back. Mr. Abraham stated that he never did any business with Mr. Wajert in the back of the store.

The robber then pulled a revolver on Abraham and ordered him to the rear where he tied Mr. Wajert's feet to Mr. Abraham's. The two robbers then ransacked the cash register where they procured about $33 or more. Then they left.

Mr. Szelest managed to roll near the telephone where through the aid of his hands which were tied he knocked the telephone and Mr. Wajert unable to move, shouted for the police. In about three minutes Officers Logan, Criswell, Dukes and Lockhart answered the call and they untied the three men.

The police are investigating the case in the hope of getting clues of the two men. Mr. Wajert described the men as being about 28 years old, and white. One wore a light brown suit with stripes while the other wore a light gray suit. One of the men wore black and white shoes. One was about 5½ feet in heighth while the other was about 5 feet 7½ inches tall.

Mr. Wajert stated this morning that he saw one of the men in his store recently. He also said that he could easily identify one of the men if he saw him again. The robbery was a daring one due to the fact that it happened just when West Long avenue is crowded with passersby who are on their way to work.

Similarity of this robbery to that at Rote's store on South Mercer street leads to the belief that it may have been the work of the same pair.

Humor Keynote As Kiwanians Spring Story-Telling Bee

Special Entertainment Today As Club Talent Roars At High Speed

Diverting their luncheon program from the invited speaker type to one along "home-talent" channels New Castle's Kiwanians today spent a rip-roaring 20 minutes at the Elks club listening to their own swap witty stories, while Clarence M. England, chief humor maker, piloted.

The business and professional Kiwanians, if they had any troubles or worries, don't feel their presence this afternoon.

England led the program and Samuel Lewis, J. C. Miner, Mayor William H. Gillespie, Alderman L. C. Mantz, William Mayberry, Attorney R. L. Wallace, the Rev. C. G. Farr and Dr. John Foster kept things going.

A. M. Daly, Pittsburgh, sat on the sidelines to watch the fun as a guest.

The club did not take definite action on its annual picnic when President C. D. Parker broached the matter. Plans will be made later.

Oil Worker Dies From His Burns

Death Toll In Oil Well Fire And Blast At Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Reaches Nine

(International News Service)

MT. PLEASANT, Mich., July 22.—Thomas Lamb, 28, oil worker at the Struble No. 1 oil well, which exploded and burned late Saturday bringing death to eight persons, died today of burns he suffered in the disaster. The death toll now stands at nine.

Mt. Pleasant was a sadly silent town today as the first of the victims for whom funeral services were held was borne through the streets to the cemetery. Funeral processions continued throughout the day.

Rev. A. E. Driggers To Address Class

George C. Fox, president of the men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, has extended an invitation in behalf of the class to Rev. A. E. Driggers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Kittanning, to address the class at their regular session next Sunday, July 26, in their class room in the basement of the church, 9:30 a. m. It is thought that he will accept, and men of the city not affiliated with any other classes are cordially invited to sit in and hear the inspiring message that undoubtedly will be brought.

This class attended in a body the evening session of the county convention held in the Cathedral last June, and heard the splendid address given by Rev. Driggers on that occasion. The men's class of the First Baptist church has an enrollment of over two hundred and is probably the largest men's adult Bible class in Lawrence County. Since many of the members know what is in store for them having already heard the speaker on this previous occasion, it is thought that the class room will be filled to capacity.

SUITS ARE FILED

The Freedom Oil Works has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against R. S. Minor to collect a bill of $155.85, for gasoline alleged to have been sold by plaintiff to defendant.

Reuben S. Rubenson has filed a suit against David Silverman, for $1,245.73. The money is alleged to be due for bonus and other items, in connection with Rubenson's employment in the Silverman shoe stores.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY—SAY IN JULY OR AUGUST

The request to do your Christmas shopping early has helped solve to a certain extent the problem of the last-minute rush. But here is a suggestion that will save considerable wear and tear on shoppers and clerks. Why not buy your gifts in summer when prices are down and clerks have plenty of leisure to attend to your needs? It's an excellent arrangement. Look over some of these articles, price them, and see what a saving in money you can make in buying them now. No. 1 is a ducky little sculpture in unglazed terra cotta by one of the younger artists; 2 and 3 are white alabaster clocks with accents of black glass; 4 and 5 are service and dessert plates, the modern one, right, being glass backed with a design in oxidized silver, and the Victorian dessert plate, left, a creamy Minton with nosegay in shaded blacks and grays. Six is a group of individual salt dishes of Swedish Orrefors glass; 7, a silver tea set and two silver bowls; 8, is a molded cherry vase of thick, smoky glass; 9, a classic vase containing two white Venetian glass lilies, and 10, crystal handled butter spreader, dessert fork and spoon. The glass handles may be obtained in color.

What How Why

PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER

THE WHOLE NATION WANTS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT IT

The revolutionary character of the New Plymouth has created a great flood of interest. Even the hardiest of skeptics are so amazed at this new four that performs like an eight that they ask eagerly for the facts behind this tremendous accomplishment.

What is Floating Power?

Floating Power is a term applied to the new and revolutionary principle of mounting the engine in the car frame, developed by Chrysler Motors engineers for the New Plymouth.

Just how is the engine mounted?

On two live-rubber mountings nearly an inch thick. These mountings are so placed that a line drawn through them passes through the center of gravity of the engine. Thus the engine is suspended in perfect balance.

What does Floating Power do?

The live rubber mountings allow the engine to rock upon its natural axis as if in a cushioned cradle. Vibration is thus entirely eliminated from the car.

Why does Floating Power succeed when all other methods fail?

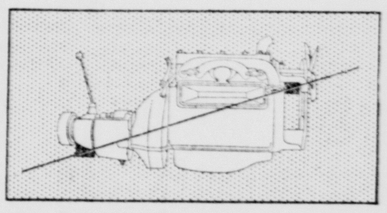
Because Chrysler Motors engineers have not tried merely to dampen vibration; they have achieved an entirely new principle which dissipates the motor impulses so that they never reach the body and frame.

Why and How is Power Increased?

Because the elimination of vibration allows higher compression, which gives greater horsepower without increasing cylinder size. Floating Power makes possible 56 brake-test horsepower and actual stop-watch speeds of 65 and 70 miles an hour, and pick-up from a standing start to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.

What else does Plymouth offer?

A score of things! Plymouth's Free Wheeling combines the advantages of the various types now in use. As a result, it permits Free Wheeling in all forward speeds, and it also may be completely locked out. The Easy-Shift transmission which enables you to shift, without clashing, from second into high and back into second, if you wish, at speeds up to 50 miles an hour. The new, double-drop frame for greater safety and roadability. New and eye-compelling trimness and beauty. Weatherproof hydraulic brakes. Safety-Steel body.



Side view of New Plymouth engine with Floating Power. Front Mounting elevated so that line connecting two mountings passes through center of gravity of engine. Thus, engine is suspended in perfect balance.

You must see and drive the car to appreciate the phenomenal results in performance, quality and value made possible by one of the greatest engineering developments the industry has ever seen.

Silly Chain Letters Again Circulating

About twice a year some one on the News receives a so-called "Fortune Chain" containing a health and happiness wish, which is to be mailed to nine people. Usually it contains admonitions of what dire results will be fall if the chain is broken and it is not sent to nine more people who in turn are to send it to nine each, ad infinitum ad nauseum.

As usual, the "Fortune Chain" received today was carefully and promptly filed in the deepest recesses of the editor's spacious wastebasket, where it belongs. Such things smack of a stulted intelligence, and are a throwback to the days of voodoos, mystic charms, and Medicine Men.

Neither this one, nor the ones preceding, nor any more to be received will receive any attention. The present one is dignified with this notice merely to stress once again that there are still people in the world who believe in age old superstitions, among them the superstition that the moon is made of green cheese.

If by refusing to send on this silly, vapid, piece of flapdoodle the News breaks this mystic chain then it certainly is rent wide open. It not only is a waste of time, and paper and postage, but marks the sender as either being consciously or unconsciously, a disciple of the kind of folks who lie on spiked beds to expiate sin, who trim their hair in the dark of the moon, and who believe that a total eclipse of the moon marks the end of the world.

Senator Davis Quits Scranton

U. S. Senator After Being Gassed At Convention Hall Leaves Miners

WAS ATTEMPTING TO SECURE PEACE

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 22.—In excellent condition for a man who had been "gassed," U. S. Senator James J. Davis left here today after attempting to act as mediator between warring factions of the United Mine Workers of America, whom he was to have addressed at their district convention when a riot broke up the session.

Confused and contradictory reports of Senator Davis having been seriously "gassed" when police hurled tear gas bombs to break up battling miners were rife, but state and city police on duty at the convention hall today asserted Senator Davis had "done just what anyone who got a whiff of tear gas would do—he left the hall and he wiped his eyes when he got outside."

Boylan Makes Statement.

John Boylan, district president of the mine union, who was sitting beside Senator Davis on the speaker's platform when the gas went off and who hurried with him from the hall, said he failed to notice the senator "weeping."

Boylan said he had been affected by the gas and his eyes were watery when he got outside. Senator Davis' eyes were also reddened, the mine leader said, and he wiped them but Boylan did not see him "weeping copiously."

Witnesses to the disorder asserted that none of those on the speakers platform was much affected by the gas.

When the fumes began spreading, police at the hall said, all those on the platform left at once by a side door before the tear gas got well distributed around the hall.

Urges Truce.

It was disclosed today that Senator Davis, far from being seriously affected by the gas, had attempted to settle the differences between the mine factions. He summoned Thomas Maloney, Wilkes-Barre Insurgent leader, to his hotel shortly after the convention broke up and suggested that the Insurgents make peace with the administration faction so the convention could proceed. He then visited Boylan and urged the administration forces to make a truce with the Insurgents, at least for duration of the sessions.

STIMSON DECLARES CONFERENCE MAKES STEADY PROGRESS

statement that the American four-point plan of relief was actually American and British in conception, and that it had first been advanced by Premier MacDonald.

The plan was announced from Washington by President Hoover yesterday, in the face of persistent denials by Secretary Stimson that any "American plan" was under consideration by the conference, and the terms of the Washington announcement were cabled to London by news agencies and newspaper correspondents.

"President Hoover published his standpoint without reference to what was happening at the conference," Secretary Stimson said in explanation of the apparent differences existing between Washington views and those expressed by Stimson as head of the American delegation here.

The "American-British plan," as Mr. Stimson now designates it, proposes to stabilize existing credits for Germany as its first aim, he said. "We plan to plug the bathtub to hold the cheap existing water before pouring in more," was the way he phrased it.

"The ministers sitting as a round-table group are considering Germany's temporary financial needs, which is really a banking proposition. It is purely accidental that statesmen instead of bankers are meeting here, because the statesmen were available."

Takes Up Recommendations.

LONDON, July 22.—The London conference took up today the recommendations of the committee of finance ministers which studied yesterday means of immediately restoring confidence in Germany's stability.

The recommendations were based on President Hoover's new proposal that international bankers not only refrain from withdrawal of short-term credits from Germany but increase them pending the drafting of a plan for further aid to that country.

With Prime Minister MacDonald acting as chairman and with Chancellor Bruening present, the committee of finance ministers held a six-hour meeting yesterday.

Saved From Failure.

LONDON, July 22.—Apparently saved from almost certain failure by the timely intervention of President Hoover, the seven-power confere.. of ministers assembled here to pull Germany out of its economic chaos otday was reported to have reached an agreement embodying temporary aid to the financially impoverished Reich.

At a two-hour session in the cabinet room of the British foreign office, the delegates it was learned from an authoritative source, agreed to extend for three months longer all outstanding short-term credits at present enjoyed by Germany.

The agreement followed closely the lines of the proposals cabled to London by the American chief executive yesterday, and if borne out by official announcement, will represent a victory over the stubbornness of France in demanding political guarantees, which threatened to put the conference on the rocks.

In sharp contrast to the undisguised pessimism apparent last night and early this morning, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, who assembled the conference, was extremely hopeful when seen by International News Service during the recess.

"The sun goes much higher in the heavens," the premier declared. "We are very much more hopeful than we were yesterday."

In spite of this highly favorable development, considerable uncertainty still beclouded the atmosphere. The press, the public and at least some of the delegates to the conference themselves were mystified over the part the United States was playing.

The most significant and mysterious fact was that according to all indications, the Hoover proposal was not presented to the conference yesterday. Until he spared himself further interrogation from the press by calling in a Scotland Yard detective, Col. Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state and chief of the American delegation, steadfastly denied that the Hoover plan had been received in London.

LOCAL PEOPLE ON OUTING COMMITTEE

Quite a number of local people were in attendance Tuesday at the joint annual outing of the Catholic Daughters of America and the Knights of Columbus of Western Pennsylvania held at Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh. The local people were on the reception and attendance committee of the outing. They were Mrs. Mary A. Roche and Vincent P. Travers.

In the good old days the small boy didn't need a bathing suit, and if ultra-modern fashions keep progressing it won't be long until the whole family will not need any.

Limited Martial Law Is Proposed In Germany Today

Would Put Country Under Limited Martial Law To Combat Unrest

POLICE RAID COMMUNIST DEN

Communist Member Of Reichstag Is Nabbed By Police — Documents Found

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 22.—Limited martial law may be declared in Germany within a few days if unrest continues to spread both at the bottom and top of the German social order, International News Service was informed in a reliable quarter today.

Since the beginning of the present financial crisis, Communists have rioted almost nightly in many sections of Germany. Today disaffection was becoming more pronounced among the upper classes due to Chancellor Bruening's foreign policy.

Hitler Denounced.

An inflammatory letter indicating this drift was published today in the Rote Fanne (Red Flag), organ of the Communist party. Signed by thirteen former officers of the old imperial army, the Reichswehr and unofficial organizations of patriots like the Nazis and the Steel Helmets, the letter denounced Adolf Hitler, leader of the Nazis, as a traitor and called upon former comrades to follow their example in joining the Communist party.

Indicating the government's intention to use "strong-arm" methods in preserving itself from evolutionary disorders, the police raided the offices of the Rote Fahne today, searched for incriminating documents and arrested Arthur Gohlke, Communist member of the Reichstag.

Four Butler Women Injured In Wreck

Four Women On Way To Cleveland Injured At Warren, Ohio, As Car Crashes Pole

(International News Service)

WARREN, O., July 22.—Four Butler, Pa., women were injured, one seriously, today when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole here.

Miss Amyie Barto, the most severely hurt, suffered injuries of the spine. The other victims were: Anna Griffiths, Mrs. Bertha Eyman and Mrs. Frank Fishel. Paul Fishel, a son, who was driving escaped unhurt.

The women were removed to the hospital here. All were driving to Cleveland at the time of the accident.

Municipal Plan Is Given Approval By Fort Worth Voters

Texas Voters Approve Of Municipal Ownership For Gas Distribution

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, July 22.—Fort Worth voters today had authorized municipal ownership of the gas distribution system here and indorsed a contract with the Shamrock Gas company to furnish gas.

Complete unofficial returns on the voting yesterday showed 8,480 for and 6,177 against municipal ownership.

The vote authorizes the city council to immediately construct a distribution system or to acquire the present system, owned by the Lone Star Gas company, by condemnation proceedings. The charter amendment also would allow the city to retain exclusive franchise for distribution of gas within the city limits.

Advocates of the municipal ownership plan declared it would save gas users 40 per cent while opponents declared it would create a political football that eventually would cost gas users tax increases that would offset any possible saving in rates.

South China Trip Visit Is Described By Local Missionary

Robert Winger, 912 McCleary avenue, is in receipt of a letter from his sister and brother-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur E. French, Jr., who are missionaries in China, working under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. French was formerly Evelyn Winger of this city.

In the letter Mr. and Mrs. French say:

Nodoa, Hainan Island,
South China.

Dear Bob and Dick:—

Every letter to mother I keep thinking and saying that I'll get one off to you, but somehow the time for the next slips around without yours being written. There is too much for one, so before starting one home I'll pretend to write a diary for you.

Wednesday, May 27—(You already know we are spending a month's vacation in Hong Kong). Six o'clock in the morning we wakened up in Canton, China's busiest, wealthiest, scrappiest city. A Mrs. Pommesenke, whom we met at the mission conference at Hartford, Conn., last June was in Honk Kong to shop and insisted that we return on Tuesday night's boat with her for at least a glimpse of Canton and the Presbyterian work there. After those two days in bed my cold was nearly gone and this chance to see Canton was too good to miss so we took the ten o'clock boat, which arrived early the next morning. The ship was a river steamer, roomy, steady and nicely equipped. What a sight met our eyes as we moved steadily and slowly to the wharf, weaving in and out among the river traffic. Boats of every description on all sides. Canton is noted for its river population, thousands and thousands who spend their lives bobbing around on the water.

There were great, clumsy looking junks with high square sterns used for freight transportation and sea travel; some about the size of the boat Columbus sailed to the new land in. I can better understand the sailors' threatening mutiny; the sea must have looked as endless as the sky from their toy ship. There were medium sized boats, small house boats, ferry boats, slender ones called slipper boats.

Every one knows how to handle oars and get to their destination without capsizing or bumping their neighbor. It is certainly wonderful what they can do with a few sticks. The majority of the boats had this system—two oars midship, long enough that the handles cross and move simultaneously with a forward swing of the body. Curiously most of the rowing is done in the direction the rower faces, rather than backward, as we are used to; the reason is very logical, the river is too crowded to risk going backward.

Describes Canton

Canton is called the Venice of the Orient; the various beds of the river making the canals which must be crossed every time a person wishes to go anywhere. I lost count of the number of boats we rode in on our first day as we visited the compound. The main work of the Presbyterian church in South China is in the Canton compounds scattered through the city. A launch took us to the Truelight School for Girls, where we saw Katherine Jacobson, who was one of our ship friends on the President Jackson and visited with us at Hachek last January. Another launch took us to the center of the town, where we visited the offices of the Canton Synod, directed by Chinese, and a primary school. We visited a few classes where we saw the cutest boys and girls as busy as could be and more orderly than lots I have seen.

Just inside the gate is a court, where women were sitting around sewing, knitting or talking; these we learned were the children's amahs, or nurse maids we would say, waiting for their charges to be dismissed. The children do not go unattended, especially if they belong to important or well-to-do families.

In the afternoon we visited Leinghan University, also directed by Chinese, assisted by foreign teachers, and here we found the son of the president of Princeton Seminary is one of the teachers. His wife was on the boat with us and had heard of Arthur through her husband, who knew Arthur at Princeton; so she invited us to tea the next afternoon. The University is spread over a large area, has many beautiful buildings and a high educational standard, part of which is its department of Christian instruction.

Our host told us something which is a sharp contrast to the modern atmosphere of the campus: at the entrance are stationed soldiers, part of the regular guard, to prevent kidnapping of any of the students. Since many of China's wealthy families are represented on the University roll, this precaution is taken and there would be a big ransom in it for bandits who might make way with some of the students.

Thursday we spent the morning looking over the compound where we were staying after lunch. A gaily painted four passenger boat, owned by a Christian family, took us to town. A not so gay ricksha took us to Hackett Medical College and hospital, where we had dinner with some others of the party of girls who visited us last winter.

Interesting Trips

Another interesting trip we had was to a school for the blind. A Miss Carpenter whom we had heard of through Dr. Morse, took us around. Blind students were all over the place, doing chores, sunning mats, carrying water, cutting grass and making brooms. It makes a person thankful for his eyes to see the fumbling fingers and hesitating steps, but we were amazed how well some of the older ones took care of themselves and did their work.

Those who have partial sight act as guides to the new pupils and to the totally blind. Miss Carpenter told us they try to give every one something to do with their hands, so they will learn ways of making a living, as well as lessons. Not all of them are capable of mental learning. One girl in particular is a problem; she is so full of mischief that they have to threaten to send her away, then she is good for a while. She can crow like a rooster, which she does most of the time and at the most unexpected times. She can carry water, which she begs to do, so she won't get sent home.

On one room the very small children are taught to write and play by a blind teacher. Three of them sang for us; it was almost too much. Apparently they are happy but one cannot help but think of the years and years ahead of them; it is most pathetic as we realize that most of the blindness in China is preventable; most of it being caused by filth and ignorance. Part of the great work of the missionaries is to educate them to prevention and teach them about Christ, that they may have light in their souls.

Just how much this means is shown in the life of a blind girl in Hoihow, who was educated at this school. She plays the organ for Christian endeavor and is the Bible woman in the hospital, and a tireless worker in Christian work.

Friday we went shopping for several hours, mostly window shopping, and at 4:30 we started back to Hong Kong, arriving at midnight and very soon we were in our beds, tired but happy.

The next week we spent a great deal of the time purchasing things to use in our new home as we are to have a small house or bungalow of our own. On returning to our room one afternoon we found a note on the mantle that Mr. and Mrs. Milo Root had called and were leaving at six o'clock on the President Wilson for Manila. Mrs. Root used to be Ruth McCormick of New Castle, and was at Westminster when we were. We had just a half hour to get to the pier but did not want to miss seeing them. We could only talk to them from the pier as the gang plank was already drawn when we got there, but we learned a lot of news in a very short time.

They learned at the office of Shanghai that we were in Hong Kong and where to get us, which was mighty good of the Shanghai people, don't you think?

The trip back to the Island was fine; we came on the same boat that we went on, but what a different sea; we enjoyed every meal and were able to stay on deck most of the time. Rumors of a typhoon caused us to wonder if landing would be bad, but again we were in luck. We reached the island at about two o'clock and had plenty of tide to get in to shore and lots of folks to meet us. Really it was just like getting home again. We stayed all night at the port and started the next morning for Nodoa, as you know this is where we are to live for the next four years and we were anxious to see the place. We found the road very poor and full of detours. We stopped for lunch and made the trip of forty miles in nine hours. Very hot weather and dusty roads made us thankful for the hot baths that awaited us.

The compound here is lovely, lots of trees, and all, but I will have to tell you about that later.

Lots of Love,
Evelyn and Arthur.

Scott Township High School Has Status Changed

Is Now Recognized As Four-Year Accredited School By State

Among the changes listed by the state in the annual classification of secondary schools of the state, is that of the Scott township high school, which is now an accredited four-year high school instead of a two-year high school.

The classification is determined each year on the basis of the recommendation of the proper superintendent of schools, a field investigation by the Department of Public Instruction, and the report submitted for the school.

Zelienople Borough is changed from a four-year high school to a six-year junior and senior high school.

Star Lore

A HOT SUMMER NIGHT IN TOWN
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The air within the city on a hot summer evening may be just as moisture laden after sundown as is the air in the broad country, but no dew condenses from it on the scant plants and grass in the back yard. And why? The answer is easy to find: During the day the sun has poured out its heat upon the vast acres of brick walls and pavements, and they in turn have absorbed much of it. So after sundown, walls and pavements continue to keep the air hot like so many furnaces burning fuel. This keeps the air hot, and the hotter it is the greater is its capacity for holding-moisture. Possibly near sunrise dew may start to form on plants and grass, but the rising sun puts a stop to it.

DUCE'S KINDNESS CITED
(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 22.—Benito Mussolini, stern and austere leader, has again proven that he has a warm heart for children. Through the Italian consul at Breslau, Silesia, he invited Fritz Beermann, seven year- old son of a government official at Sagan to spend his vacation at Fano on the Adriatic Sea at the expense of the Italian government. Fritz saw a piece of lava stone his aunt brought back from a trip to Italy and he conveted a similar stone. At his father's jocular suggestion, the boy actually wrote a letter to Rome and the result was a direct invitation by the Duce.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Gradually Fall Off To Lower Prices

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Reversing the process of the last three days, stocks fell off gradually to lower price levels both at the opening today and in the bulk of the forenoon trading.

In the face of a new 2 per cent drop in steel output to 30 per cent of plant capacity, professional Wall street preferred to sell rather than buy stocks, and the outsiders were still on the fence.

United States Steel started the day more than a point lower, and fell off more than 2½ points to 94¾ in the second hour. American Can at 103⅜ was down about 3 points. Bethlehem Steel lost 1½ at 45½. Favorite Utilities and Rails fell off 1 to 2½ points from Tuesday's close, retracing the ground won since Saturday.

Sinclair was a leader in the low-priced Oils, reaching a new high on the move on reports of a proposed gigantic consolidation with Prairie, Tide Water, Rio Grande and other well companies to rival the biggest of the Standard Oil enterprices. When combined as contemplated Sinclair would be a billion-dollar complete unit in the petroleum industry. Controlling production, refining marketing in every part of the civilized world. The Oils as a whole received the benefit of more stabilized price situation in Oklahoma and a decline in Crude Oil production this week.

The market was no more active under slightly falling prices that during the feeble advances of the last few days. The leaders dropped off moderately near the noon hour, to accompaniment of a slight reaction in the commodities markets, Cotton losing about 10 points.

Plan To Develop Big Gas Field

Northwestern Pennsylvania Gas Fields Will Be Developed Is Report

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Increased development of the northwestern Pennsylvania gas fields was foreseen today in the application heard by the public service commission here of the American Natural Gas Company of Pittsburgh for permission to tap the resources of 19 counties in that region, the product to be marketed to gas distributing companies.

R. H. Smith, secretary of the company, which was organized in 1889 and now has about 45,000 acres of land under lease, testified that operations would be extended into Clearfield, Elk, Forest, McKean, Cameron, Warren, Potter, Bradford, Tioga, Sullivan, Center, Venango, Greene, Fayette, Mercer, Somerset, Crawford and Erie counties.

The company will engage only in the wholesale production of natural gas for industrial use and resale to distributors. Stipulations to this effect have been signed with present distributing agencies in these counties. Because of protests the company withdrew its application for permission to operate in Lycoming and Clinton counties.

The company, at one time an extensive producer in the western Pennsylvania field, sold its holdings in 1925 to the Columbia Natural Company, it was testified. The company retained its charter rights, however, and now seeks to resume active operations. It is capitalized by Pittsburghers in the sum of $200,000.

France Proposes Keen Opposition For Disarmament

Conference At Geneva Will Find France Offering Opposition To Other Nations

FRENCH REPLY INDICATES MOVE

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 22.—The disarmament conference to be held at Geneva in February will find France again in opposition to the other great powers.

This was clearly indicated by the French reply to the request of the League of Nations for information to be used in furthering the conference which was transmitted to the League secretariat last night.

Wants Security

Under present conditions of security in Europe, France has cut her military forces to the irreducible minimum, according to the statement. However, France declared her willingness to co-operate with other governments in additional arms cuts should these governments guarantee her security.

World peace based on pledges of mutual assistance is the gist of France's armaments policy.

"The task of the coming conference," says the French reply, "should be to seek rather a political than a technical solution because it is the general international situation that needs to be modified.

"France in no wise refuses to consider modification of her armaments, but demands guarantees of security."

Seven Judicial Candidates File

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 22.—Seven additional candidates for judicial honors today filed nominating petitions with the State Bureau of Elections here.

Three of those filing were republican aspirants for the Allegheny County Court. They are Burtt Harris, D. P. Foster and Miss Sara M. Soffel.

Others who filed for common pleas courts were:

Harry H. Negley, Crofton, Republican Allegheny.

Charles C. Lank, Shamokin, Republican, Northumberland.

John H. McCann, Ebensburg, Democrat, Cambria.

Judge John E. Evans, Ebensburg, Republican, Cambria.

A FLUKE.

"I did the course in 79 yesterday," said a man proudly.

"I'm sorry," said his lunch companion.

"Sorry! Why?"

"Because from now on you're doomed to be off your game for the rest of your life."—Tatler.

U.S., Once Holder of Speed Records, to Seek Air Mark

Navy Is Secretly Building Speedy Plane in Which to Try and Regain Schneider Cup, Last Won by America in 1925.

Although the world has never traveled faster than it is today in the fields of airplane racing, motorboat piloting and automobile driving, the United States has been far eclipsed by the efforts and records established by other countries. America, unfortunately, holds none of these three major records in speed and has slight chance of recovering any of its lost laurels except in one direction—and that's up in the sky. Under the prodding of Representative F. H. La Guardia, of New York, Lieut. Alford J. ("Al") Williams and Assistant Secretary of the Navy David S. Ingalls, Congress has seen fit to appropriate $220,000 for the use of the Navy Department in developing a speedster of the skies which may sweep all opposition before it when the Schneider Cup races are run in 1933. Already a mystery motor is under construction, every detail jealously guarded, in order that Uncle Sam in 1933 will be able to enter the famous Cup competition with an excellent chance of victory.

Gertrude Ederle, "Aunty Trudy" as far as this picture is concerned, is shown initiating Helen and Trudy Deuschle, the cute three-year-old twins of her sister, into the fundamentals of swimming at the Bronxdale Pool, New York. The girl who sacrificed her hearing to thrill the world by swimming the English Channel five years ago this August 6 is now living a life of semi-obscurity.

Trying to Snare G. O. P. Meet

Conferring in an effort to snare the next Republican Party convention for Philadelphia, Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio (left), chairman of the G. O. P. National Committee; Mayor H. A. Mackey of Philadelphia (center), and Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, were photographed in the City of Brotherly Love. If Philadelphia is selected, added interest will be created due to the battle expected between factions representing President Hoover and Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Sticks to Crippled Yacht

Although the yacht Lismore, entered in the race from Newport, R. I., to Plymouth, England, was disabled by a severe storm in mid-Atlantic, Mrs. William Roos, wife of the owner and perhaps the only Social Registerite sailor on the Seven Seas, refused to leave the crippled craft and board a liner which came alongside to render assistance. Mrs. Roos is shown at the helm of the yacht which she is sticking with until it reaches its goal.

Governor Pinchot Back In Harrisburg After Two Weeks' Vacation

NAMES COMMITTEE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 22.—Back from a two weeks' vacation, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today attacked the problem of unemployment in Pennsylvania by naming another committee to make a survey of conditions in the state. The new committee will hold its first conference with the governor late today.

The governor explained that the new committee will supplement the work of the state-wide organization he named last winter and will pay particular attention to the probable employment situation during the coming winter.

Those named today were Horace F. Baker, Pittsburgh, Edward Sollenberger and J. P. Murphy, of the Children's Aid Society, Philadelphia, Jacob Billikopf, of the Jewish Aid Society, Philadelphia, Arthur Dunham, Public Charities Association, Philadelphia, Mrs. Helen Tyson, Pittsburgh, and John L. Hanna, Secretary of Welfare.

The governor declined to comment on the political situation in any of its phases—local, state or national. He said that he wanted to be fully advised of developments during his absence before he talked about present conditions.

Suggests Hoover Call Session To Help Suffering

Benjamin C. March, Would Have Government Expend $3,500,000,000 In Country

UNEMPLOYED NEED IMMEDIATE RELIEF

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—President Hoover should promptly call a special session of congress, with a federal appropriation of $3,500,000,000 as its aim, to alleviate widespread unemployment, Benjamin C. March of Washington, secretary of the people's lobby declared here today.

The government, March added, should take over the bituminous and anthracite coal mines "to prevent bloody warfare and to end criminal starvation of children."

The gigantic appropriation would be used for public works, unemployment relief and unemployment insurance under the program of the people's lobby which is headed by professor John Dewey formerly of Columbia University.

Distribution of the money, March said, would be as follows:

$3,000,000,000 for public works and extension of credit for municipal housing programs.

$250,000,000 to matchlike amounts appropriated by states for unemployment relief.

Quadruplets Change As They Reach Teen Age

As Babies, Four Wore Colored Hair Ribbons To Tell Them Apart

DIFFERENCES SEEN AT HIGH SCHOOL AGE

HOLLIS, Okla., July 22.—Shattering all of the odds drawn up against them by scientists, the four Keys sisters, quadruplets, are growing to maturity—and, in the bargain, they are completely upsetting the old theory that children who come four in a group will have similar personalities.

They are now very much alike—and very much different.

The sisters are Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota. In a few months they will be sixteen years old. They are halfway through high school, and already they have begun to tell friends that they do not intend to be old maids.

To begin with, by simply reaching the age of 16 they are winning a long-odds bet. Scientists estimate that quadruplets are only carried by the stork once in a good many thousand trips. The odds are nearly equally great that when quadruplets do come they will not all be of the same sex. And to top it off, there are long odds that not all four will survive infancy.

But here the Keys sisters are, well past the infancy stage, and healthy as anyone would wish. And the most interesting thing about them, perhaps, is the fact that they no longer look as much alike as they used to and even their personalities are quite different now.

Three Are Brunets, One Is A Blond

Three of them— Mona, Roberta and Mary—are brunets. Leota is a blond.

Mary, the heaviest, weights 120 pounds. Leota weights only 110, Roberta 111 and Mona 116.

Roberta made an average grade of 96 in her school work last year. Mona got a 93, Leota got a 90 and Mary fetched up the rear with an 85. When the other sisters found Mary lagging they pitched in and helped her in order to bring the grades up to a high average; but this wasn't because Mary isn't just as smart, but simply because she likes outdoor life so much that she doesn't always find time to study. The other girls don't seem to care for outdoor life.

Tastes Vary, Even in Studies

In school, Mona like mathematics, Roberta and Mary prefer English, and Leota goes for history.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Keys, are extremely glad that the girls don't have identical tastes.

"How would we ever provide them all with books, food, clothes and other things if all four wanted the same thing all the time?" asks Mr. Keys.

Mrs. Keys admits that just at first the quadruplets were quite a problem. Only one baby had been expected, and there was a great scurrying about that night of July 4, 1915, to make one layete do quadruple duty. And then, for years, there was the problem of clothing, for the girls wanted to dress alike.

But as the girls grew older things got easier. They do most of their own dressmaking now, in addition to doing much of the housework.

Looked Much Alike At First

Besides, as they grew older they came to resemble each other a little bit less. In their infancy they looked so much alike that even the parents had trouble telling them apart and had to mark the babies with different colored ribbons.

It is stated—and you are at liberty to believe it or not, as you please—that as they grew older Mr. Keys finally evolved a seating arrangement and ordered the girls to stick to it constantly, by which Roberta always sat at the righthand end and was followed in order by Mona, Mary and Leota. This arrangement, it is said, was followed at the dinner table, at church at the movies and everywhere else.

It is also alleged that one time at one of those "palace of mirrors" places in an amusement park, Roberta walked head-on into her reflection in a mirror, thinking she was meeting Mona.

However all of these stories may be, Mrs. Keys admits that she had been fortunate in that all four of the girls have always liked housework. Household duties have been divided into four parts, and each morning one of the four pitches in on her own job—dusting, washing dishes, making the beds or whatever it may be. Mrs. Keys, in consequence, has found her own household tasks lightened considerably.

Four Other Children

Many vaudeville offers have been made to the quadruplets, but their parents have insisted that they finish their school before they even consider them. It is possible that when studies are completed the girls will go on the stage together, at any rate, they are all studying music.

There are four other children in the family. Mr. Keys has a hardware store here in Hollis.

Incidentally the quadruplets have probably met more people than any other group of girls in Oklahoma. Each year thousands of tourists have stopped here just to see the famous Keys quadruplets.

Happy? Dunt Esk'

Looking mighty pleased with the world in general and particularly with themselves, Milt and Mrs. Gross are shown above as they sailed on the S. S. Belgenland for the first showboat cruise to Nova Scotia. Milt Gross, in case your memory has slipped a cog, is the nationally-famous cartoonist, humorist, author and dialectician.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Just what connection there is between a religious periodical and a candidate running for office is a mystery, but the two were combined the other evening. A salesman stopped at the front yard and wanted to sell us a religious weekly, a good one by the way, but more or less of a duplicate of one now on the list. After endeavoring to make a sale for some time he finally said, "Well I'll give you a card anyway" and proceeded to hand out the card of one of the candidates.

These beach pajamas seem to be gaining in popularity. Which brings to mind a set of them on display in one of the local bazaars costing just sixty nine bucks per set. Anytime you want to square yourself with the wife, take her home a set of these.

And I've been wondering, I have, what the connection is between frankfurters and ice cream. One of the signs along the Main Stem advertises the two together. Whether they mean frankfurter flavored ice cream, or they intend to convey the idea that they sell both of them you can figure out for yourself.

And you can believe it or not but the folks slept under blankets last night. That storm swept all the warm air away or something, and at midnight a sheet was a bit light for some heavy sleeping.

That old adage about haste making waste seems to be good yet. Friend of mine hurrying home last night with two bottles of distilled water for the baby's food schedule. Double timing up the street when he tripped and both bottles went haywire. One set of bruised feelings, two bottles of water taken out of circulation, baby late for his lunch, and bystanders took it for an act. As comedy it went over big.

Jack Fogle is still in town rusticating before going back into the harness in New York for the winter season. Jack is a New Castleite by marriage, his wife being the former Wilhelmina Nothdurft. For several seasons he has been Technical Director for Leslie Howard, the star of "Berkeley Square" and a lot of pictures.

Next season he will have charge of "He" a new play which will go into production in New York early in the fall. Four or five years ago he was stage manager for the Roberson-Smith players who ran a summer season of stock here.

Get them away from the stage and theatrical people are mighty human after all. His idea of living would be to have a home in New Castle where he could raise his own vegetables and collect antique furniture. And also have room for the future star of the American stage, George Leslie Fogle to romp. Thinks Hollywood is blah, although he has been successful there, likes New York only because most of his work is there, and the chances are when he gets his bundle he will establish a home here.

Hotel Men Will Gather Here

Managers Of Hotels Corporation Coming Friday And Saturday

New Castle will be the headquarters for hotel managers on Friday and Saturday when the managers of the American Hotels Corporation will hold a conference in The Castleton, and on Saturday will be joined by the managers of the Pittsburgh hotels.

All day Friday the managers of the American hotels will be in conference in the hotel. General J. Leslie Kincaid and Col. E. I. Olmstead, executives of the chain, will be present and the work of the entire system will be discussed.

Friday afternoon they will play golf with the Pittsburgh hotel men, and on Saturday night at 6:30 a banquet will be held in the Colonial crystal dining room.

Interior decorators just finished a two weeks' job today in redecorating the dining room in old ivory and it presents a beautiful appearance. Heavy green drapes contrasting with the old ivory make a beautiful color combination and in addition the crystals on the chandeliers have been taken apart and cleaned. Each one of the eight chandeliers has 1,780 crystals in it, which is some idea of the work involved. The dining room opens today and the first banquet after the redecoration will be Saturday night.

Germany's Crisis At Its Peak!

When Germany's biggest bank closed its doors this frenzied, panic-stricken crowd of depositors stormed its building in Berlin in an effort to recover their lifelong savings. As word was flashed about the capital city that the Danat Bank had suspended payments and was in difficulties, it didn't take long for a huge crowd to assemble outside and clamor for their funds. The Danat Bank is one of the oldest in Germany and is considered one of the strongest in the country. International negotiations are expected to result in its reopening.

JACKSONVILLE, Mich., July 22.—While some critics of this village might refer to it as a "one horse town," loyal natives are well able to refute such statements.

Jacksonville, by actual count has 22 horse troughs. Six of the equine drinking fountains have been installed in the past several years. The oldest trough, built 35 years ago, is a monumental affair.

Mine Fire 10 Years Old Burning Shaft

TAMAQUA, Pa., July 22.—Miners digging coal in a Lansford strippings operation of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company recently uncovered anthracite that burned their fingers when they tried to handle it.

The men had uncovered the site of an old mine fire which had been believed extinguished 10 years ago.

The coal company plans to remove as much coal as possible from the path of the fire which has defied efforts to seal it and shut it off from valuable coal seams.

R. F. Rowe, of Beaver, Pa., has concluded a short stay in the city.

President Hoover Invites 125 Coal Operators To Discuss Ills Of Industry

HOPE TO RELIEVE BAD SITUATIONS

Secretaries Lamont And Doak in Foreground As Administration Lends Aid

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Prospects of assembling a bituminous coal conference in Washington, under federal auspices, to relieve "the hunger, desperation, bankruptcies and startling un-American practices" alleged to be prevailing in that sorely stricken industry, hinged today upon the replies of some 125 representative operators sent them by the Hoover administration.

Turning aside from his efforts to relieve Germany's economic plight, President Hoover has directed Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Secretary of Labor Doak to ascertain whether the leading mine owners of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia are willing to meet here with their employees and discuss possible remedies for the industry's ills.

Looks like immediate repair work will be launched at the E. Washington street bridge. Workmen today had constructed a tool house on the upper sidewalk.

Perhaps you have and perhaps you haven't. We're speaking now of the beautifully planned grass and flower plot at the Harlansburg-Perry highway crossover. Have you noticed it- It's a credit to the place and is another step along the line of beautifying the state routes.

Leave it to any Kiwanian—well, nevertheless, they can inject the hum into humor when they start on their stories. Most all of them will agree that yesterday's meeting was the liveliest in some time. They picked a lawyer, an insurance man, the mayor of the city and a few more to relate stories of their first experiences in their respective endeavors.

Gradually, the government is extending the rural free delivery mail service into parts never served direct. Expansion is to be noted here, along R. F. Heretofore, a number of remote patrons whom the change will benefit had to take long walks daily to their boxes along some main road.

Eye Witnesses At No. 2 Mine Give Details Of Horror In Town As Crazed Man Shoots Eight

The ordinarily peaceful No. 2 mining village across the line in Mercer county assumed a war-like aspect early this morning after Marco Demofonti, miner, in a fit of rage, charged through the houses of the community, leaving bloodshed and destruction in his wake. Shotguns, a knife and every imaginable weapon almost was used as the enraged man ran amuck.

Arriving at the spot not long after the 'butchery', a reporter of The News, was confronted with what possibly marked the most gruesome sight the district will ever see.

Eye-witnesses, still badly frightened from what had occurred, drew gruesome pictures as they recounted what had happened, and how all of it appeared to them.

Escapes Crazed Man

The first, Goldie Bonnani, about 16 years of age, was about the place as Demofonti rushed out of his own home in a rage, shotgun and knife in hand. She recounted it thusly:

"He came after me, but I ran away. I had been attracted to the place by the gun shots, and of course when I saw him I turned. He followed me for a short distance. I saw his knife all the time. Suddenly, as Mrs. Mike Bonnani came into view, he turned his course towards her. I saw him strike her in the arm with the knife. She fell down, but got up again. Marco Demofonti then started up the street."

Mrs. Mike Hardisky, who lived up from Demofonti's home a short distance, had gone to the home of Mrs. Helen Mattison, only two doors below the Demofonti home. She related the fact like Goldie, with an unsteady voice, still half-scared from the events that had occurred less than an hour before.

Heard Boy Yell

"I heard Demofonti's five year old boy yell 'My father shot my mother and my aunt' just as I came out of Mrs. Mattison's home. We had heard shots, but couldn't see him. When I finally reached the outside I saw him—and he saw me. I started to run, but fell over a tree limb. My hand was injured. He didn't come after me. I saw him pick up his child in his hand and then he kicked him out of the door."

Tony Pandolfi was nearby when the murder took place. A machinist at the No. 2 mine, Pandolfi was a close friend to Demofonti and had worked with him at the mine for some time. Like the others, Pandolfi, a young man, was stunned at his friend's action. He pictured it this way:

"The man (Demofonti) was a close friend of mine. We were employed in the mine. He's been sick for some time, and recently he's been doctoring in Mercer.

After Murders Were Halted

"I was the first one on the scene after he had killed his wife, his sister-in-law and the others. There was a crowd beginning to gather about where he was lying in be-

BLOND ALIBI CONVICTED WITH HUSBAND

Once again the federal government tightens its closing hold on Chicago gangsters by temporarily eliminating from the scene one of the most prominent underworld characters, "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, found guilty of conspiring to violate the Mann act. His "blonde alibi" bride of less than three months, Louise Rolfe, whose story enabled McGurn to escape trial for the St. Valentine's Day massacre, in 1929, also was found guilty. His sentence is two years, on three counts, to run concurrently, and she was sent to county jail for four months. They were released on bond, pending appeal.

Two Dry Agents Killed In Fight With Bootlegger

TRAP RESULTS IN HEAVY GUN BATTLE

Indianapolis And Cincinnati Men Are Killed—Two Are Injured

(International News Service)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 23.—George Adams, paroled bootlegger, who shot and killed two federal dry agents when they trapped him here last night, was captured early today at the home of a friend where he had stopped for medical aid.

The slain agents were John I. Wilson, head of the special unit of the Indianapolis prohibition office, and Walter M. Gilbert of the dry department at Cincinnati. Two were injured in the gun battle, C. E. Green of Portland, Ind., and Oliver J. Gettle, Indianapolis.

The four had arranged with Adams

Neshannock Avenue Being Resurfaced

Street Department Will Improve Section Near Rural Avenue

That section of Neshannock avenue, lying between the end of the pavement and the intersection of Rural avenue, is being resurfaced by the city, work on the project having been started yesterday.

Street Commissioner Moore has had the roadway plowed up, and the top section is being hauled away. It will be covered with "saggers" from the Shenango Pottery, as a base, and crushed limestone will be placed on the top for a surface.

This is expected to make a good hard surface which can be easily kept in condition. The roadway at this point has been extremely rough of late, and numerous complaints had been made to the city on the condition of the street.

MINER 'SHOOTS UP' TOWN NEAR LEESBURG TODAY, BEFORE BEING CAPTURED

Marco Demofonti, 40, Kills Five Persons With Gun And Sends Three More To Hospital As He Runs Amuck. Finally Felled By Heroism Of George Masters—Attempted To Fire Home Adjoining His Own—Village Near Leesburg In Uproar As Shooting Occurs.

Thought to be demented over worry from sickness, Marco Demofonti, 40, coal cutter for the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company at Number Two Mine, near Leesburg, murdered his wife and sister-in-law, three other people wounded three more, set fire to a neighbor's house and was only stopped by the heroism of George Masters who shot him down as he came up the road.

The murders occurred about 8:30 this morning. Following is the list of dead and injured:

DEAD:

Mrs. Marco Demofonti, 38.
Mrs. Alonso Fascetti, 41. A sister-in-law.
Gaston Diviliqua, 48.
Mrs. Frank Yakala, 43.
Mrs. Pete Ciciliani, 45. Died in hospital.

INJURED:

Mrs. Mike Bonnani, 39. Stabbed in side. Thought to be dying in Mercer hospital.
Flora Bonnani, 15. Stabbed about body.
Tony Ciciliani, 9. Shot in leg and arm. In Mercer hospital.
Marco Demofonti, 40. Shot in groin by George Masters.

Mrs. Pete Ciciliani, aged 45, who was taken to the Mercer hospital, following the shooting died a short time after being admitted to the institution, bringing the death toll of the tragedy to five. She was shot through the head by Demofonti.

Reign of Terror.

Ordinarily a peaceful citizen, Demofonti turned the quiet little settlement of company houses at No. 2 Mine near Leesburg into a shambles. The cause of the terrorism is thought to have been sickness. For two months the man had been suffering from recurring attacks of stomach trouble and was to have gone to the Mercer hospital today.

About 8 o'clock this morning Alfonso Fascetti, a brother-in-law, who had driven Demofonti to the hospital, sent his wife down to the house to see if Marco was ready. As she stepped into the doorway, Marco and his wife were arguing. This is all the information available. From then on the settlement was in an uproar.

Grabbing a shot gun Demofonti shot his wife in cold blood, turned the gun on his sister-in-law and nearly blew her head off. Grabbing a revolver and a knife he rushed over to the home of Steve Deddyk, next door, and finding nobody home proceeded to set fire to the place. With the flames gaining headway the maniac rushed out of the Deddyk home and started up the row.

Peacemaker Killed.

As he passed his own home, Marco was accosted by Gaston Diviliqua, the cobbler of the settlement, who tried to stop Demofonti. Rushing at him Demofonti shot Diviliqua down and went on.

Next he went into the home of Frank Yakala. Without any warning he turned the gun on Mrs. Yakala, killing her instantly. Rushing outside again he attempted to break into the next door house and failing to get in the door he smashed in the windows with his 16-gauge double barreled shot gun, breaking it in two.

At the next home he found little Pete Ciciliani in the yard. The youngster tried to flee but the maniac shot him down like a dog stopping to shoot him the second time. The next house visited was that of Mike Bonnani. Here Demofonti pulled out a knife or dirk and plunged it into the side of Mrs. Bonnani and then stabbed her daughter Flora.

Settlement In Hysterics

By this time the little settlement was in an uproar. Women were screaming, others were locking doors and rushing their children to the second floor to escape the madman's reign of terror, and men were coming over from the mine to see what the trouble was.

George Masters, the storekeeper of the settlement proved to be the hero of the occasion. Strapping on a 38 calibre revolver Masters started down the road and met Demofonti coming up. As he approached him Masters ordered the madman to stop, and fired three times into the ground to frighten him.

Demofonti's answers was to aim his gun at Masters and pull the trigger but the gun missed fire. As he did so Masters drew down on him, and fired twice, one of the bullets plowing through Demofonti's groin, bringing him to the ground like a felled ox.

Brought To Senses

As he fell, men rushed over and jumped on him, pinning him to the ground. Only then did Demofonti realize what he had done and when told that he had murdered his wife

SEVEN-POWER PARLEY RESULTS IN PROGRAM FOR AID TO GERMANY

Believe That German Crisis Has Been Averted For Present

HOOVER'S PROPOSAL IS BASIS OF PLAN

Ministers Announce They Are Pleased With Result Of Conference

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 23.—The plenary conference on the German economic crisis accepted today the plan of the sub-committee of finance ministers for its relief which was based on suggestions made by President Hoover.

"I am highly satisfied," declared Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, when questioned about the decision. "The agreement between the seven powers was most difficult to get but will carry great importance."

"I am thoroughly satisfied," said Secretary of State Stimson.

Chancellor Bruening of Germany was non-committal. "I cannot say anything," he replied to questioners.

Saved From Bankruptcy.

LONDON, July 23.—The German nation was saved from bankruptcy and immediate financial disaster today when the seven-power conference of ministers assembled here to aid in the Reich's economic recovery wound up its work by adopting a sub-committee's report embodying emergency measures for relief.

It was understood French statesmen also would soon visit Berlin to study the financial situation in Germany at first hand.

Indiana Dentist Suicide Victim

Dr. Earl Park, 50, Indiana, Pa., Blows Off Head With Shotgun

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., July 23.—An inquest was to be held today by the county coroner into the suicide of Dr. Earl Park, 50, prominent dentist here, who ended his life last night by shooting himself with a double-barreled shotgun.

According to members of the family, Dr. Park entered his home shortly after 6 o'clock, walked silently to his bedroom and procured the gun. He sat on the edge of the bed, inserted the muzzle of the gun in his mouth, and pulled the trigger.

The double-barreled charge decapitated the dentist. Dr. Park was known to have been the victim of recurring periods of melancholia, according to police, who believe this may account for the suicide.

He leaves his widow, a daughter Elizabeth, and a son Norman, a student at Penn State college.

Many Birds Are Being Shipped From Game Farm

Shipping Season Will Be Brought To Close Within Next Few Weeks

EXHIBITION PENS ARE NOW ARRANGED

More than half the ring-neck pheasants which are to be shipped out to points in Pennsylvania from the Jordon State Game Farm, have already been sent out, Supervisor Henry J. Sines stated this morning. To date, 6,300 birds have been shipped to various counties in the state to be released for the fall hunting season.

There were approximately 12,000 birds hatched out at the game farm, most of which matured, and with the exception of approximately 2,000 birds which will be wintered at the farm, these will be shipped out to various sections of the state, where they will be released for hunting.

Lawrence county is being well supplied with birds, Mr. Sines stated, 300 having been released in different sections of the county so far, and a few more will probably be released before the hunting season opens.

Few Birds Escape

Contrary to the belief of many, few birds escape from the game farm, and those which do get out-

Nelson Tells Of Capture Of Miner In Shooting

A graphic, eyewitness account of the capture of Marko Demofonti, 35, a crazed miner, who shot and killed four persons and wounded four others in an insane frenzy, was given today by Thomas Nelson, 36, who accompanied George Masters when the latter shot and disarmed Demofonti.

"He was coming down the road at us. His eyes were wide open: his hair standing up. He brandished the gun and warned us to keep our distance," Nelson related.

"Then he ran to the Ciscilian home. His two year old daughter was standing in the road. How she got there no one knows. The child was covered with the blood of her father's victims.

"Demofonti ordered us to take care of the child and then ran into the house. We heard a shot. He came staggering out and faced us. Masters shot. The bullet hit him in the leg and he dropped.

"Masters was on him in a moment and held him pinned to the ground. Then a large crowd attracted by the shooting and cries of the victims came closer. One or two helped Masters hold his prisoner until the police came."

Masters and Nelson were quietly at work in the store of the Union Coal Company when the early morning peace was disturbed by the shooting by Demofonti.

Both ran down the road for about a half mile to investigate the disorders when they came upon the crazed man, lunging at them with a revolver in one hand and a large butcher knife in the other.

"Why he didn't shoot us is the greatest mystery of all," Nelson concluded.

Special Conclave Of Cardinals Is Called By Pope

Will Consider Status Of Quarrel Between Church And State Over Federations

PLAN TO DISCUSS SERIOUS SITUATION

(International News Service)

VATICAN CITY, July 23.—The Pope called today a special conclave of all the 29 cardinals at present in Rome to consider the status of the quarrel between church and state over the Catholic youth federation.

The cardinals will be asked to advise his holiness as to further steps to be taken by the vatician in its defense of the youth clubs which were suppressed by the Fascist government for alleged interference with Italian politics.

The Pope has vehemently protested against the action of the government and the Fascist leaders have replied with equal vehemence.

Possibly as the result of the dispute, a bomb was recently placed in St. Peter's. It was discovered and carried to the Vatican garden where is exploded. Fascist circles declared that it had been placed by agitators wishing to create Anti-Fascist sentiment.

Cardinals in Session.

VATICAN CITY, July 23.—A special consistory of all the members of the Sacred College of Cardinals now in Rome assembled in the presence of Pope Pius XI today to discuss matters of current importance to the church.

His holiness called the conclave for the primary purpose of discussing the controversy between church and state in Italy over the education of catholic youth.

In addition, the consistory discussed the situation in Spain, where the church has been shorn of its power by the Republican government, as well as persecution of Catholic missionaries in China. New limitation of the rights of the church in Mexico also was discussed.

No statement was expected to be issued.

side the fences, try to get back in again where they are assured of plenty of food to eat.

The game farm is an interesting spot right now, most of the young birds having grown to a mature size and they are extremely active.

The various other kinds of pheasants kept at the farm have been placed in exhibition pens, where they can be viewed by visitors. These include golden, silver, Amherst, Reeves and versi-colored species. Then in addition, there are the Mallard ducks, wild ones, which were hatched out this spring and which have now grown to maturity.

One of the new features at the farm this summer is a brood of young pea fowls, six of which are being raised at the farm. These were given to the farm by R. D. Walters, of New Castle, and the young birds are doing well and fast growing to maturity.

Visitors are welcome at the game farm at all times, and right now, they will find the place an interesting one to visit.

gets attracted a lot of attention. Some of them seemed to be carrying travelling bags that were just about as large as they could manage.

Berry picking is under way at the Lawrence County Home. Large quantities of raspberries are being picked. Canning time is also in evidence at the home, and the surplus not needed at the present time is being canned.

Work is under way on the improvement of Neshannock avenue and Rural avenue. The highway is apparently going to be permanently improved as it is being plowed up.

Western Pennsylvania roads drew commendation from a California visitor, who toured a lot of them yesterday afternoon. The Perry highway was particularly commended as a road that was as fine as any to be found anywhere in the country.

The way farmers have shown interest in the county poultry tour is interesting. About 80 farmers from Lawrence and Mercer participated in the tour.

Old time horse hitching rings may still be found on North Mercer and North Mill streets.

A. S. Pearson of Scotland Lane claims the honor of eating the first roasting ears raised in his own garden. The Pearson family is now enjoying fine ears of golden bantam corn, Mr. Pearson reports.

BURKE'S CAPTORS FAIL TO COLLECT HEALTHY REWARDS

No Rewards Paid

This was apparent today with the announcement here that $40,000 reward for the capture of Burke offered by Chicago and Cook county applied only to the St. Valentine's day massacre in 1929.

This explanation was given by Coroner Bundensen and also for other rewards by the chief postal inspector and the Illinois Bankers' Association. There is little likelihood that Burke will be convicted of any other crimes so police commissioners of St. Joseph, Mo., gave the four policemen 15 days vacation with pay.

St. Joseph, Mich., had offered a $1,000 reward in the Skelly killing but it expired in 1930. That was the way many reward offers disappeared.

Those who crept into Burke's home near St. Joseph, Mo., last spring and arrested the "killer" while he slept rushed the criminal to St. Joseph, Mich. They received a dinner at the House of David and gasoline enough to carry them back home. That was the extent of their profit beyond the vacation.

Philadelphian Asks Abolition Of Farm Board

J. Wesley McWilliams, Counsel For Produce Exchange Scores Federal Farm Board

SENATOR DAVIS PROMISES AID

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Abolition of the Federal Farm Board was advocated today by J. Wesley McWilliams, counsel for the Philadelphia Produce Exchange. He accused the board of lending $2,000,000 to the Land O'Lakes Creameries Inc., of Minneapolis, at 1½ per cent interest, and asserted the latter concern is now engaged driving butter wholesalers of Philadelphia out of business.

McWilliams assertions were made before 40 local wholesale butter merchants. U. S. Senator James J. Davis addressed the gathering.

"Philadelphia Produce Exchange submits that the farm board should be abolished, or failing this, no further appropriations thereto should under any circumstances be made, McWilliams said, should it be impossible to end the iniquitous practice of subsidizing private special interests with public funds, the agricultural marketing act should be so amended as to remove the glaring instances of discrimination and unfair privilege.

Senator Davis promised the butter merchants to cooperate with them in obtaining a hearing on the subject. He said:

"No business can live with the government subsidizing competitors."

Postman Has Walked 50,000 Miles Without Leaving His Own City

(International News Service)

ERIE, Ja., July 23.—Marco Polo may have been the world's greatest traveler but he had nothing on M. J. Campbell, 67, now superintendent of registry at the postoffice here, who has walked a total of 50,000 miles without ever leaving the city of Erie.

For 20 years, Campbell has faithfully covered his daily seven-mile route.

When he first began his job with Uncle Sam, Campbell was forced to learn the names of all the dogs in town. The canine population had no love for mail carriers and Campbell decided discretion was the better part of valor in getting the mail through.

Those were the days when his route took him across creeks, over fences, through cow pastures and forest lands. In the winter he wore hip boots.

Campbell now handles all improperly addressed mail here. "There is always a story behind every dead letter," he says. "Perhaps a mother is trying to locate a lost son. Often husbands and wives who have become estranged are kept apart forever because a forgiving letter bears an erroneous address."

Toast Ruled As Part Of U. S. History

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 23.—Mrs. Laura F. Osborn, school board member likes her history clear and Superintendent of Schools Frank Cody has ruled that whiskey is a part of history. And so the finis has been written to a long and bitter dispute which gained nation-wide notoriety.

Mrs. Osborn objected to a history book showing a former president drinking a toast. She also wanted the reference to pre-Volstead drinking stricken from the history.

The fight was carried to a meeting of the school board where a sharp wrangle resulted. School board members, fearing to take a wet or dry stand, shelved the argument and referred it to Cody.

Cody, in Washington at the time, returned to find the problem on his hands almost at election time. He, too, frankly was wary of taking a wet and dry stand.

So he allowed the issue to rest. Meanwhile, the newspapers ceased to find it a subject for feature stories. The dispute and the publicity attendant to it were forgotten.

Out of a clear sky came the decision of Cody who ruled that pictures of ex-presidents drinking liquor would not be stricken from the history.

HOOVER INVITES COAL OPERATORS FOR CONFERENCE

suggested such a conference to the president in a telegram dated June 11, which stated in part:

"Individual operators find themselves helpless to maintain a compensatory price for coal. The fare of the workers and their dependants is actually below animal standards. Calicoes, overalls and rags constitute the clothing of the mining families, while their food consists of mush, beans and molasses."

There was a somewhat pessimistic note in the invitations bearing the names of Lamont and Doak, for it was recalled therein that following the Lewis appeal an informal gathering of operators at the commerce department for the most part expressed the view that nothing could be gained by a joint conference.

A few days later, however, it was set forth, a similar meeting was held in the labor department with the executive committee of the United Mine Workers' at which the employees suggested the industry had not been effectively represented at the sessions with Lamont.

Invitations Sent

To this end, the enlarged list of invitations were enroute today asking telegraphic replies to the following two questions:

"At a convenient time in the near future will you be willing to attend a representative, joint conference of operators and miners for the purposes stated?

"In your judgment would such a conference bring about the results outlined by Mr. Lewis?"

The miners' chief had based his appeal to Mr. Hoover on the following statement:

"Your knowledge and experience as a mining engineer especially equips you to recognize the necessity of the bituminous coal industry's adopting a program stabilizing labor costs as the first fundamental step to a correction of present day ills. X X X The very desperation of coal mining communities presents a grave problem to the American people."

Preceding the bid for a conference as Lewis desired, the president, under date of June 29, had wired the head of the U. M. of A., that "the administration is desirious of lending every possible assistance to any constructive program put forward by operators from miners."

Situation Complicated

Secretary Lamont then called in a group of bituminous operators, but they failed to get far in their discussions as a majority were disinclined to agree to a joint conference. The situation further was complicated when a group of miners representing the National Miner's Union—a "left wing" organization which is not recognized by the United Mine Workers—descended on Washington from the coal fields in trucks and picketed the White House protesting against treatment alleged to have been accorded them by both operators and the administration, and attacking the claims of Lewis to representative leadership.

Secretary of Labor Doak next called in Lewis and his executive committee and it was on the basis of their further insistence that President Hoover decided to undertake to assemble the desired joint meeting.

"The prevalent belief is that only through the efforts and leadership of outside influence can a basis be reached for a correction of existing abuses," Lewis had declared.

Child Hated Moving; Pretended Suicide

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 23. — William Russell Cunningham is only two years old—but despite his tender age he recently received a great deal of attention because his mother thought he had committed suicide.

Little William stormed about the house where he was born when his folks started to move from the address.

"I won't live in that awful place next door," the boy said. And while his folks moved the furniture, Billy was always in the way. Receiving no attention, he retired to a back room.

Loud cries were heard. His mother rushed in to find a bottle of acid in the child's hands.

Police were called and William was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance. He received more than his share of attention.

Finally, he said: "I didn't drink it." And he hadn't a medical examination proved.

Jurists Scanning Evidence Against Ohio Prosecutor

HEATED ARGUMENTS FEATURE CLOSING

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 23.—Three visiting judges today were forming the opinions and decisions which they have announced will be filed tomorrow in the blackmail and ouster trials of Ray L. Thomas, the Mahoning county prosecutor.

Judge H. W. Jewell of Delaware county, who presided in the blackmail trial, will file the opinion in that case, and Judge Alfred Mack of Cincinnati will pen the ouster action verdict.

As the representative of 4,400 citizens who he claimed were demanding the removal of Thomas, Attorney Clyde W. Osborne, former law director and at one time head of the Ohio Ku Klux Klan, delivered the closing arguments yesterday afternoon for the prosecution. Attorneys Oscar E. Diser and R. P. Hahn, retained by Thomas, were vigorously flayed by Osborne for their defense in the case.

The prosecution lawyer declared he represented "thirty times 4,400 honest people who are clamoring for a reform of prosecution and justice."

Missionaries In China Send Word Of Killings

Communists Take American Prisoner, Kill Others

(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 23—The first written communication from Rev. Edwin D. Kellogg and Rev. George W. Shepherd, American missionaries in China, since they were driven out of their mission by Communists last month, has been received at Boston headquarters.

"A surprise attack was made upon the troops of the 56th division at Kienning on Sunday, May 31," the report reads. "The government forces were very seriously defeated, with an estimated loss of from two to three thousand men."

Mr. Kellogg writes that Dr. Huang and his wife, both of the American board dispensary in Kienning, were captured by the Reds and brought back bound to Kienning. It was thought that he might save his life by administering medical aid to the Reds.

"The Communists fought bitterly and killed every prisoner and wounded man the moment they captured him. The principal of our Boys' school was captured with his bride and so far as we know is being held for ransom. A wealthy rice merchant from Foochow Village was captured, and we will be surprised if he gets away with his life. It is probable that Kienning and its people suffered severely in the attack," Mr. Kellogg wrote.

It was said that the territory around Moochow, with the Communists reported as acquiring a foot hold, is becoming unsafe for the Missionaries and Chinese Christians, and unless they evacuate they are liable to be shot as Capitalists or pests. Only the coolies would be unharmed as Communism is largely a coolie administration. At the time of the writing of the letter by Mr. Kellogg, fear was expressed by the inhabitants that the Reds in the city of Foochow would rise up, enabling outside forces of the rebels to break through the city stronghold.

Father Geser, on leaving Kienning for Tsianglo, was shot by bandits who had befriended him on another occasion, the report read.

"This particular group of bandits had protected us when we evacuated in January 1930, but they have now turned Red, in common with most of their Tribe. Father Geser's load carrier brought the sad news down to Tangkow the following day."

Mr. Kellogg comes from Orange, Mass. Mr. Shepherd comes from New Zealand, but his wife, Dr. Clara Sargent Shepherd is a native of Detroit, Mich. Both are missionaries of the Congregational Church.

Columbia River Houses Weird Frog

THE DALLES, Ore., July 23.—Until they catch this gigantic bullfrog that inhabits a pool in the Columbia river near here, its exact dimensions will remain in dispute.

"As large as a dinner plate," said one witness.

"Sixteen inches between the eyes and weighing 220 pounds, with eyes that gleam a fiery red at night," related an Indian who claimed to have seen the monstrosity. "When it croaks it sounds like the bellow of a bull," he added.

STOCK WITH 6,000 BASS

HIGHLAND LAKE, Conn.—Just to make sure they will have plenty of fishing in future summers, citizen of Highland Lake have loosed 6,000 small-mouthed black bass in the waters of their great lake. A thousand bass were turned loose early in the summer, and 5,000 added in mid-July. Four hundred people contributed to the purchase of the the fish, which were Connecticut raised.

Tomato Crop Is Found Suffering

Dry Weather In Ozarks Damages Huge Acreage

(International News Service)

HOLLISTER, Mo., July 23—Continued dry weather throughout the Ozarks is damaging to the 50,000 acres of hillside land planted this year in tomatoes.

Normally the crop would amount to about 125,000 tons. However, unless rain falls at weekly intervals up to the second week in August the crop will be cut to below 100,000 tons.

The crop already has been contracted to canneries at $10 a ton. The price paid for tomatoes in the Ozarks before the World War was $8 a ton but in the last few years reached $14 a ton.

Two years ago almost 100,000 acres of tomatoes were grown at a profit to the producers. There are fifty small canning plans in Taney and Stone counties and the tomato growing industry provides employment for several thousands.

One-Color Luncheon New Food Fashion

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 23.—Fashions in foods are imitating those in clothes and the smartest hostesses now are showing ingenuous color schemes on their tables, providing appetizing dishes which blend artistically.

The all-green luncheon is perhaps the most popular for the moment. It is accompanied by green beer.

Lobster and tomatoes also make it comparatively easy to prepare an attractive red meal. The sauces are colored to match.

This fashion is likely to provide forthcoming comment by doctors and dietitians and discussions on the various effects of color on the digestive tract.

Found on the fly-leaf of an old book of sermons:

If there should be another flood,
For refuge hither fly;
Though all the world should be submerged,
This book will still be dry.

Former Queen Has Week-End Habit

(International News Service)

RHEIMS, France, July 23.—Everybody's getting the week-end habit, even the former Queen of Spain. To break the monotony of her exile in Fontainebleau, awaiting the turn of events, the former sovereign takes little jaunts in the country.

The inhabitants of this city got a real thrill when they saw a beautiful Hispano-Suiza stop in front of the Hotel du Lion d'Or recently, out of which stepped the Queen, two sons and a daughter. After lunch they visited the famous cathedral, the Hotel de Ville and the renowned champagne cellars. Afterwards they drove around the nearby battlefields.

NATION'S SURPLUS WHEAT

HERE in Lawrence county as elsewhere the wheat harvest is just about concluded. The indications are that there will be about as heavy a yield threshed out this fall, as has been secured in many years. The same conditions seem to prevail all over the country, the wheat crop being unusually good.

On top of the heavy surplus of millions of bushels carried over from last season, and stored in the elevators, there seems to be little chance of natural conditions taking care of the speedy return to normal of the wheat situation.

We understand that in some of the provinces of Canada, the surplus is to be taken care of in a new way by the government. The wheat will be made into flour and will then be distributed broadcast to the needy of the country, through recognized charity organizations.

Why isn't such a program feasible and proper for the United States? Why isn't it more logical to have the millions of bushels of wheat that the government has purchased through the Farm Board made into flour and distributed to the needy of the nation during the coming winter than just to continue to hold the surplus in an effort to stabilize prices?

AFTER ALL, HE SURRENDERED

There is a tempest in a teacup raging in Virginia, which, according to some of the disputants, has international ramifications, but which is probably more amusing than disturbing to the foreign country supposed to be vitally concerned. Whichever way the die is finally cast it is not likely to make much of an impression.

This battle of words rages over the momentous question whether the pageant to be given in connection with the sesquicentennial celebration of the Battle of Yorktown next year will include the episode of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis' sword to General Washington. It was raised by the fear of the ultra-considerate that it might strike a note jarring to the sensibilities of the British people.

Would the signing of the Declaration of Independence be left out of a pageant depicting the formation of the union? Would the landing of Columbus be omitted from a pageant on American discovery? Would the Revolutionary war go unmentioned in a pageant of American wars? If they would, then the historical meeting of the British and colonial generals should have no part in the Yorktown pageant.

Whether British pride shall be hurt will depend not upon what is done at Yorktown but upon how it is done. No sensible Briton is going to take offense at the faithful portrayal of an historical incident in which his country was the loser. And in this case there is no humiliation for Great Britain, because Lord Cornwallis was a soldier and a gentleman, honored as such by Washington.

MACDONALD'S TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT HOOVER

Whatever may come out of the International Conference in London, the leadership in a momentous movement to relieve world-wide depression is everywhere conceded by men of intelligence. Germany was in most serious financial straits a month ago—still is tossing in troubled waters, for that matter. But events were then tending toward a complete collapse. Foreign lenders were becoming alarmed. Short-term credits were in process of withdrawal. The situation appeared almost hopeless by June 18. And then what happened? Let Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald say:

"The whole face of the world was changed in half an hour by the dramatic announcement of President Hoover's offer. History will pronounce this decision as an act of rare courage and statesmanship."

It was. There are a few carping critics and partisian agitators who sneer that the president was willing to suspend foreign debts owing us while ignoring conditions in our own country, but they are without influence. "It was a stroke of sound business," says Mr. MacDonald, for European upheaval would have retarded progress in the United States immeasurably. Reversely, restoration of confidence abroad will be immediately reflected on this side of the Atlantic.

In Paris, in London, in Berlin, in Rome the world leadership of President Hoover is not only admitted but praised. Snarlers at home will do well to tread softly, warns the Philadelphia Inquirer, otherwise they will find themselves bereft of all sympathy.

PARCELS POST EXTENSION

Interstate Commerce Commission assent to the extension of parcels post limits as to bulk and weight helps the post office department out of a hole and effects a saving and convenience for both business and individual shippers.

Through extending the service to larger and heavier shipments, the post office department, which lost fifteen and a half millions on parcels post operation last year, expects to add five millions to its revenue without greatly adding to its overhead. Shippers will benefit for obvious reasons.

Deficits render a useful service to both the government and the people when they inspire changes in policy that promise augmented revenue and improved service. And before the post office department gets out of the red it will have to make many such changes. One suggests the possibility of others.

Public and private business, if alert, can emerge from the depression better in many ways. When business is good there is no time for thinking up ways and means of extending and improving operations. When there is little or no business the enterprising who offer something a little bit better get what business there is. So it is a promising sign when a governmental agency comes to the fore with innovations.

I Built a Spite Fence
It Fell on Me
Who Came to My Help

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I built me a Spite Fence.

I said, "I don't like that fellow. I don't like his nose. I don't like the way he walks. I don't like the hours he keeps. I don't like anything about him. . . . I don't know him, of course, but I have a Sure Instinct about these things. It never fails and I know the instant I see anybody whether I'm going to like him or not. And I Know I'm Not Going to like Him!"

Whenever I talked about him, my sentences were peppered with "I's" I thought more about me than I thought about him. . . . So I built me a Spite Fence against him. Built it between him and me and shut him out forever. . . . Curiously enough, he didn't seem to know it was there. I knew it, but he didn't. I had raised a wall, but he didn't seem to mind it at all. He nodded when he passed and angered me with his genial indifference to my dislike.

It was a strange thing, that Spite Fence. . . . It seemed alive. It grew. It sank its wiry roots into the meager soil of my petulance, drew a bitter sustenance and climbed to the blue skies above. And the taller it grew the happier I thought I was. It grew until it shut out my sun, even, and left me in the shade.

But finally it grew too high and too big for its mean little roots, and in a high wind and a thundering storm one night it blew over and fell on me—and crashed in my roof—and made me a terrified prisoner. . . . So I yelled, I yammered, I screamed for help. For help from anybody—strangers, friends, acquaintances, enemies, anybody.

And my yowlings were heard above the storm of my trouble, my pain, my misfortune, and who do you think heard and came to my help? That fellow who lived beyond my Spite Fence, of course. He came swiftly, with comfort and splints and bandages and gentle help. And I found him gentle and generous and thoughtful and sympathetic—and just the friend I had been seeking all my life.

I had drawn a circle to shut him out, but Life had drawn the larger circle to include us both. And my Spite Fence blew clean away in the cleansing storm and was never mentioned again.

BE A REAL DAD!

Dad, are you the sort your children would be proud to introduce to their friends?

Or is your reputation such that they have reason to feel ashamed of you?

Do young folks feel at ease when they meet you in your home?

Is your home popular or the reverse as a meeting place for your children's friends.

Must your children make excuses for you, fearing that you may display unpleasant traits or cause them embarrassment?

Perhaps your children spend few evenings at home?

They never seem happy and contented in their home though you have perhaps provided a comfortable and well-furnished house.

Maybe it is more of a house than a home.

In such a case you cannot expect them to remain in it longer than necessary to sleep and eat.

You may have wondered why your children desire to go to the homes of their friends so often.

It is because they have a better time elsewhere.

THE LITTLE OFFICE PLANT.

High above the noisy street
Upon an office window sill,
Far from the tramp of human feet,
Almost as if against its will,
A potted plant of summer green
By hotel tenants can be seen.

All else about is drab and drear,
Too high the spot for singing birds,
That lonely little plant can hear
Only machines and human words.
It scarce can see the summer sky
And has no neighbor dwelling by.

Within the room a business man
Sits sternly at his desk all day,
Cons figures and appears to plan
Grave matters in a somber way,
As if his every thought were bent
On trade and office management.

He simulates a love of power
In rooms where men of force abide,
And yet that lonely little flower
Strangely betrays his tender side.
As if that man of iron will
Had left his soul upon the sill.

Its nicknames, for example, frequently are words suggested by some affliction. One man who has a drooping eyelid is commonly called "Drap"—which is the rural pronunciation of "drop". Another, who is crippled and walks with difficulty, is called "Wob"—an abbreviation of wobble. Such nicknames indicate nothing more serious than thoughtlessness, but those who openly ridicule the unfortunate because of some deformity or affliction are deliberately and unpardonably brutal. Fight Over Greenland Turns Attention To World Court

Conflict Between Norway And Denmark, According To American Opinion, Due To Increasing Importance Of Airplane Travel In Icy Regions

Popular conceptions of Greenland as a great waste of ice and snow, unimportant in the world's commerce, are being revised as new interest in this island is awakened by the controversy between Norway and Denmark over its possession. The fact that airplane development has extended communication to the Arctic regions is one factor in the renewed conflict of jurisdiction, while the reference of the matter to the World Court is a matter of international attention.

"What a healthy example to nations carrying chips on their shoulders," remarks the MINNEAPOLIS STAR, "if Denmark and Norway compromise, as they probably will, their differences by the light of logic and reason and abide by the World Court's decision." The PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER looks upon the dispute as "like a revival of Viking rivalries of centuries long forgotten," and concludes that "the most probable use for that area, East Greenland, which has been virtually no-man's land, would be as an airplane base, and that threat, combined with Scandinavian rivalries, seems to have started the controversy."

Recalling the fact that Commander Robert E. Peary charted Greenland's northern coast and that his success prompted Danish explorers to extend the work, the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS emphasizes the reference to the World Court, and adds: The disputants are parties to treaties providing for such a course and also are pledged never to war against each other." The PROVIDENCE BULLETIN comments: "Norway, while powerful enough to maintain its claim over eastern Greenland, has stated that the occupation was made mostly to create an issue for settlement by the World Court, and that she will abide by the decision."

"Denmark has exercised control over Greenland's trade," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "for more than 150 years. In 1917 the Copenhagen government assumed full administration of its affairs, a formality which led to a quarrel with Norway over east coast hunting and sealing rights. Greenland is perhaps the hugest island in the world. Its area of 827,300 square miles exceeds in size that of all the United States' overseas possessions, including Alaska and the Philippines. Admiral Peary discovered new land in Northern Greenland, to which this country laid formal claim, but with the acquisition of the Danish West Indies, Washington relinquished American rights. Otherwise Uncle Sam might have been called upon to take a hand in the polar squabble which now has Copenhagen and Oslo by the ears."

"A few years past," thinks the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "the fuss over Greenland would have appeared to be a bootless quarrel. Now, however, the great ice cap is considered important as a base for aerial operations and meteorological observations, perhaps as a place of natural resources other than seals and polar bears."

"From a practical standpoint, Denmark's right to so vast an area may be questioned," according to the MANCHESTER UNION, which finds it "gratifying that the matter is to be settled by peaceable methods of adjudication." That paper points out that "there are indications that the region may be rich in iron, copper and coal, that have been found elsewhere in that vicinity."

As to the present importance of the region the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE sets forth: "The population of Greenland is mainly Eskimo, of which there are approximately 15,000. Added to these are about 250 European, many of whom have Eskimo wives. The island was settled in the latter part of the 10th century by Norwegians, who established churches and monasteries and occupied it for 300 years.* The chief exports from Greenland are fish, eiderdown furs, whale oil and graphite. Its deposits of cryolite are the largest in the world. American ships fish halibut off the west coast. The Eskimos live mainly on seals and whales, killing about 100,000 each year. During the four years from 1845 to 1849, over 25,000 reindeer were shot yearly, but today reindeer are scarce on the island. A party of hunters and students from Norway during a recent visit to the big island planted their flag and claimed a section of eastern Greenland in the name of their sovereign. This particular territory has been long used by hunters, so, on the old theory that possession is nine points of the law, they have come to feel it belongs to them."

"There ought to be room in Greenland for any who might have the hardihood to go there," advises the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, while the INDIANAPOLIS STAR, recalling the traditional view that the land is "a jumping-off point for Arctic explorations," concedes that "the progress of aviation may increase its importance." The NEW YORK EVENING POST avers that "the World Court has a new item on its calendar," although "Greenland's icy mountains were popularly coupled in this country with India's coral strand."

"The claim of Norway," suggests the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS, "comes as a surprise to the public, in view of the general assumption that Denmark has sovereignty over the entire island. This it would seem was conceded by the Norwegians themselves as recently as 1924 when a convention was signed between the two countries in which Denmark granted Norway certain commercial rights on the east coast of Greenland. Perhaps the most significant aspect of the dispute as far as the rest of the world is concerned is the readiness with which both countries have referred their differences to The Hague."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

I KNEW THE CHINESE.

Back in the Roaring Nineties there was a Chinese who attended Yale. He was so light in weight and so intelligent that he became coxswain of the Yale Eight oared crew. Just now the papers are retelling the story of this coxswain and the late Speaker Longworth as told by Longworth himself:

"Of course, I'm a Harvard man," began the Speaker, but since that 'surprise' game last fall perhaps I can afford to tell one on my alma mater, especially since it's a good one and a true one.

"When I was out on the Taft expedition to the Far East, our party split up at Tientsin. I went overland to Peking with a crowd, while the rest kept on by sea to Manila.

"With Willar Straight I went into what would be called the club car on the train to the capital. It was cool and clean, and the coolest and cleanest thing in it was a Chinaman whom Straight knew. He presented me, and we all sat down at a light table to have something to help cool off.

"'I beg your pardon, Mr. Longworth,' said the Chinese in perfect English, 'but I cannot help knowing you to be a Harvard man, and therefore I want to ask you a question. Why was it that the Harvard crew lengthened its slides by two inches at New London this summer?'

"I was struck all of a heap. 'Now let me get this straight,' said I. 'Here you are in the depths of China, certainly not an American, asking me about the length of the slide used in a Harvard shell. Is that right? And if it is right, how do you get that way?'

"'Why,' he said, 'I was educated in your country, and three times I have been in New London. Three Harvard-Yale boat races have I seen, but, curiously enough, I have never seen a Harvard crew row in one.'

"I hitched up closer to him, and I said: 'Now, again, let me get this thing straight. You have seen three Harvard-Yale boat races at New London, but you've never seen a Harvard eight row in one. Is that right?'

"'It is,' he said.

"'Well,' I burst out, 'Where in the world did you watch those races from?'

"'Oh,' he grinned, 'I was coxswain of the Yale crew.'"

SECRETARY DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS

Four Others Wounded As Gang Fires Upon Minister In Shanghai Today

By ED THACKERAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, July 23.—T. V. Soong, minister of finance in the Chinese Nationalist government, narrowly escaped death at the hands of assassins today at the Shanghai railway station.

Tang Yu Loo, Soong's secretary was fatally injured and died later at the hospital. He was aged 32 and had received the degrees of bachelor of arts and master of arts from Harvard and Yale respectively. The others wounded were one of the bodyguards, a policeman and a soldier.

Four other persons were wounded as a band of five men fired three shots and two bombs at Soong as he descended from the express train from Nanking at 7 a. m.

Falls To Ground.

The young minister saved his life by throwing himself to the ground. One of the bombs did not explode immediately, but blew off the arm of a street hawker when he picked it up during the excitement.

The would-be assassins were charged by Soongs' six bodyguards but escaped.

The wounded included one of Soong's bodyguards, a policeman and a soldier.

Soong' who is a graduate of the Harvard school of business administration and worked in various New York banks, is a member of the famous "Soong dynasty", which played such a prominent part in the organization of the Kuomintang (Chinese people's party) and the Nationalist government. He is a brother of Madame Sun Yat Sen, widow of the famous revolutionary leader; Madame Chiang Kai Shek, wife of the president of China, and Mrs. H. H. Kung, wife of the minister of industry in the Nationalist government.

Rt. Rev. J. C. Ward To Install Girls

Impressive Service Will Be Held In St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Sunday Evening

The Rt. Rev. J. C. Ward of Erie will officiate at an impressive installation service in St. Andrew's Episcopal church on East Long avenue, Sunday evening at 7:30 when the Girl's Friendly Society installs nine new members into the St. Andrew Chapter.

In addition to Rev. Ward, Miss Grace Perkins, diocesan president, of Sharon, will take part in the ceremony.

The girls to be installed are Ida Alexander, Jean Riley, Virginia Samuels, Marie Riley, Mildred Cartwright, Evelyn McConahay, Arilla Mae Allsopp, Amy Wright and Charlotte Cameron. These girls have gone through a probation period of three months, under the guidance of Miss Anne Hitchens, president of the G. F. S.

Friday evening the society and the junior boys choir of the church will meet in the Guild room at 8 o'clock to rehearse for the Sunday evening service.

MENTAL ILLNESS IS HEALTH FACTOR

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Calling attention to the fact that half the hospital beds in the United States are devoted exclusively to mental patients, John L. Hanna, State Secretary of Welfare, today issued a statement urging the citizens of this commonwealth to attend the county mental health clinics conducted under the supervision of the bureau of mental health, State Department of Welfare.

"It is generally agreed," Hanna said, "that at least 40 per cent of the men and women who annually consult physicians for a wealth of distressing bodily sensations are victims of poor health associated with unwholesome state of mind. In other words, it is stated by authorities on the subject that 40 out of every 100 persons who call upon physicians for bodily ailments are suffering from defects, the basic cause of which is mental illness."

Believe Butler County Man Was Slaying Victim

Discover Body Of Edward Roberts, 60, Dead On Kitchen Floor Of His Home

INDICATIONS ALL POINT TO MURDER

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., July 23.—Belief that Edward Roberts, 60, a farmer living in the outlying section of this county, met a violent death was expressed today by Coroner William F. Pohl as he continued his investigation into the circumstances of the man's death.

The back of Roberts' head had been crushed, he coroner said, indicating the likelihood that he had been murdered.

The body was found when an investigation was made by a neighbor and a rural mail carrier. The neighbor had called at the home the day prior to the discovery of the body and, finding no one answered his call, grew suspicious. He and the mail carrier investigated the following day, discovering the body on the kitchen floor of the home.

Roberts' family was away visiting, and he had been living alone for several days, neighbors told the coroner. The scene of the killing is in Allegheny township, north of Parker's Landing, among the ridges of the Allegheny river.

Young Man Killed By Electric Wire

Youth Near Punxsutawney Killed As He Steps On Fence Charged By Electricity

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., July 23.—Merle London, 23, well known in Henderson township, near here, was electrocuted today when he stepped on an electrically charged barbed wire fence while running to investigate a fire in a nearby home.

The wire, a section of a power company system, had fallen across the fence when the cable on nearby poles "burned through" sometime during the night. The youth, unaware of the charged condition of the fence wire, stepped on the bottom strand of the fence.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. London, four brothers and three sisters.

Woman Killed As Auto Is Wrecked

(International News Service)

GETTYSBERG, Pa., July 23.—Mrs. Elward Bresett, of Wayne, Pa., was killed instantly near here today when the automobile in which she and her husband were riding left the road, plunged over an embankment and turned over twice. Mrs. Bresett's neck was broken in the crash. Bresett suffered only minor injuries.

The couple were en route west on a vacation trip.

MINER 'SHOOTS UP' TOWN TODAY

and sister-in-law he broke into hysteric sobs.

Only the bravery of Masters stopped the reign of terror at the point it was stopped. It was a valorous thing to do and might easily have cost Masters his life. He did not know at the time that so many people had been killed but when Demofonti brandished the gun realized the gravity of the situation. Masters is a crack shot and could have killed Demofonti but preferred to bring him down with the shot in the groin. As it is, the wound may cost the maniac his life as he is in serious shape in the Mercer hospital.

Homes A Shambles

The kitchen of the Demofonti home was a shambles. The floor was drenched with the blood of the two women as they lay near each other dead. On the table was a loaf of bread, apparently just having been cut to give one of Demofonti's youngsters some of it for breakfast. The home is a small one, a typical miner's home, clean and neat, with the enclosed porch serving as a barber shop where at nights Demofonti performed the duties of settlement barber. The The Deddyk home next door, while having no blood in it was wrecked. The feather tick had been torn apart to put out the flames and feathers were scattered over everything. Charred furniture and broken dishes were scattered over the floor, and the carpets and walls soaked with water.

A visit along the row reminded one of a French village after the Uhlans had been through. In the yard of Diviliquo the unfortunate man was stretched out, dead, while further up the row, Mrs. Yakala lay face down near the step where she had staggered after being shot. Other houses had smashed windows, evidence of the maniac's fury, while all along the row were gathered little knots of women with babies in their arms, children sobbing for parents who were dead or dying, officers checking up the casualties, and everybody in an abnormal state of excitement.

Leaves Seven Children

Demofonti leaves seven children, Effie, Paulina, Evangelist, Edola, Amanda, Ernesto and Helen, Effie the oldest is eleven, and Helen the baby is one. Mrs. Kakala leaves three children, Laura 14, Frances 3 and Louis 12. Mrs. Bonnani leaves the following children, Theodore 18, Goldie 16, Flora 15, Raymond 12, Lucy 10, Gildo 6, and Elias 4.

Almost before the shooting had died down, Sheriff Dan Callahan of Mercer County was notified and with his son and a deputy, rushed to the scene of the crime and took charge. State Policeman Amos and one other trooper answered the call and Coroner W. I. McGrath soon after.

In Mercer County

Where the crime was committed is almost on the line separating Lawrence and Mercer counties, but the shooting was all done in Mercer county.

The bodies of the dead were removed to Sharon for autopsies and Coroner McGrath will hold an inquest later, the time depending upon the condition of Demofonti.

According to members of the Demofonti family and neighbors, Demofonti has been ill for some time and has been in a highly nervous condition. The attending physician had advised the family to keep him under surveillance at all times.

Neighbors stated that he did not seem any worse during the past few days than he had been before, but that this morning, he became violently insane after attacking the members of his family, started down the road, bent on shooting down all who came before him.

All of the victims of Demofonti's murderous rage, are the heads of large families, and their untimely end will cause widespread suffering, residents of the community state.

District Attorney Leo McKay of Mercer county is conducting a separate investigation into the tragedy, aside from that being made by Coroner McGrath.

Demofonti after being taken to the Mercer hospital was operated on and the bullet fired by Masters was extracted from his thigh. Attending physicians stated that his condition is not critical, and that he will recover.

Aged Farmer Has Narrow Escape In Fixing Windmill

Paralytic Stroke Overcomes Maryland Farmer As He Repairs Windmill 75 Feet In Air

(International News Service)

GALENA, Md., July 23—Wilmer Ford, 70 year old farmer, residing near here had a narrow escape from death today when he sustained a paralytic stroke while atop a 75 foot windmill.

The aged farmer, who weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds had mounted the mindmill to repair a broken rod, when one side suddenly became paralyzed. He called to his housekeeper, Mrs. Thomas Jarman, who called his son, Norman.

Summoning neighbors, the younger Ford went to the aid of his father and with the aid of four men succeeded in strapping him to a board and lowering him to the ground by means of a block and tackle.

Guardsmen Wind Up Activity By Mimic Warfare

Combat Demonstration On Extended Scale Will Finish Training

ALL MEN ARE IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

(International News Service)

CAMP KENT, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 23.—In full field kit, soldiers of the Pennsylvania national guard today moved out to wind up their two week training period at the encampment here by a combat demonstration on an extended scale.

A road march and an overnight bivouac on the field, in enemy territory, were on the program as the "mimic war" of the guardsmen got under way.

Three tactical problems faced troops in the combat maneuvers. They were that of repulsing an army invading the Lebanon area, protecting themselves against air raids and attacks and concentration of personnel and supplies to overwhelm the invader in an engagement in which, technically, all arms of the service were to participate.

The men were in excellent spirits as they began active duty and officers were confident the tactical demonstration would be successful. Day of rest, during which the annual track or field meet was held, had whetted enthusiasm for the theoretical war.

The 109th infantry, comprising troops from Scranton and north central Pennsylvania, copped the inter-regimental competition with a score of 93 1-16 points and Major General Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry of the regular army, presented the trophy to Colonel Robert M. Vail of Scranton, with congratulations for the success of the regiment.

Plan Of Salvation Subject Of Sermon

Dr. Andrew Johnson Talks To Large Audience At Greenwood Camp Meeting Wednesday

A large and attentive audience gathered at the Greenwood camp meeting service Wednesday evening and listened with deep interest to Dr. Andrew Johnson as he ably discussed the plan of salvation and pointed out the different steps required of the penitent sinner in order to receive the remission of sins.

He concluded his sermon by saying "Hope is a union of expectation and desire and belongs to the realm of the future, whereas salvation is obtainable here and now. The Bible says now is the accepted time, now is the time of salvation".

The song service, as conducted by Rev. Harry Maitland, was inspirational. The music of the junior choir is an interesting part of the program.

Rev. S. R. Maitland, pastor of Greenwood, is pleased with the progress the revival is making and is busy visiting and working in the community.

Rev. Paul Elliott, pastor of Slippery Rock Presbyterian church was present and offered the opening prayer.

City And County In Healthy State

Only One Case Of Contagion Under Quarantine In Entire County

Not only the city of New Castle, but the entire rural district outside the city, is in a remarkably healthy condition at the present time, Health Officer Steen and County Medical Director Harper report.

The only case of contagion under quarantine at the present time is a case of measles in the city. There is no contagion in the county.

County Health Officer Montgomery is busy at the present time inspecting camps throughout the county and seeing that sanitary conditions about the camp are kept up to standard. Drinking water is also being tested along roadsides and near camps by Mr. Montgomery.

Legion Of Honor Picnic Is Well Attended Event

Slippery Rock Park Is Scene Of First Annual Picnic On Wednesday

PROGRAM PROVES OF INTEREST TO ALL

Members of the Legion of Honor and their families held their annual basket picnic at Slippery Rock Park, Wednesday, the event being largely attended and proved an enjoyable one for all.

A good program of sports was carried out during the afternoon and evening, cuminating in the golf match, which was the big event of the day.

This was won by James Moorhead and Wilbur Chapman, with a net score of 64, Chapman's big handicap carrying the pair to victory. They were closely pressed by Ivor Richards and Howard Geary, whose gross score of 92 was the best for the evening. Their net was 67.

The other results in the golf match were as follows; Walter S. Reynolds and Ray Hall, 72; Charles H. Young and James A. Hewitt, 70; A. L. Conn and Clarence Jarrett, 80; Ivor V. Davis and Leon Drumm, 71; C. Ed. Allen and C. Ed. Brown, 84.

"Bill" Merriman, popular local policeman with his family won the prize for the largest family present, while Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hutton and family of Greenville came the longest distance.

Results of the races were as follows;

Boys' race over 7—James A. Hewitt.

Boys' race under 7—Bobby Richards.

Girls' race over 7—Ruth Merriman.

Girls' race under 7—Marjorie Allen.

Wheelbarrow race for women—Mrs. James A. Hewitt.

Wheelbarrow race for men—Ivor V. Davis.

Ball throwing contest for women—Mrs. Sam Rohrer.

Pipe race—C. E. Allen.

Ivor Davis' "much" ball team had little trouble in downing Clarence Jarrett's aggregation by a score of 16-1. In spite of the heroic relief burling of James A. Hewitt, Jarrett's team went down to defeat, principally through the air-tight defense offered by the Davis team. They absolutely refused to make an error.

The only accident of the day occurred during the ball game, when a bat broke and the splintered end struck Chris Walker on the wrist, inflicting a painful wound.

Vacation School Comes To Close

The Vacation church school, which has been held in the Euclid avenue Methodist church for the past three weeks, comes to a close Friday.

The enrollment of the school is thirty-three and the aggregate attendance three hundred and fifty-seven, or an average of twenty-seven. The largest department is the intermediate, having an enrollment of thirteen with an average attendance of eleven.

This is the first year the church has conducted a school of this kind; it is under the leadership of Miss Merle Kolb, deaconess, and has proven a splendid success.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock the pupils of the school will give a demonstration of their work. There will be an exhibit, which the parents and friends of the children are invited to see; it shows what has been taught during the course.

Those who have been faithful in attendance will receive certificates; they are: Kindergarten, Paul Watkins, Berdett Gerlach, Marcella Ely, Louella Black and Lillie Jane Rees; primaries, Nancy Snyder, James Kelley, Orpha Kelley; juniors, John Wilkins, Mary Jolley; intermediates, Merle Watkins, Evelyn Warrick, Elease Ray, Mary Wilkins, Clara Belle Wilkins, Helen Wilson, Charles Snyder, James Donley and Lucille Fobes.

Y. P. C. U. PLANS SECOND OUTING

New Castle Churches To Join Others Of District For August 3 Event

United Presbyterian young people from the four New Castle churches will participate with a host of others in the second annual outing of the Beaver Valley presbyterial, Young People's Christian Union, to be held at Edgewood, on the New Brighton-Ellwood City road, on Monday, August 3.

Young People's Christian Union societies from Aliquippa, Ambridge, Conway, Rochester, Beaver, Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Ellwood City, and the scattered rural communities in between, as well as New Castle will send delegations. A large crowd is expected to share the events.

Each society will furnish its own dinner, while coffee, cake and other refreshments will be served on the grounds.

The event, according to the plans, will draw together an enthusiastic group of young people for an evening of sports, racing events and general fun. Mushball will be the chief entertainment, the various societies challenging each other for the presbyterial supremacy.

Rudolph Hoffman, New Brighton, is general chairman of arrangements.

Bank Of England Rediscount Rate Is Given Raise

Increase Of Full Point In Rate Indicates Seriousness Of Recent Drain

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 23.—The Bank of England raised its rediscount rate today from 2½ to 3½ per cent.

The increase of a full point in the rate indicated the seriousness of the recent drain on the bank's gold reserves. Most of the gold lost by the bank has been going to France.

That country still has large amounts of money deposited in this country and subject to withdrawal. During and after the war the French public deposited enormous sums in English banks for safety. The steady withdrawal of these deposits in the past year has proved a heavy drain on the bank of England's gold reserves and more than once the pound sterling weakened on foreign exchanges as the result.

CHILD, 6, FATALLY INJURED BY AUTO

COUGH DISLODGES PIN

(International News Service)

KIRKLAND, Ill., July 23.— Four years ago Mrs. Guy Knappenbarger swallowed a black pin with a glass head. The pin became embedded in her lung. Famous physicians visited by Mrs. Knappenbarger declined to make any effort to dislodge the pin because of the danger involved. Time went on and the incident was almost forgotten until Mrs. Knappenbarger was stricken with a violent fit of coughing. The pin, very rusty, lodged in her mouth, and its removal was painless.

Mock Trial Is Held To Amuse Rentz Campers

Everyone Accused Is Found Guilty By Stern Judge; Thomas Chapel Speaker

By BOB WILKINS
Camp Scribe

The vain tears of Old Mother Nature did not hinder the days of fun at Rentz "Y" Camp during the past few days, although rain fell fast and furious. On Tuesday the regular scheduled games were played off after the teams had been chosen at chapel exercises in which Bill Thomas was in charge. His subject was one of a very modern selection, "God's Signboards" and was very effectively received. He used the trees, and natural phenomena as examples of God's signboards.

The result of the morning games ended in a triumph for the Tigers in score of 2-1 and 8-4. While the rain continued in the afternoon, a round of football was played followed by a swim.

A fire was built in the library where some of the boys preferred to warm their toes and read some of the many books which the library holds.

Beginning at dusk a mock trial went into session with the Right Hon. James Sotus in person (but not in mind) acting as Judge. Court Clerk was found in the being of Henry MacNicholas who was ably assisted by his dog "Teenie." After the jurors, Jim Deep, Jim Fox, Jack Fix, Bill Houston and foreman Frank Baldwin, (all members of a night club gang) had been sworn (to) in by the elderly clerk, the first case was brought before the court. Eight cases were tried and the battle between the prosecution and the defense waged bitterly. Prosecuting Attorney was enacted by Thomas Stevenson and the defense rested in the hands of George Muse and Bob Wilkins, both from Nut County.

Everyone accused of any misdemeanor was found guilty through the overwhelming influence of the Hon. Judge and each was charged with very heavy and appropriate penalties according to quality and quantity of the crime committed.

Everyone, after the session had adjourned, easily found his bed in the eagerness to acquire some sleep for the following day.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press

NEW YORK, July 23—Never a Broadway stroll that doesn't turn up a new human facet of the most written-about street in the world. Thank heaven the columnists and other hunters of color can never exhaust that Mazda Jungle—where new sub-dramas among the motley denizens appear suddenly to stare at you, like little green men from under stones!

Last night, near ten o'clock, I realized them for the first time, when I had seen them a hundred times before. They were the child actor hopefuls, the little, curiously old looking boys and girls who come pattering from the dozens of rehearsal halls and schools of miming which sprinkle Broadway and the side streets.

This little girl, with the overdone curls and the flouncy pink dress, tags along, a trifle wearily at the hand of a gray, small man in a fedora. He is obviously her father—and in his eyes burns the pathetic mirage of millions and mansions belonging to Jackie Coogan's parents—or Mitzi Green's.

That little boy, bare-headed with a glossy side part walks nonchalantly beside his mother—who has the unmistakable earmarks of dress and manner which set off veteran vaudeville troupers. The youngster swings a pair of tap shoes in one hand. Well, Jack Donahue is dead and there must be new hoofers for the big time. Young Hal Leroy, of the Follies" can't hold the rising field alone!

The fact that there is a surplus of child performers in Hollywood and elsewhere right now means nothing to eternal optimism.

MACHINE AGE

A half hour in one of the great broadcastink rooms at NBC is needed to really get the feel of living in the Twentieth Century. This incredibly practiced announcers, slipping before the "mike" to spiel their say with no effort at all: the immense orchestras, the yards of sound-absorbent velvet over floors, the split second-timed gongs, the hush, the acoustically perfect high ceilings: the man at the controls in a far corner with a stop watch forever poised. . .

And to what dizzy heights the studios have carried specialization! There is, for instance, Theo Alban, the man who sings only the chorus of 'Happy Days" at the start and finish of the Lucky Strike program. His name is never mentioned on the air and his contract keeps him from joining any other program. Day after day he sings and re-sings that trade mark chorus of "Happy Days"—his speciality!

"This Is the HOTTEST DAY I Have Ever Seen"
We hear that expression often these days.
Well—is it?
We hear the same about the times—"THE HARDEST TIMES I HAVE EVER SEEN".
Well—is that so?
"Hard times" come about every five to seven years and we say the "hardest times I ever saw" while they are here.
Why not say, "GOOD TIMES ARE COMING", which is true and always has been.

STROUSS-HIRSHBERG'S

Lindberghs Get Ready For Start Of Hop To China

Only Few More Instruments Remain To Be Placed On "Lindy's" Plane

EXACT DAY OF START UNKNOWN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 23.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh expect to take off next week on their long flight to China and Japan.

Colonel Lindbergh announced today he could not name the exact day of the hopoff.

"Only one or two instruments remain to be put in the ship, and he will be ready," he said.

The Lindberghs will first fly to Washington to obtain papers to clear their plane in various countries, returning here for the actual start of the flight. Their first stop will be Ottawa and from there they will fly across Canada to Point Barrow and More. Next they will hop over the Bering Sea, then down the coast to Kamchatka. From Petrapavlosk they will go to Tokio.

Lists Eight More Fairs, Drops Two

HARRISBURG, July 23— The Bureau of Statistics, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, today announced the dates and places of eight county and community fairs which have been reported to the bureau since the Department's preliminary list was published.

These are. Clearfield County Fair, Clearfield, September 8-11; McKean County Fair, Smethport, September 7-10; Pennsylvania Horticultural Show, Philadelphia, September 25-26; Susquehanna County Fair, Montrose, August 19-21; Linglestown Fair, Linglestown, August 25-28; Mercer Central Fair, Mercer September 1-4; Ligonier Valley Fair, Ligonier, September 23-26; and Fulton County Fair, McConnellsburg, September 22-25.

The date of the Green-Dreher Community Fair, Newfoundland, has been changed from September 10-12 to September 17-19. The Bucks County Fair at Quakertown will be held August 25-29.

The Cambria and Lancaster County Fairs will not be held this year, according to decisions of the respective managements.

Playing Bear To Hunt Woodchucks Minimizes Sport

HARRISBURG, July 23.—A hungry bear likes to dig a woodchuck from its dell but it isn't a sportsmanlike proceeding for a hunter," Game Commissioner officials said today.

Officials referred to the practice of "hog hunters" who make no attempt to shoot the animals but depend entirely upon digging them from their holes. In some sections groundhogs have become plentiful near cultivated fields and farmers have killed them as a protection to their crops. The majority of the digging reported to the commission, however, has been in regions where the woodchucks can do no damage.

Woodchucks when venturing forth in daylight usually are alert at the approach of a human being. Ability to kill them with a small calibre rifle is the boast of many sportsmen, some of whom use them for food.

While the law does not protect the little animals at any season of the year commission officials are anxious not to have them exterminated in sections where they can do no damage.

Patrolmen Cover 3,197,092 Miles

HARRISBURG, July 23.—During the first six months of 1931 the Pennsylvania state highway patrol covered 3,197,092 miles of state highways, the monthly report of Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, shows. In June, 605,200 miles were patrolled.

The report of the patrol's activities, as made to Commissioner Eynon by Captain W. C. Price, patrol superintendent, states that in the six months period the patrolman warned, but did not arrest, drivers of 239,860 motor vehicles. These warnings were given for some minor violation of the motor code. Similar warnings to the number of 49,240 were given last month.

Rheumatic Cripples

New Medicine Guaranteed To Free Your Muscles And Joints In Less Than A Week Or Money-Back

No matter how crippled and helpless you are with rheumatism, you can now ease that pain in a day and break rheumatism's terrible grip on your system in less than a week.

A $1 bottle of Ru-Ma is guaranteed to free your muscles and joints from all crippling stiffness, swelling and torturing pain or your money refunded.

No long wait for that awful agony to stop, for Ru-Ma eases pain the first day. Magically your muscles and joints limber up, swelling vanishes, aches and twinges disappear, away go crutches and canes.

Eckerd's and New Castle Drug has so much confidence in Ru-Ma that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee moneyback if it does not end rheumatism.

Hope To Reduce Hospital Costs

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Careful surveys of State-aided institutions are being made by the State Department of Welfare with a view to reducing unnecessary expenses, maintain good standards and keep within the available income and budget according to an announcement by John L. Hanna, State Secretary of Welfare today.

"All institutions doing free work need to pay particular attention to careful and efficient management to eliminate all unnecessary wastes during the present unemployment situation," Hanna said.

Professor Attacks Famous Historian

(International News Service)

ANN AROBOR, Mich., July 23.—The writing of George Bancroft, early American historian, are blamed by Professor Thomas R. Marshall, of Washington University, St. Louis, for errors in American history.

Marshall said Bancroft, Gibbon, Motley, Prescott, and other historians, evolved a theory of history and then fitted in the facts which suited their premise.

There is no foundation for instance, he told students at summer school here, for the popular belief that Columbus thought he had discovered India when he found San Domingo nor is the theory that the Europeans simply became restless and set out to discover a new world a true one. Americans are taught scores of similar errors each year, Marshall said, because most popular history books are written for their literary and patriotic value rather than historical fact.

TOY PISTOL BANDIT

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich. July 23—A holdup with a toy pistol that netted him twenty cents may result in a 3 to 15 year jail sentence for a 19 year old petty bandit, Theodore Wrights, negro. Otto Nylund complained to police that he had been held up at the point of a gun as he was taking his car out of the garage. A police radio cruiser arrested Wright. The youth confessed and showed them the "firearm" he carried. The loot was only 20 cents he said.

Rules Governing Rust Quarantine Undergo Revision

HARRISBURG, July 23.—The United States Department of Agriculture has announced a revision of the Federal black stem rust quarantine, effective August 1, which affects commercial growers of certain ornamental plants in Pennsylvania. The present quarantine, in effect since May 1, 1919, prohibited the shipment of a number of ornamental plants into thirteen of the important grain producing states which have been engaged in barberry eradication for the protection of grain against black stem rust infections.

The new quarantine states: "Nurseries which grow only immune species of 'Berberis' and 'Mahonia' will be supplied with Federal permits for the shipment of these immune species into and between the thirteen protected states.

"The Japanese barberry, an immune species planted in large numbers throughout the United States, together with its horticultural varieties may be shipped into and between the protected states without permit or other requirement.

"No restrictions are placed by these regulations on the interstate movement of 'Berberis' or 'Mahonia' between the thirty-five eastern, southern and western states in which barberry eradication is not being carried on."

Jail Population Shows Increases

HARRISBURG, July 23—The population of county jails in May 1931 had increased 30 per cent over the population of these county institutions in the same month of 1929, according to a report of the bureau of restoration made public today by John L. Hanna, State Secretary of Welfare.

The population was 6100 on the last day of May 1929 as compared with 8821 on the last day of May 1931 indicating an increase of 2721.

The report further indicates that during the month of June there there were more prisoners released from the county prisons than were admitted. The figures showed that 9802 persons were admitted and 9,974 were released.

When Toes Itch

Underneath and Between

WATCH OUT

Your toes and feet may be infected with that vegetable parasite called Tinea Tricophyton—if besides itching, the skin is cracked and blistered, you may be pretty sure they are.

This new disease is called Athlete's Foot because this germ flourishes in the dressing and bath rooms of clubs and gymnasiums, schools and colleges, and even in hotel and home bath rooms.

Over ten million people are infected, according to medical authorities—get rid of it before it spreads to the bottom and sides of foot and brings more itching and distress.

With one bottle of Emerald Oil you can end all the misery, itching and distress and have sound, healthy feet again in 2 weeks or money back—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and pharmacists everywhere in America dispense it.

Plan Canning Demonstration Here Saturday

State College Extension Specialist Is Being Brought Here By Garden Club

CANS DISTRIBUTED TO WORTHY TODAY

In connection with the garden project which has been under way in the city since the first of May, under the auspices of the Garden Club and he various charitable organizations, a canning project will be held in the Ben Franklin junior high school Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

The demonstration has been arranged by the Garden Club, which has been instrumental in securing Miss Eleanor Drury, extension specialist of State College, who will be in charge.

At this time Miss Drury will show how to can beans, kale and other vegetables.

The public is invited to attend this demonstration, although it was arranged primarily for the purpose of showing those engaged in the garden project how to can their surplus vegetables for winter use.

Later in the season Miss Drury will return and give a demonstration in drying fruits and vegetables for winter use.

The jars and glasses which were secured Tuesday at the donation day held under the auspices of the Garden Club, in co-operation with the Associated Charities and Red Cross, are being distributed today.

There were over 1,500 jars and glasses secured, Mrs. S. D. Pearson stated this morning, and new jar lids and rubbers are being furnished with each jar, through the Garden Club. The jars are being given out only to those who were enrolled in the garden project, but there has been a big demand for them and the room on East street used as a distributing point was well crowded all morning with people seeking jars.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shaffer of Hillcrest avenue are spending a few days in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conner of Chestnut street have returned from a trip to St. Louis.

Hawks Refuels His Plane In Florida Leaves For Havana

Captain Frank Hawks Hopes To Break Record Made By James Goodwin Hall

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., July 23.—Speeding from New York toward Havana in record time on an attempt to make a round trip in a single day, Captain Frank M. Hawks took off for the Cuban capital from Pan-American airport here today at 9:51 a. m.

Hawks landed here at 9:38, having flown from New York in six hours and 38 minutes. He refueled and promptly took to the air again.

The American speed ace made the unusually good flying time in the face of stiff headwinds all the way down the coast. He also made a refueling stop at Wilmington, N. C.

He expected to reach Havana in an hour and 20 minutes and thus lower the New York-Havana record of eight hours, 35 minutes made last week by James Goodwin Hall, New York stock broker.

Girls Are Making Merry At "Y" Camp

Fifty Girls At Camp East Brook Are Having Great Time This Week

Another beautiful day at Camp East Brook, the Y. W. C. A. camp for girls, and each of the nearly 50 young Misses are in great spirits—for their three days of camping has been one interesting experience after another.

Following an elaborate program of novel parties, swimming, handcraft classes, archery, tennis, making wooden toys, german silver and carving soap, the girls have become enthusiastic with their camp life.

Twelve of the girls are of the grade school age. The rest are from junior high schools.

Highspots of Wednesday were a hike and party. The hike was taken in the Lakewood vicinity, with a picnic dinner on a pretty knoll. Then there was boating on the lake, followed by a dip in Camp East Brook's own cement pool on the camp grounds.

Then the party—a "family party". The girls divided into family groups. Each group put on a stunt, and the program was a hectic one. Drawing the most laughs were the boating family, with a bench in the dining hall as the "boat," and an old grandpa and grandma and their family.

H. R. Kray Is Held On Serious Charge

Answering a call to the Mahoning avenue district about 12:45 o'clock this morning to the effect that there was a man under the influence of liquor driving a car in a reckless manner Officers Kennedy and Samuels found H. R. Kray, who resides east of the city, attempting to get his car started with the assistance of others.

The indications being that he was under the influence of liquor, he was placed under arrest and placed in the police car. While the officers were completing their investigation, Kray jumped out of the police car and started to run away. Officer Kennedy gave chase and fired a shot over the head of the fleeing man. He fell and was recaptured uninjured.

On being taken to the police station, Kray admitted to having had some beer and on examination, it was found that he was under the influence of liquor. He was this morning taken before Alderman J. Lee Cooper, where he was charged by Chief of Police C. C. Horner with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He will be given a hearing later.

Pitt Student Held On Serious Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—Harold Quese, 24, University of Pittsburgh student, was held for court on a serious charge today following the arrest of Anna Moore, 17, of 2121 New York avenue, Washington, D. C.

Police said Anna was a runaway and had been staying at a local hotel without funds.

She told Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in morals court that she met Quese in a downtown theater and he advised her to go to the hotel where he joined her later.

Anna said she only had $3 and was forced to spend that to buy Quese's dinner. Quese's bail was set at $1,000.

City Being Sued By M. J. Scanlon

Seeks To Recover Money Alleged Due Him From Liberty Street Sewer

Action in assumpsit against the city of New Castle has been filed by M. J. Scanlon of the seventh ward, who claims an additional sum of money is owed him on the South Liberty street district sewer, which was constructed in 1928.

According to City Engineer Miller, Scanlon had the contract for the construction of the sewer, which services several streets in the low section of the seventh ward. It was necessary to construct an ejector to carry the sewage away because the district is below the level of the surrounding land.

Scanlon claims that more money is due him than the contract price because of additional work done by him, not in the contract.

Session Of Court Monday Morning

SEVEN-POWER PARLEY RESULTS IN PROGRAM FOR AID TO GERMANY

of the various nations concerned, contained four recommendations. While they evaded the fundamental issues behind the collapse of German credit, they provide for immediate steps which for the present at least will obliterate the threat of bankruptcy which as been overhanging the Reich for weeks.

Leaders Satisfied.

While the press as a whole expressed disappointment over the results of the conference, feeling the measures adopted hardly justified the calling of an international conference, American and British leaders were satisfied over the outcome.

In particular, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, who hastily summoned the conference last week when he perceived the tide of events in Germany was rushing that nation toward chaos, was pleased with the outcome.

"I am highly satisfied," the premier said. "Agreemnt of any sort between seven powers is most difficult to obtain, and this step will carry great importance."

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation, said he was "thoroughly satisfied." Chancellor Heinrich Bruening of Germany told the press he was unable to make any comment.

Follows Hoover's Suggestion

In general, the report of the finance ministers' committee followed the line taken by President Hoover in his summary of suggestions cabled to London last Friday and which Secretary Stimson later revealed was the joint product of British and American thought.

The chief recommendation that the recent heavy withdrawals of credit from Germany were unjustified. By unanimous vote, the conference adopted the following declaration:

"Recent excessive withdrawals of capital from Germany created an acute financial crisis. The withdrawals were caused by lack of confidence which was unjustified by the economic and budgetary situation."

The conference's achievements were summarized in a formal declaration, which read as follows:

Conference's Achievement.

"In order to insure maintenance of the financial stability of Germany, which is essential to the interest of the whole world, the governments represented at the conference are ready to cooperate so far as lies in their power to restore confidence.

"The governments are ready to recommend for consideration of the financial institutions of their respective countries the following proposals relieving the immediate situation:

1—That the central bank credit of $100,000,000 recently granted to the Reichsbank under the auspices of the Bank of International Settlements be renewed at its maturity for three months.

2—That concerted measures be taken by the financial institutions of the different countries with a view to maintaining the volume of credits they already have extended to Germany.

3—The conference recommends that the Bank for International Settlements should be invited to set up without delay a committee of representatives nominated by the governors of the central banks interested to enquire into the immediate further credit needs of Germany and to study the possibilities of converting a portion of short-term credits into long-term credits.

4—The conference noted with interest the communication from Chancellor Bruening relative to a joint guarantee recently placed by German industry at the disposal of the Gold Discounts bank. The conference is of the opinion that a guarantee of this description should make it possible to provide a sound basis for resumption of normal operation of international credit.

Basis of Permanent Action.

"The conference considers that if these measures are carried through they will form the basis for more permanent action to follow."

The declaration was signed by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald of Britain as "president of the conference".

Unofficially, members of the conference expressed the hope that the agreement would tide over the immediate crisis, but the hint of a further conference, probably in October, raised the spectres of war debts and reparations, which are unanimously regarded as the "more fundamental" problems which must be tackled before the situation is really cleared up.

Authoritative opinion in London tends to the belief that a permanent soultion of the problem is impossible without consideration of debts and reparations. Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, made a brief attempt to lay the groundwork for debt revision at the present conference, but he was rebuffed by Secretary Stimson.

Following adoption of the declaration, Premier Pierre Laval of France thanked Premier MacDonald for his skilful handling of the ocnference, and congratulated the delegates as a whole for the cordiality of the discussions which he said "coupled frankness and clearness."

Alluding to the participation of Secretary Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, which was interpreted in Europe as heralding the end of America's isolation from European problems, Laval declared:

"They united the power of the ideal with a practical turn of mind which contributed largely to the success of the negotiations. I hope that the Franco-German conversations started in Paris will be but a prelude to further conversations of a like sort."

Secretary Stimson contributed to the love feast with high tribute to Premier MacDonald. He stressed his appreciation of the significance of the Franco-German conversations in Paris, and said he was confident those conversations and the present conference would help to restore confidence throughout the world.

Chancellor Bruening thanked Premier MacDonald for his sympathy regarding the needs of Germany and Europe and expressed his gratitude to the American delegates for their help. He stressed the importance of continued Franco-German cooperation and urged frequent meetings of statesmen to discuss the general economic and political situation. In contrast to these gracious messages of parting, delivered just before the delegates gathered en masse on steps of the foreign office to pose for a smiling group photograph, a member of the German delegation confided to International News Service the viewpoint of his country.

"We are gratified that an intermediary solution was found" he said "but disappointed that further help was withheld. We will get along for a few months, looking forward to another conference."

The German and French delegates met at the German embassy for luncheon, the discussions being continued in an informal way. All the delegates were scheduled to visit Buckingham palace later in the afternoon for a garden party staged by King George and Queen Mary.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Children Should Share In Family Self Denial When Finances Are Low

Dr. Myers Advises Unemployed Dad To Work Out A Program And Take Over Some Household Tasks

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Unemployment brings new parent problems. The expenditures for necessities may have to be cut down and luxuries partly or entirely denied. The mother must make added self-sacrifices and exert increasing effort to cause the food supply to last.

The mental suffering is, of course, the greatest. With ample supplies for today, for next week, next month, there is no great certainty about the future. Children who had been accustomed to certain sums of money to spend for luxuries and good times go on clamoring for them when they are not available, or are available only at great cost to others. Unfortunately many parents keep from their children old enough to understand, the facts about their financial limitations. For the good of all, especially for the children, they should be taken into the family's confidence concerning such matters. Then they will have a motive to help share in the parents' burdens. Patient self-denial of all of the members, or a family together, so long as the breaking point is not reached, enriches the character of all.

Out of work, longing for something to do, Dad grows restless, perhaps impatient and irritable. Sitting around the house so much, he and mother and the children are disposed to get on one another's nerves.

Now if dad uses his head he will try to make the most of it. Accordingly, he will work out a program. Perhaps he will take over one or several of the household duties, relieving mother, so that she may have more leisure and relaxation. Maybe he will decide to wash the dishes regularly, or regularly sweep the house; and if her health is not good he will do most of the housework.

To the younger children he will read a great deal. With them and the older ones he and mother will play games. Those over five can enjoy dominoes and flinch, and those still older checkers and some form of playing card games. Let there be a time in the program of the evening when mother and father and the children will play games together.

Dad will set aside certain hours of the day for his own reading. He will find it enjoyable to go to the public library to read newspapers and magazines there. Mother will find a similar program for reading. They need not spend money for books. They can borrow books from the nearest library. Let dad read aloud to mother while she irons and mends, and discuss the news of the day recorded in the newspapers. It will do dad and mother a heap of good to read over together and with the children the comic strips, and laugh over them. Anything to get their minds off their worries will be worthwhile.

By all means, dad should work out a plan for mother's getting out a few times a week, when he will stay home and take care of things; and a few times when they can go out together.

It will cost the family nothing to go to church. Never a time when religious services prove so comforting as in times of worries and distress. I have a notion that there will come out of this depression a renewed interest in things spiritual.

"When other helpers fail and comforts flee,
Oh, Thou who changeth not, abide with me."

Motor Vehicle Code Changes

Digest of the amendments to the motor vehicle code as prepared by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, with which the New Castle Motor club is affiliated, continued from Wednesday, follow:

SECTION 210—was amended making it unlawful to purchase or sell a certificate of title or certificate of junk. It was also amended giving peace officers or department representatives the authority to confiscate such certificates of title when unlawfully possessed or used. This amendment is the outgrowth of certain junk dealers selling certificates of title to persons who subsequently go out and steal a motor vehicle and change the certificate of title accordingly.

This amendment is now in effect, as it became effective upon approval of the Act by the Governor.

SECTION 402—was amended that trailers would be registered according to their tare weight; that is, the gross weight of the trailer or semi-trailer exclusive of the load to be transported. Heretofore, they were registered according to the gross weight of the chassis and body.

This amendment becomes effective August 1, 1931.

This section was also amended that in the case of the transfer of ownership of a used motor vehicle the application for registration for the year 1933 and thereafter will have to show the inspection and approval of such vehicle and its equipment by a duly authorized official inspection station.

SECTION 409-B—was amended allowing non-resident owners of commercial motor vehicles transporting property for compensation the right to operate upon the highways of this Commonwealth for the same period that residents of this Commonwealth are extended within the state of the non-resident owner. Heretofore, such non-resident owners were only allowed thirty days.

This amendment is now in effect, etc.

Hawk Drops Rattler On Workmen's Heads

PASADENA, Calif., July 23.—It's bad enough to watch a threatening rattlesnake squirm about on the ground, but it's worse to have one dropped on your head.

This was the experience of a group of city workmen who were making a fire trial on a mountain-side near Charlton Flats.

A large hawk flew over the workmen, carrying a four-foot rattler, but the squirming reptile proved too much for the bird, which released its hold, dropping the snake on the workers.

Six Non-Union Miners Injured; Garage Blasted

Explosion At Mine Garage Near Pittsburgh Injures Six—One Seriously

VIOLENCE HAS BEEN RENEWED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—Six non-union miners were blown from their bunks today in a renewal of mine strike violence when a bomb explosion ripped down part of a concrete garage near the Wildwood mine of the Butler Consolidated Coal Company.

All six were hurt, one man was reported seriously injured; first reports said he had been rushed to a hospital. The other five were injured by falling debris when the garage walls crumpled inward like papier mache.

Interior of the structure was a shambles immediately after the blast let go.

One man was killed and many injured near the Wildwood mine a month ago when deputy sheriffs opened fire on rioting strikers.

Those injured in today's explosion were Mike Vidovich, 52; John Sinoch, 40; Vico Soudich, 39; Mike Yekich, 38; Valko Armech, 38, and Marco Abramovich, 39, owner of the bunkhouse.

Sinoch, the most seriously hurt, suffered severe lacerations of arms and body. He will recover.

That none of the men was killed was believed due to the unseasonably cool weather which caused the miners to wrap themselves in extra blankets. The blankets broke the force of the fall of debris.

Seek To Restock Streams With Bass

Mercer Rod And Gun Club To Petition Federal Government For Fish

MERCER, July 23.—Officials of the Mercer Road and Gun club will make a strenuous effort to secure bass from the federal government fisheries this year for re-stocking local streams.

Bass fishing is anything but good this season is the complaint of many anglers who say that only in the evening is their hope of results.

A car load shipment of bass fingerlings have been promised the local club for several years. Under the direction of the club officials local trout streams have been re-stocked this summer. It is reported that 2,500 trout of the Brook-trout and Brown-trout varities have been dumped in runs designated by the state.

Commissioner Buller of the state commission recently visited Mercer county and designated streams into which fish should be dumped.

TO SENTENCE MAN

Tony Kovacovich will be here for sentence August 3rd is the expectation of his attorneys. Kovacovich found guilty of sedition in 1924 by a Mercer county court and jury has never been sentenced and has been out on bail of $2000 since that time pending disposition of his case.

He was indicted along with others on this charge. His case and that of Andy Kovacovich, now deceased, were the first sedition cases ever tried in Mercer county.

Kovacovich is employed in Cleveland and has been since his trial here when he lived in Farrell. He is said to have a good position in a Cleveland factory and has been naturalized since his trial here.

His attorneys recently petitioned the court asking that his bail be returned and he be held on his own reconizance. At that time it was arranged for him to be in court for disposition of his case.

Following the refusal of the court to grant him a new trial he was brought into court for sentence when his attorneys raised the legal question on his sentencing that has since been pending.

The Hamilton avenue fill in Farrell is being pushed to a completion as fast as dirt can be hauled and dumped for the 500 foot stretch that is 40 feet wide at the top and has an average depth of 20 feet.

Commander Kerr To Meet National Commander Babcock

Will Attend Conference With D. A. V. Commanders Of Western Pennsylvania

Robert Kerr, commander of Fred L. Rentz post, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will on Friday be in Pittsburgh along with other commanders of D. A. Request $15,000 For Canal Survey

Pittsburgh City Council Gets Request For Sum For Lake Erie-Pittsburgh Canal

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—City Solicitor C. A. Waldschmidt today studied a request made to city council here for an appropriation of $15,000 for an economic survey along the proposed Lake Erie-Pittsburgh canal route. A. W. Dann, member of the Lake Erie canal board, made the request. Allegheny county will be asked to make a similar appropriation, Dann said.

Council directed the city solicitor to prepare an opinion on the legality of such an appropriation and at the same time asked Controller J. P. Kerr to ascertain if there were funds now available that might be applied for such an appropriation.

Part of the money, Dann said, would be used to pay an engineer and his assistants in conducting the survey.

12 WAYS You Can PROVE.. ALLSTATE is America's Greatest Tire Value!

When we put ALLSTATE tires on the market, it was with the thought that they would be worthy of the Sears name and the Sears reputation. So we went to the manufacturer whose record was without a single blemish—whose products were accepted everywhere as the standard of rubber quality.

Thus the greatest tire manufacturing organization, trained and experienced in the production of America's finest tires, and the world's greatest distributing organization, dealing with over 12 million families, joined in making and selling ALLSTATE tires. Unknown six years ago—unnamed as well—ALLSTATE'S quality has brought this tire to leadership in sales direct to users. Never, in the history of the tire industry, has there been a success to match ALLSTATE'S. Today individual tire buyers, in selecting tires, pick ALLSTATE over all other brands.

AND YOU SAVE 25%

ALLSTATE is a first quality tire. First quality, we said, and we mean that. We are willing to let you judge by quality standards alone whether ALLSTATE tires are the tires for you to buy.

ALLSTATE is so good, so well made, so sturdily built, that we are proud of its construction. There are, as all tire engineers know, 12 real factors of quality in every tire—not three, not six, not nine, but twelve. So that you may know them, we are listing them here.

COMPARE These PRICES

Automobile manufacturers do not use the Second Line Tires of National Manufacturers as original equipment. Why should you take the risk when you can save money by buying genuine, FIRST QUALITY ALLSTATE TIRES, backed by a responsible guarantee and with a saving of 25%? Even if the tire size for your car is not listed, we have it—and we will save you up to 25%.

Hoyt Robber Escapes From State Prison

Captured After Stirring Chase By Members Of New Castle Police

Memories of the robberies at the homes of Alex. Crawford Hoyt and Miss May Hoyt on January 28, 1928, were recalled yesterday afternoon at the police station, when the message came over the police teletype telling of the escape earlier in the day from Rockview penitentiary of Richard Cowan, aged 28, who perpetrated the robberies here and whose apprehension here cleared up a roobery at Hartford, Conn.

When last seen following his escape he was headed toward State College, Pa. He is five feet 11 inches in height, weighs 165 pounds, and has blue eyes and blonde hair. He is a native of Nebraska and was sentenced from Lawrence county on charges of perjury and robbery in June 1928, for not less than eight years or more than 16 years. He had served approximately three years of his sentence when he escaped. The police authorities here, as well as throughout the state, are on the lookout for him. He is known as a desperate and experienced criminal and trouble may be experienced in recapturing him.

It will be remembered that Officers Carl Lockard and Clarence Samuels trailed Cowan on foot from the Hoyt home to the vicinity of Harbor Bridge from three a. m. to 6:20 a. m. on the morning of the robbery. They called for assistance then and were joined shortly by Officers John Moore, George Kennedy and U. G. Harper and Frank and A. C. Hoyt in the Hoyt car. Officers Lockard, Samuels and Moore and A. C. Hoyt continued on to Edenburg, where they effected the capture of Cowan at the Edenburg street car station. A paper thrown away at the station and picked up by Officer Lockard resulted in the clearing up of the Hartford robbery. Most of the stolen articles from the Hoyt home were recovered with the exception of a fine watch.

The New Castle Produce Company has secured a lease on the building and adjoining siding and will establish a wholesale produce and fruit yard.

Two Men Injured On Youngstown Road

As Basile Idomu, George Popa and a small boy from Mt. Union were returning to their home in Mt. Union Wednesday evening from some point in Ohio, at a point on the Youngstown road, near the old Blue Goose Inn, the car left the road, for some unknown reason and overturned at the side.

The two men were injured, Idomu about the eyes and head and Popa about the chest. Bad lacerations and bruises were suffered.

They, with the little boy, who could not tell his name, were taken to the New Castle hospital where their injuries were dressed and they are resting easy in the hospital today, according to reports from there.

Children's Home Has Reception Day

Public Of New Castle Inspects Margaret Henry Home Wednesday And Visits Children

All Nature smiled Wednesday and there was a reflection of the mood of nature in the bright little faces of the fifty-five children at the Margaret Henry Home as they arose and prepared for the annual day of reception.

From 10 o'clock in the morning and throughout the day there were callers from the city as well as from a distance and among the visitors were a number of girls who were raised in the Home and have since married and made homes for themselves, but on this annual Home coming day they do not forget, and back they come to look the old place over and to be greeted by Miss Margaret Henry, who has been the matron of this institution since its beginning twenty eight years ago.

Miss Henry is assisted in her work by Mrs. Madge Place and Mrs. Lida Green, both most competent efficient workers. To look after fifty-five children, oversee their play, their schooling, their dressing and their health is no small task, but with a word of love for each little one the women go through the day.

The vacation time is a happy one for the children at the home as they have an immense play yard, with swings, sand pile, slides, merry go rounds and all that goes to make a child happy; the grounds are beautiful and overlook the city and the air on the hill is fresh and exhilirating.

The home was beautifully decorated throughout the rooms Wednesday with bouquets of beautiful flowers, which were brought by the women from the city; the bed rooms for the girls, as well as the whole house, was spotlessly clean and the rows of beds were made up with summer quilts of blue and white, embroidered by the girls, while in the boys' dormitory the beds were covered with embroidered red and white quilts, and here and there about the bedrooms were placed the toys of the children and on the bed might be a doll or a teddy-bear, the companions of their sleeping hours.

The hospital is in a building nearby the Home, on the same grounds and here are two large rooms fixed up for emergencies, which are bound to happen in so large a family. There are ten beds in the hospital rooms and a cabinet, containing all kinds of remedies, adorns the hall.

During the afternoon the group of children gathered on the play grounds and happily sang a number of songs for the visitors, led by Mrs. Green.

Marcus Feuchtwanger, president of the board of directors, seemed to be the center of attraction for the kiddies for as soon as he appeared on the lawn they surrounded him and he would have needed about fifty hands if he could have taken the hand of each little one that wanted to greet him.

After they had sung a couple of songs, Mr. Feuchtwanger asked Fred L. Fentz, who was a caller, if he would not speak to the children, and in a few well chosen words Mr. Rentz addressed the youngsters.

A canopy had been erected on the lawn and here under one of the beautiful trees, which are so plentiful on the property, Letitia Stanciu and Lillian Homich, girls of the Home, served lemonade and cookies. Those on the reception committee, who conducted the visitors through the Home and hospital during the day were:

Mrs. Alex Crawford Hoyt, chairman, Mrs. Charles Reed, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Dickey, Mrs. Samuel Klafter, Mrs. S. D. Pearson, Mrs. Robert Long, Mrs. Fred L. Rentz, Mrs. Quincy McBride, Mrs. P. J. Flaherty, Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. R. J. Tully, Mrs. David Jameson, Mrs. R. A. Wallace, Mrs. R. H. ALL-EXPENSE TOURS

to Saguenay River in Old French-Canada

Sailings June to September

THE 9-day tour starts from Cleveland, although ships may be boarded at any stopping point, and takes you down the great St. Lawrence River that flows through picturesque, historic French-Canada. First you visit Niagara Falls and then steam across the Lake to Toronto, Queen City of Canada. Leaving Toronto you sail among the jewelled Thousand Islands and shoot in perfect safety the series of eight roaring rapids to Montreal. Here you sightsee for a day with hotel accommodation.

On to Quebec by night, down the best-lighted waterway in the world. Dawn finds you docked beneath the mist-wreathed ramparts of this fortress city. You spend a day on the return trip exploring its quaint, winding streets and promenading its famous Dufferin Terrace, which overlooks from on high the beautiful harbour. You visit the celebrated Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré. Miraculous cures are reported here and pilgrims journey from the four corners of the earth to worship at this hallowed spot.

Away down the widening reaches of the St. Lawrence to Murray Bay and peaceful Tadoussac. This little village, dreaming beneath its mountain background, is the last port of call before the awe-inspiring sail up the mysterious Saguenay River, guarded by its stupendous capes. A cruise into an old world that lies close at hand. See it before this corner of natural grandeur becomes part of all that is modern. Accommodation, both ship and hotel, is on the most luxurious scale.

Remember, every expense on this enjoyable cruise has been foreseen and included in the figure quoted above, as well as stop-overs at important hotels en route. A courteous escort relieves you of every travel worry.

The New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sirs:—

It is my privilege to extend to you the appreciation and thanks of the members of the Epworth church for all your many courtesies extended to us during our dedication week.

The News has been more than generous with publicity during our building program and we are truly grateful.

Please accept my personal thanks, also.

Phalanx Frat At Camp Fred Rentz

A trip to Camp Fred L. Rentz, where they opposed the older boys of camp in mushball and volley ball and a night treat on the banks of the Slippery Rock creek, was last night's program of the Phalanx fraternity of the "Y."

The 15 inning mushball tilt ended 25-24 in favor of the Phalanx. The fraternity also took two volley ball victories.

Next Wednesday the fraternity plans to visit the camp grounds again.

Beaver Farmer Is Attacked By Bull

MONACA, Pa., July 23—Frank Kalinoske, 66, Brodhead road farmer is in the Rochester hospital recovering from injuries received when gored by an angry bull. Kalinoske had entered where the bull was grazing to take it to the barn, when the animal attacked him. Several ribs were fractured and the man's legs were torn by the bull's horns. The bull, it is reported, had shown vicious tendencies.

New Road Thrown Open To Public

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 23.—Freeport road, between Springdale and West New Kensington, which has been under construction since last fall, is now open to the public and is expected to be finished in its entirety within the next 30 days. Twenty of the 30 foot in width road is now being used and the remainder will be ready for use soon. All concrete has been laid.

YOUNG WOMAN AWAITS EXECUTION

Mrs. Schultz — Warden Thomas

Mrs. Lowther — Mrs. Thomas

Mrs. Julia Maude Lowther, 23, convicted in Ashtabula county, Ohio, of murder, and sentenced to die in the electric chair at Columbus on October 2, has been lodged in a special cell at the Columbus city jail as the state penitentiary death house has no place for women. This photo shows the young woman calmly entering the jail (on the next to the last journey of her life). She is at front, left, with Mrs. Preston E. Thomas, the warden's wife, matron of the penitentiary, at her side. In the rear are Mrs. William Schultz, assistant matron, and Warden Thomas of the penitentiary. Mrs. Lowther was convicted of the murder, last year, of the wife of Tilby Smith, who is in the penitentiary, to die August 17.

GARDNER NEWS

Mrs. J. G. Comstock of East New Castle spent Monday with friends at Gardner.

Mrs. Ellis Reno and her little grandson, Donald Truby, spent a recent evening with old friends at Gardner, returning to their home on Maryland avenue that night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkwood, their daughter, Mrs. Wimer, and her sons, Jack and Robert, motored to Aliquippa last Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Kirkwood and family.

Thirty-five of the Rachel Rebecca lodge of New Castle are being entertained at supper this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Kelso of the Youngstown road. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kelso and son Edward of Youngstown were the guests of their parents last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Orr, all of the Ellwood road, went to the Shriners' convention at Cleveland and were greatly pleased with the meetings.

Mrs. Floyd McKee of New Castle was a guest on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Miller of the Covert road.

Mrs. Mary Wienand of Pittsburgh spent the week-end at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller of the Wilmington road.

Mrs. H. H. Robison of Gardner came home on Monday after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Phillips, of New Castle, who was ill but is now recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Frazier, Ethel Pearl and Wanda, of Gardner, are enjoying a vacation at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robison, of Portersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Achammer and A. W. Brueckner of Millvale came to Gardner last Saturday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester Shimp. Miss Katheryn Achammer spent a week with her friends at Gardner, but went home with her parents.

S. L. Cheeseman of Slippery Rock came to Gardner on Saturday and Mrs. Cheeseman went home with him after spending a vacation with relatives at Gardner.

David Walker Sr. of Gardner came home on Saturday after some time spent with some of his family at Wayne Stop. Charles Walker Jr. is suffering with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaffer and Mr. and Mrs. Russell King of New Castle were guests last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Shaffer of Gardner.

L. A. Robison of Gardner is painting the house on the Robison homestead near Portersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Phillips of the Butler road, a bride and groom of recent date, have returned from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weingartner, their daughter, Mrs. Tanner, and child, and James Junior spent Sunday at Butler with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shakespeare, returning to their home on the Butler road that night.

At the present time there are 103 inmates at the county home. The blackberry season started on Monday, when 16 quarts were gathered and on Tuesday 24 quarts. Mrs. Snyder is canning all that are not needed for present use. There is promise of a large crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Clark and family of the Butler road went with a party of friends from Farrell and Burghill last Sunday and all went to Geneva-on-the-Lake.

Miss Helen Bruckner of Canton, O., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R .P. Abbott of the Covert road.

Miss Myrtle Weatherby and Clyde Sell of Portersville, were married last Thursday evening at Petersburg, O., at eight o'clock. They were attended by Norma Weatherby and Melvin Livingstone, also of Portersville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen of the Youngstown road entertained the following guests last Tuesday: John Round, Mrs. Daisy Reisinger, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Getts, all of Niles, O., and Mrs. Hannah Williams of Youngstown and Mrs. Weatherby of Portersville.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. King of Shenango Stop entertained the family of Mr. King's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Huch, and son Howard and daughter Ruth last Sunday. They returned to their home at Mars Sunday night. Mrs. Mary King is still at the home of her son.

Lawrence Trushel, who makes his home with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Byler, of the Youngstown road, was honored by a birthday surprise party last Sunday. Two other daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Foster and Mary Elizabeth and Dollie, and Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Cox and sons William and Edward, all of Mahoningtown, went to the Byler home to spend the day. There was a fine menu, with a large birthday cake centering the table. This was a happy family gathering and the heart of the honor guest was cheered by this token of loving esteem on the part of his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McCamey, their children, William, Nial and Myrna Jane, and Miss Cecil McCamey, came to Gardner on Saturday and were entertained at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Robb. These guests were all from Grove City.

What? A picnic. Where? At Gardner. When? Probably late in August. The committee is already searching for new and original ideas to make this community picnic a genuine success, so watch this column for further information later.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holzhouser of the Youngstown road and twin daughters, Betty and Fern, called at the Robb home at Gardner Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Robison of the Youngstown road had the following guests last Sunday: Mrs. Fannie Solars, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Claypool, Mr. and Mrs. John Shell and son Donald, all from New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay and Virginia, Dorothy, Marian, Robert, Louise and Mildred, of Gardner visited their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Oliver and family, at Portersville last Thursday evening. Mr Hay is enjoying a vacation this week from his work of carrying mail in New Castle.

Rev. H. G. Woodrow of the Wilmington road will teach the adult class at Gardner Sunday school next Sunday and preach at 11 o'clock. It seems a pity that there is no one to come to Gardner and teach a daily vacation Bible school. There are 32 bright, attractive children who could attend.

Panel Increased For Murder Trial

WARREN, Pa., July 23—In anticipation of the first murder trial in Warren county for years, 72 names have been drawn for jury service at the September term of court instead of 52 as is usually the case. It is expected that John Charniskey will be brought to trial for the murder of his wife, found clubbed to death in their home in Pittsfield township June 15.

Treasury experts count bills at the rate of 40,000 new notes a day and 25,000 old ones.

Political "Boss" Sentenced To Pen

WARREN, O., July 23—Jas. Jennings, alleged political "boss" of Niles' Third ward, was sentenced to from 1 to 10 years in the Ohio penitentiary by Judge William M. Carter late today after the court overruled a plea for a new trial. He was convicted of paying bribes to Niles police to protect gambling interests.

STATE POLICE NAB ACCUSED SLAYER

EBENSBURG, Pa., July 23.—Alfred Lechine 38, who had been hunted by state police since Sunday, when he is charged with having murdered Everett Hadden, 38, of Cherry Tree, was captured today in the woods near Carrolltown. Lechine told officers he had lived on berries and herbs in the woods since his escape after striking Hadden over the head with a club during a quarrel.

Just as there seemed to be a greater interest in the limitation of armaments the announcement is made that the hat-pin is coming into fashion again.—The Lowell Evening Leader.

Feet Subject To Many Troubles, Doctor Declares

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

There are certain parts of the body that break down simply from overwork, and of these the feet are the best examples. Disease of the foot occurs, but most foot troubles are the result of two things—the excessive strain of carrying the weight of the body, and shoes.

The amount of disability caused by foot trouble is incalculable. It has been estimated that 25 per cent of the population has something the matter with their feet part of the time, and 5 per cent all of the time, and in 1 per cent it is sufficiently serious to be crippling.

Another feature of the situation that makes for difficulty is that to rest the feet you have to rest the entire body. If there is something the matter with your hand or arm you can put it in a sling and go about your business. You can rest your stomach by not eating for a time and still manage to get about and do the absolutely necessary things. But if you rest your feet, you are laid up completely. And rest is one of the best remedies we have for anything.

The feet are subject to many troubles—weakening or breaking down of the ankles, corns, callosities, bunions, focal infection of the joints or bursae. Actual deformities, such as club foot, are rarer.

Many of these troubles arise from wearing the wrong kind of shoes and stockings. Stockings should be fitted as carefully as shoes. If they are too short they have a tendency to produce ingrowing toe nails. Holes and seams as well as wrinkling cause spots of irritation. Anyone with tender feet or anyone subject to foot troubles should have right and left stockins or socks. Stockings should be changed daily.

Shoes, of all articles of clothing, should be the most exactly fitted and carefully selected. Few people have feet that are mates. One foot is usually larger than the other. And the general shape of each foot, the tendency to corns and bunions, is different in one foot from the other.

Yet people with foot trouble continue to buy two shoes of the same size. A shoe a little too large will cause trouble just as will a shoe that is a little too small.

The ideal shoe for a normal foot, best designed to keep it normal ,is broad in toe, snug in the instep and it should grip the heel and fit the heel very exactly. It should have a straight inner border. It should be the proper length, which has been defined as "when the great toe joint rests in the seat of the shoe, which is that part of the shank provided for the ball of the foot."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Woman Undertaker Gets State License

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 23.—Fayette county's first woman undertaker was granted a license recently by the state board of undertakers.

Mrs. Ruth Wade Jones, Perryopolis, near here, became Fayette county's first woman mortician.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of embalming and dermasurgery of the Wirshams college, Chicago.

PICNIC EVENT

Last Tuesday despite the rain the two clubs of boys and girls of this church held a picnic at Yellow Creek Park. They spent the day happily, playing games, and swimming.

Much credit must be given for the success of the day to Mrs. L. Gilmore, and Mrs. D. Murphy for their kind cooperation. They not only brought with them plenty to eat, but prepared and served the meal. Mrs. Gilmore at the present is teaching the sewing class of the girls' club, and Mrs. Murphy is teaching a class of boys and girls in the Sunday school.

Rev. and Mrs. Ruggiero came from New Castle to spend the day. Rev. Ruggiero was the founder of the two clubs, while he had the charge of the church.

Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Murphy, Mr. R. Rowe and Mr. A. Zarlingo offered their automobiles for the transportation of the boys and girls.

The group of about sixty left town at 9:30 in the morning, and came back at 3:30 p. m.

The pastor of the church Rev. P. Chessa, wishes to thank all those people that cooperated in the program.

MORE SUMMER STUDENTS

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Students registering for the summer session at Harvard University totalled 2454, or a few more than the number enrolled for 1930. The record year for the largest enrollment for the summer session was 2900 students in 1927.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Street cars used on the local lines are made in faraway cities but there was a time, when street cars were manufactured here and were not only made for use here but in many other cities. At one time, the plant for the construction of street cars was quite an important industry of the city. It was located on South Mill street, opposite the Frank C. Douds & Company plant on South Mill street. Some excellent equipment, which of course differed to a considerable extent from those now in use here, was made in this plant, which was in operation for several years, although it was never a big financial success and eventually ceased to exist. The plant occupied a considerable portion of the land between Limestone railroad crossing and the Pennsylvania crossing. In those days practically the entire car was of wood construction and almost every part of the cars were made at this plant with the exception of the trucks on which the cars were placed. Those who can remember back approximately a quarter of a century will remember this plant and the product that it turned out.

Gold Pans Back As Store Stock

Montana Revives One Of Oldest Industries—Placer Mining

BUTTE, Mont., July 23.—Gold pans for sale!

For the first time in 40 years newspapers here are carrying advertisements of hardware stores that gold panning pans have been stocked.

Thus Montana revives her oldest and most romantic industry-placer mining. And the boys are taking to the hills.

It sounds funny—hundreds of men drifting into the hills along streams, over the old trails along which the frontier forged.

A good living can be made panning the precious metal from old stream beds. Too, there's always the chance to make a lucky strike, a bonanza.

Ghost towns are showing signs of life. An occasional prospector from one of them is seen in town, a little bottle, or bag of gold dust, giving token of his industry. Others return to the hills with him.

Always men seek gold, more so in times of depression. For as iron and food and other indispensables go down in value, gold goes up, its price a standard, being fixed by international agreement.

Skull Crushed; Believed Slain

Coroner Investigating Death Of Edward Roberts In Butler County

BUTLER, Pa., July 23.—Coroner William F. Pohl is investigating the death of Edward Roberts, 60, whose body was found in the kitchen of his home, Allegheny township, north of Parkers Landing. The back of his head was crushed in indicating that he had been murdered.

Patrick Howard, a neighbor, went to the Roberts home but received no response to his calls. When Roberts did not appear Howard told J. L. Grazier, a rural mail carrier, and the two investigated.

The scene of the killing is one of the remote sections of the county from Butler, being among the ridges of the Allegheny river. Roberts' wife and children had been visiting relatives for several days and he had been living alone, neighbors said.

Honey All Year Aid To Automobilists

COLUMBUS, O., July 23—Honey is a year-round friend of the motorist, according to C. A. Reese, bee specialist of the Ohio department of agriculture.

Reese said that in the winter honey provided a good anti-freeze solution for the radiator and that in the summer it helped to keep the radiator cool, due to its high boiling point.

He pointed out however that while there were advantages to having honey in radiator water, there were likewise disadvantages. Honey, he said, will pass through openings too small for water, thus endangering cylinders.

Sun Bather Barred In Sunlight League

LONDON, July 23—Sun bathers are unwelcome in the Sunlight league. The purpose of the league is to encourage Britons to get plenty of sunshine, but members said, sun bathers have espoused the movement "only to gain their own ugly ends."

TUBERCULOSIS EXPERT

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., July 23—Dr. Stephen J. Maher, of New Haven, known internationally as an expert in the fight against tuberculosis, is starting his ninteenth year as chairman of the Connecticut state tuberculosis commission. Dr. Maher was recently reappointed a member of the commission by Governor Wilbur L. Cross and a week later his fellow commissioner elected him chairman.

"Here's why I switched —how about you?"

HIS brow is wet with honest sweat—but not his Camels. Nor will yours be, no matter how hard you work or play.

Whether you labor outdoors in the rain or indoors in the heat, whether you whip a trout-stream, or whatever you do, your cigarettes will never be stained or soggy or unwholesome—if you carry Camels.

Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, made fine and kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition.

The new Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane seals in all the natural factory-freshness—seals it in so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

When you open your package of Camels, don't remove the Cellophane wrapper. Keep it on until you have smoked the last cigarette. It's put there for your protection.

Do your throat a favor, try Camels for just one day. Once you've compared their cool, smooth enjoyment with the brackish, stale taste of cigarettes packed the old way, leave them—if you can.

Star Lore

WHY THE MOUNTAINS HAVE COOL NIGHTS IN HOT WEATHER

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Cooler and therefore heavier air, like water, seeks its lowest level. In the mountain country after sundown, the surface of the ground cools rapidly by radiation, and the air in contact with it also radiates its heat and drops in temperature. Then this cooled air begins to flow down the mountain slopes into the valleys, making slope and valley a delightful cool temperature for restful sleep. Experienced mountain campers always build their camp fires on the downhill side, so the smoke will be carried away from their lean-tos. But with renewed heat from morning sun, the ground and air next to it become heated, the air thus expanded and made lighter, ascends the mountain side.

Mules Saved After Week's Entombment

FREELAND, Pa., July 23.—Two mine mules, entombed for a week in a cave-in at Wolfe colliery, near here, were found in fair condition when a rescue party cut its way through the debris to their temporary prison.

The mules had evidently found fresh water seeping through the ground and had chewed bark from timbering to keep them alive. When they were discovered, feed was given them through the opening in the wall which trapped them until they could be freed from the cave-in.

Price Of Crude Oil Is Boosted

Continental Oil Company Of Ponca City, Oklahoma, Announces Increase

TURNING POINT BELIEVED MARKED

(International News Service)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 23.—Immediate effect of the crude oil price boost to 40 cents a barrel, flat rate, regardless of gravity, announced by the Continental Oil Company of Ponca City, which went into effect yesterday, was regarded as uncertain in oil circles today.

While no announcements of similar boosts by other companies have been made here, the announcement of the Continental Company was hailed among oil men as marking a possible turning point in the oil industry.

The price boost is effective in the mid-continent field in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas.

Wells Are Closed

Meanwhile, the proposed plan to order a shutdown of wells in the state until the price regains a higher level had not materialized.

Governor W. H. Murray, who has been working with an operators' committee to determine the advisability of an immediate shutdown, declared today the price boost indicated oil purchasers realized what would occur if the wells were closed. He expressed the wish they had waited a few days before taking the action, but he did not explain why.

In the absence of an official order to close the wells, a number of companies continued to close their wells on their own initiative.

The India Territory Illuminating Oil Company, with associate companies, one of the largest producers in the Oklahoma City field, announced it would close a number of wells.

The 40-cent rate announced by the Continental Company is 18 cents above the maximum high price that has been in effect since the price of crude oil made its downward plunge.

The price generally paid was from 10 cents to 22 cents a barrel, depending on gravity.

Men's Bible Class To Hear Speaker

"At the Feet of Jesus" will be the subject of the discourse presented to the members of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church Sunday morning, when Rev. A. E. Driggers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Kittanning, addresses them, in the absence of their teacher, Rev. G. M. Landis, who is on his summer vacation.

The attendance in the men's class has been keeping up marvelously during the summer months, according to the president, George Fox, and it is expected that every member will be out Sunday to hear Rev. Driggers, who is a speaker of great personality, power and eloquence.

Mr. Fox also states that there are elaborate plans made for the work of the men's class during the coming fall and winter months.

GIVES WIFE ALL CREDIT

(International News Service)

ELWOOD, Ind. July 23.— John Bell, Elwood resident, who died recently, gave his wife credit in his will for possessing an estate to will. In bequeathing all his property to his wife, he wrote: "Had it not been for my wife's faithful care of my earnings I might not have been able to sit here and will anything away. I give my wife more credit for what I possess than I do myself. I have been able to make it but not to save it."

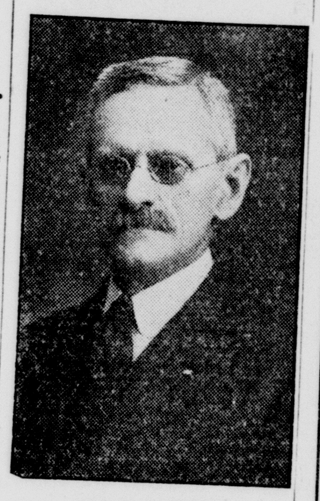
Burns Candidate For City Council

Third Ward Man Seeks Re-Election To City Council On Republican Ticket



WM. T. BURNS

Voters of New Castle, Pa.

I am a candidate for Council, and reaffirm the principles that I formerly declared, viz:

That the affairs of the City should be conducted on the same business principle as the individual applies to his own.

That they should be administered for the benefit and advantage of the tax payers and citizens.

That such service and improvements should be provided as are reasonably necessary, having proper regard to the city's future and possibilities.

If nominated and elected I shall be governed by these principles; and respectfully ask for your support and influence at the Republican Primaries held September 15, 1931.

Yours truly,
Wm. T. Burns,

Milk In Bottle Rule Applies To Soda Fountains

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Serving milk from open containers, such as pitchers and glasses or from tanks in drug stores, summer resorts and roadside stands, violate the Pennsylvania Milk Container Law, just as much as this practice does in hotels, restaurants and dining rooms, states Dr. James W. Kellogg, director and chief chemist, bureau of foods and chemistry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the law is two fold: It assures the customer a sanitary product and it makes certain that the standard of the milk meets the legal requirements.

A statewide check on the way milk is being served in drug stores and other eating places, popular during the summer, is now under way in order to make sure that tourists in Pennsylvania, as well as the public in general have the full protection afforded by the Pure Food Laws.

Any party violating the law is subject to a minimum fine of $25.

Lee Allen Given Patent Rights

New Castle Man Gets Patent On Invention Of Own Design

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23—After a wait of more than three years, Lee E. Allen of New Castle, has been granted the patent rights on an invention of his own design, the United States Patent Office announces.

Lee, who registered his invention with the Patent Office June 16, 1928 has been given the rights to eight claims of novel features on a hot metal mixer. He has assigned his invention to the Pennsylvania Engineering Works.

The mixer is described by the Official Patent Gazette as:

In a hot metal mixer for the mixing and storing of at least several hundred tons of molten metal, a foundation, rockers carried on the foundation, an elongated ladle carried on the rockers the lower portion of which is substantially cylindrical in transverse cross-section, said ladle having a covered top, said ladle having a charging opening in the top therof at each side of the transverse center of the receptacle, and a single pouring spout at one side of the receptacle approximately midway between the two charging openings whereby metal may be charged into opposite ends of the mixer and flow from each end toward the center.

Will Leaves Huge Sum To Colleges

NEW YORK, July 23.—Conditional bequests totaling $2,500,000 were made to Yale and Harvard universities and to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the will of James Sheridan, filed for probate here. Sheridan died July 16 .

After making about a half dozen minor bequests totaling $7,500 to various charities, Sheridan left one-third of the residue of his estate to his son, Donald H. Sheridan.

The will then directed that if there was sufficient funds available the first $1,000,000 of the residue be given to Yale university, the next $1,000,000 to M. I. T., and then $500,000 to Harvard.

He further directed that if after these bequests were paid there was a surplus, it was to be given to Yale.

Each of the educational bequests is to provide for the establishment of the James and Donald H. Sheridan scholarships.

Eastern Cowboys Strut Their Stuff

While they get no practice "punching cattle" on the Western plains, these members of the rough riding team of Troop D, New York State Troopers, stationed at Oneida Barracks, give a remarkably efficient and life-like reproduction of what the cowboys of the West are famed for in the way of stunt riding. Usually busy enforcing the law in New York State, these expert horsemen are going to take a little time off to match their skill with trick riders from throughout the East when a police field day is held at Oneida, N. Y., soon.

Rich Blind American Weds

This colorful scene was enacted when A. J. Wright, millionaire American who was stricken blind several years ago, and Tatiana Moslova, a former subject of the Czar, were married in London with all the pomp and circumstance of the Russian Church. The ceremony took place by special permission of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the couple being attended by the Earl of Albemarle as best man, and Princess Marie Helene of Russia as matron of honor.

Hughes was struck squarely on top of the head by a bolt of lightning. Although dazed, the accident left no ill effects other than a hole in the crown of the hat.

Skimming Toward New Mark

Miss E. E. Green, a little known British athlete, made the sporting world sit up and take notice when she set a new record for the 80-yard hurdles in games recently held at Stamford Bridge, England. Flying over the hurdles, as illustrated, Miss Green beat the old mark by a fifth of a second at the British Women's Championships.

Sets Speed Record

James Goodwin Hall (above), New York broker, shattered fast air records by flying from New York to Havana, Cuba, in eight hours and 35 minutes. Arriving there, he announced his ambition to fly back to New York in even less time. Hall smashed Capt. Frank Hawks' record of eight hours and 48 minutes by his speedy New York-Havana hop.

Out to Beat Post

Frank Hoover (above), an Oklahoma City pilot, will be backed by F. C. Hall, millionaire sponsor of the Post-Gatty record-breaking world flight, in an attempt to surpass the present mark for a globe-girdling flight. The plane to be used by Hoover will be a sister ship of the Winnie Mae, in which Post and Gatty made their sensational world circuit.

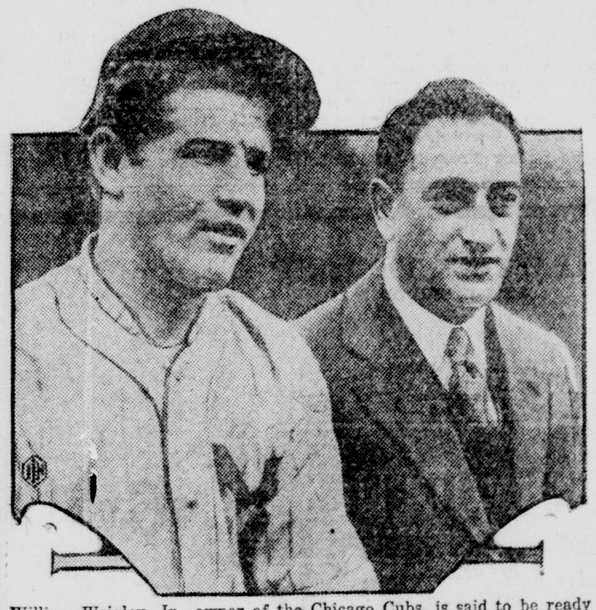
Winner of the trans-Atlantic yacht race that started from Newport, R. I., July 4, with the finish line at Plymouth, England, the American yacht Dorade (above), was sailed by its owner, Olin J. Stephens, of Scarsdale, N. Y., and a crew of seven amateur sailors. The Dorade is 52 feet 2 inches over all with a sail area of 1,155 square yards, and was built at City Island, N. Y., a year ago. It is a tribute to her designers and builders that she weathered the most gruelling ocean race in the world without a mishap.

Offer $50,000 for Shires



William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, is said to be ready to bid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for Arthur "The Great" Shires, Don Quixote of organized baseball and first baseman of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association just now. The Texan, who has kept his batting mark above .400 most of this season, would come back into big league ball after a stormy career if he's sold. Art is shown at left with Louis Nabin, president of the Milwaukee Brewers, who is reported to hope he can get $75,000 for "The Great."

Chaperoned and "henpecked" by Lady Astor (left), George Bernard Shaw (right) arrived in Moscow the other day on what was their first visit to the Soviet capital. Shaw was enthusiastically acclaimed the moment he stepped from the train, as he has long been an outspoken champion of the Marxist doctrine. Lady Astor, American-born member of Parliament, however, was thoroughly ignored by Soviet officialdom and the welcoming crowd.

Hero as Golfer

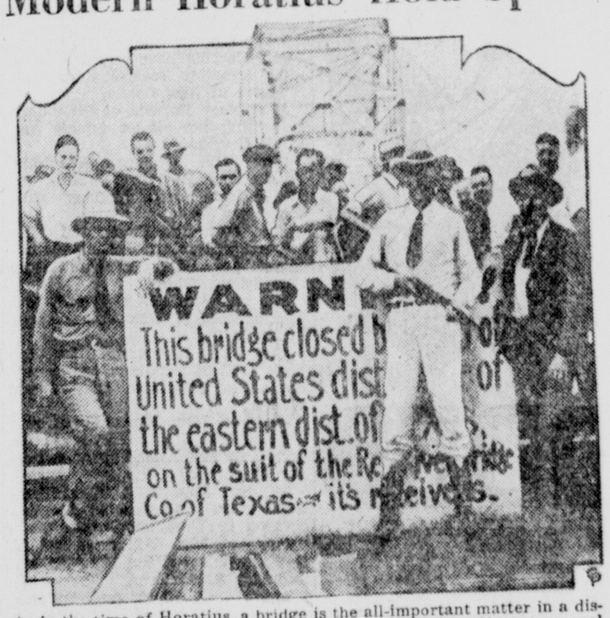
Modern Horatius Hold Span!



As in the time of Horatius, a bridge is the all-important matter in a dispute between Texas and Oklahoma. W. R. Sterling, adjutant-general of Texas, in white trousers and rifle in hands, is shown on guard at the newly-built bridge between Denison, Tex., and Durant, Okla. Because the two States cannot agree as to whether the bridge should be free or a toll span, Texas Rangers are on guard to prevent Oklahomans from crossing. Next to Sterling is Capt. Tom Hickman of the Rangers. The U. S. District Court has ordered the bridge closed until difficulties can be overcome.

Engineer Gives Facts On Pymatuning Dam

GREENVILLE, July 23.—Facts, figures and a historical sketch of the Pymatuning dam and reservoir site were given by Ralph J. Ferris, state resident engineer on the project, to the Lions club.

Mr. Ferris, located at Linesville, was the speaker at a dinner, held in Hotel Riverview, and answered several questions often heard locally. Mr. Ferris has been associated with the project almost continuously since the preliminary survey in 1912.

Reciprocal Laws

One answer concerns the control by law of that one-sixth of the reservoir in Ohio, particularly in regard to game laws. Mr. Ferris said that a similar condition exists on the Delaware river between Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and that the two states have passed reciprocal legislation. The same probably will be done for the Pymatuning after its completion.

Residents near the dam need have no fear of breakage and a flood, Mr. Ferris said. The dam is being built strong enough to allow an increase in height if desired, he said. The present plans call for a dam 50 feet high.

Level No Danger

Asked what effect the lowering of water level would have on sanitary conditions long the shore, he replied it would be negligible. Both Conneaut Lake and Chautauqua Lake have a level shifting two to four feet, he said, but are not menaces to health. The average shift in level of the Pymatuning has been estimated at these figures. However, the wave action on the large body of water will sweep the shores and the lowest level will probably be about December 1, so that any lowering will not be a danger to health.

Two Years To Fill

The reservoir will probably require two years or longer to fill, he said, although conditions make an estimate difficult. The average rainfall is 40 inches, of which about one-half will run into the reservoir. The evaporation it is estimated will be 30 inches from the lake, or ten inches less than actually falls directly into the lake.

However, the level of the Shenango river must be maintained, so that much of the water impounded must be released. The length of time for filling will depend on the amount of rainfall for several years.

The state owns all the land for several feet back from the prospective shore line, Mr. Ferris said, so that it is impossible for anyone to purchase "lake front" property. What the state's policy will be in the future he could not say.

Once Drained North

Mr. Ferris gave an outline of the geological history of the region. At one time the drainage from this section was north into Lake Erie. Glaciers probably filled the drainage gorge and nature had to find a drain to the south. During this process a number of swamps, among them the Pymatuning, was formed.

Titles of ownership for this land date back 140 years, the first survey of this Crawford county region being made in 1784. The original owners were the North American Land company, the Pennsylvania Population company and the Holland Land company, which owned two tracts. Some of their lands were simply settled on by pioneers, the companies later making articles of agreement dividing the improved lands between them and the settlers.

Huge Capacity

Giving figures on the size, Mr. Ferris stated that the lake would have a center line length of 17 miles, an average width of one and a half miles, and a maximum width equal to the length of Conneaut Lake. The surface will be about 1,008 feet above sea level. The lake will cover 26 square miles, and will contain 65 billion gallons—more gallons than there are seconds in 2,000 years. It will drain 160 square miles.

Project Vital

The project is vital to the Shenango and Mahoning valleys, he said. Some of the dam's benefits recited by Mr. Ferris are flood control, stream regulation and better sanitation and health conditions. It will save tax money, since it will lower the costs of sewage disposal plants, and will keep industrial plants and their consequent revenue in the valleys.

The industrial plant capacity of the two valleys will be increased. Land values will increase along the rivers. Raw water supplies will be improved. Marketing conditions for farmers will be improved.

Benefits 500,000

The old rule of the "greatest good for the greatest number" applies to the project. Where 500 persons reside in the area to be flooded, 500,000 will be directly affected by the improvement.

The present appropriation of $1,500,000 will build the dam, this year and next. The clearing of the land must come from another appropriation, not possible before 1933. The state has the plans practically ready for bidding, and bids probably will be opened about August 15.

IS AGAINST CIGARETTES
(International News Service)

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. July 23.—Edward Duncan, 47, faces Circuit court trial, a martyr in his own mind to the principles of the woodshed and strap. "I ain't a-goin' to have my daughter a cigarette smoking woman," he said doggedly when held under $1,000 bond. Duncan's daughter, 12, and his son, 9, had rolled dried grass into cigarettes and smoked them.

S. embassy says the baby is German, but then again its father is Swedish.

Pair Shunned "Good Advice" And Found Oil

DALLAS, Tex., July 23.—If Dr. A. D. Lloyd, Fort Worth geologist, and C. M. Joiner, Dallas wildcatter in the oil business, had listened to "good" advice, the east Texas oil fields, first developed almost nine months ago, probably still would be unknown.

Dr. Lloyd and Joiner laughed and called them "doodlebuggers" because they first drilled in east Texas on their own hunch and over the advice of other geologists familiar wtih the geological structure.

Their first two tests were failures—but the third one was a success.

In the nine months since Lloyd and Joiner struck oil, around 1,500 wells have been drilled or contracted for.

Ancient Secret Papers Soon To Be Opened

TURIN, Italy, July 23.—Several thousand aged and secret documents, wills and testaments, which have gathered here in the courts and have never been opened for various reasons, will be opened soon by the court of appeals in a special ceremony.

Some of the documents, which are centuries old, are expected to bring forth interesting revelations. The papers were kept by the court because of an old law which allows citizens to file secret papers. Many of them have never been withdrawn.

'Squire Observes His 92nd Birthday

Water Well Driller Wins Bet With State

LEBANON, O., July 23—A. R. Posey, Cincinnati well driller, has won his gamble with the state of Ohio and is richer by about $1,500.

Posey had submitted bids for drilling wells on a state farm, near here, but they had been rejected because it was claimed they were too high. Successful contractors had drilled four times to depths of 140 feet and had found no water.

When Posey offered to gamble that if he failed to produce a well giving 50 gallons of water a minute he would ask no pay, he was given a chance.

He picked his own location and drilled for two weeks, at the end of which time, he struck water at a depth of 137 feet. The well yielded 400 gallons a minute for 60 hours.

Child Run Down; Driver Is Freed

NEW KENSINGTON, Ja., July 23—John Scaysmite, 7, of Sixth avenue is in a serious condition in Citizens General Hospital suffering from a fractured skull received when struck by an automobile driven by George France. The child had been watching street repairs and darted in front of France's car Police released France on his own recognizance.

Work Is Rushed On New Bridge

KITTANNING, Pa., July 23—The United States war department yesterday approved the sub-structure for the new bridge over the Allegheny river here, erected by the Foundation Company, of New York. The cost was $221,000 and the job was completed in about 10 months without a serious accident.

The company will move its five barges and three derricks to Neville Island, near Pittsburgh, Thursday.

The McClintic-Marshall Company of Pittsburgh is now erecting the steel spans and the entire bridge will be completed within five months.

Annual Picnic Sunday Afternoon

Congregation Plans For Outing At Koppel—Other News Of Congregation

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23—The first annual basket picnic of the Purification B. V. M. congregation will be held Sunday afternoon at the Koppel Outing Grounds in Koppel. Every member of the congregation with their family and friends are invited and free transportation will be furnished for those who do not have a car. Those who wish to take advantage of the free transportation will meet at the church basement at 1 o'clock in order to be on the picnic grounds by 2 o'clock for the beginning of the program.

The men of the congregation, the church committee and the Y. I. C. C. have charge of all details of this outdoor affair. They have arranged an interesting program that promises to keep everyone interested for the whole day. They are preparing to take care of one thousand people, including visitors, from New Castle, Butler, Besemer, Hillsville, Koppel, Wampum, and other nearby points. Band and orchestra concerts will be furnished during the entire picnic.

On Wednesday the Young Ladies Sodality of the Purification church held their annual picnic at Cascade Park. Seventy five members were transported to the Park in busses. They enjoyed the park amusements and dancing and were served a delicious picnic luncheon prepared by a special committee.

The next picnic on the church calendar will be the Sunday school children's picnic to be held during the first week of August, the time and place to be decided upon later.

On August 8th, the Little Flower Club will hold their annual picnic at Westview Park in Pittsburgh.

M. L. Club Meets With President

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.—Mrs. Kay Houlette presided at the regular meeting of the M L. Club at her home on Spring avenue last night. Mrs. Christy, Mrs. Lee Sekulski and Mrs. Terlinden were special guests on the occasion. Lovely garden flowers appointedly distributed about the home brightened the occasion.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the evening, with three tables being in play. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Ervil McDivitt and Mrs. John VanGorder received the club prizes. The guest favor was presented to Mrs. Terlinden.

Later in the evening a delectable menu was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Earl McCandless.

The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. McCandless on Jefferson street.

Country Club Is Scene Of Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.—The members of the C. A. Martin Bible class were the guests of Mrs. W. R. Thompson at her home at the Ellwood City Country Club last evening and enjoyed a ham fry. Seventeen members were present and after the dinner the regular business meeting was held. Mrs. W. C. Martin, Mrs. Lafe Butler and Mrs. Herman Wilson were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for a corn roast, to be held the last of August.

Reports First Roasting Ears

ZELIENOPLE, July 23.—Elmer Schantz of Harmony is the first man of this community to report having roasting ears from his garden. Mr. Schantz and family enjoyed roasting ears from his garden on Friday evening, July 17.

Although there are many gardens in the community of Harmony that will soon produce roasting ears, Mr. Schantz is the first one to have reported having them.

VISIT YOUNGSTOWN

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.—Mrs. W. D. Porter and daughter Katherine Marie and Mrs. A. D. Henderson are spending the day in Youngstown.

The Twain Meet

Contradicting Kipling, the East and the West have met, but there's trouble ahead. Attractive Katsuko Suzuki (above), Japanese co-ed at the University of California, is claimed by two men, one Japanese and one American. The Japanese claims to be her guardian and says he secured a divorce to wed Katsuko, according to ancient Japanese custom. The American, Joseph W. Angell, son of a minister of Gold Beach, Oregon, claims the love of the Japanese girl and also wishes to marry her. Katsuko insists she will make up her own mind.

Smart Set Club Is Entertained

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23—With delightful hospitality Mrs. Theodore Markwort entertained the members of the Smart Set Club at a luncheon bridge event at her home on Beechwood Boulevard Wednesday afternoon. The home was appointedly decorated in lovely garden flowers and presented a beautiful appearance.

After a delicious luncheon prepared by the hostess at 1 o'clock, two tables of bridge were in play for the greater part of the afternoon with the awards going to Mrs. Ray Aylesworth and Mrs. Markwort at the conclusion of the games.

Mrs. Carl Zeigler invited the club to meet at her home on Wayne avenue in two weeks for their next regular meeting.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.— The members of the Progressive Club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. George C. Nicklas of New Castle, at their regular meeting last night. Beautiful floral decorations accentuated throughout and exceedingly brightened the occasion.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the evening with two tables being at play for the greater part of the evening. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Frank Reichart and Mrs. Charles Black were presented first and low awards respectively.

At an appointed hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Norman Pack and Mrs. Charles Black, much to the satisfaction of those present.

The club members will be the guests of Mrs. Charles Black of Spring avenue in two weeks, which is their next meeting date.

R. Q. CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.—The members of the R. Q. club gathered at the home of Mrs. Gerald Mook and held an all day meeting yesterday. There were two special guests, Mrs. James Schallenberger of this city and Mrs. Bert Schallenberger of Detroit. A tureen dinner was served at noon. After the dinner the members of the club played 500, honors going to Mrs. Leo Frank and Mrs. C. K. Morrow high and low respectively. The club will meet at the home of Mrs. T. G. Dowswell on First avenue on the 12th of August.

Officers, Teachers Of Bell School At Meeting Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 23.—There was a fine turnout for the meeting of the officers and teachers of the Bell Memorial Sunday school last night in the church rooms.

Rev. Ross M. Haverfield of the Westfield Presbyterian church was the principal speaker on the occasion. He completely explained the Standard B in Sunday School work in a very pleasing manner. The church will make a careful study of it for four months.

Plan Picnic For 323rd Field Artillery

The 323rd Light Field Artillery annual picnic will be held at Edgewood Park which is located on the Beaver Falls-Ellwood City road Route No. 388 Sunday July 26. Come early and stay all day to see, meet and talk to your old buddies. The regiment has made this an annual affair, which is getting larger every year.

The picnic committee expects this to be one of the largest turnouts they have ever had. Registration will take place in the dining hall with the secretary and then you are free to roam over the park.

The sports committee has worked out a fine line of sporting events for the kiddies and adults, and various entertainment for all. Edgewood Park has provided various amusements for the kiddies and have ample protection for them.

Any ex-service man who was in any way connected with the regiment at any time may attend this picnic.

Rush To Save Five Per Cent On Taxes

Office of County Treasurer Adda M. Smiley has been a busy place this week on account of the few days yet remaining during which a five per cent discount can be obtained on county and state taxes. The five per cent discount date expires on the last day of this month. Beginning on August 1st taxes must be paid at face, and on September 1 the unpaid taxes go into the hands of collectors.

Well, if it's true that riches make people sinful, this would be a good time to knock the human race in the head.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new remedy known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's prescription is a quick acting yet harmless internal medicine. After years of study he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer of itching, bleeding or protruding piles to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Eckerd's, New Castle Drug Co., and good druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will positively end piles in any form or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should secure a bottle of Dr Leonhardt's HEM-ROID tablets today.

New Age—New Woman; 'Lady Frail' Obsolete

* * * * * *

Among the Other Things That Suddenly Are Realized in This Marvelous Age Is the Fact That Womanhood Has Undergone a Metamorphosis. Consider Miss Houlson.

MISS JANE HOULSON AND F. A. MITCHELL HEDGES

The lady in the above photo is Miss Jane Houlson, secretary to F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, world-famous explorer, shown with her. The objects which Mr. Mitchell-Hedges and Miss Houlson are examining are not dolls' heads. They are real human heads, shrunk and preserved by a process known only to the head-hunters of Central America and are some of the relics of one of the explorer's many expeditions into the wilds. It seems strange to see a woman handle such a gruesome object when we consider that a very short time ago a cut finger was a woman's cue to go into hysterics. But the new age of progress has changed all that and now the terms "weaker sex" and "my lady frail" may truly be said to libel the modern woman. Miss Houlson is a good example of the female product of this wonderful age. In the twelve years she has been employed by Mitchell-Hedges she has travelled over 60,000 miles through the uncharted jungles of the world and is soon going on another big expedition.

Payroll Bandits Receive $6,328 In Chester, Pa.

Intimidate Employees Of Big Concern And Take Payroll—Make Escape

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., July 23.—Four armed bandits intimidated officials and employees of the Ewing-Thomas Corporation here today escaping with a $6,328 payroll. The quartet made their getaway in an auto which was reported stolen in Upper Darby on July 19.

The payroll was delivered to the office of M. Moses Ewing, president of the concern at 8 a. m. Shortly thereafter the bandits appeared on the scene with drawn pistols, two entering by each door.

State Watches To Prevent Entry Of Foot-Mouth Plague

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Following an official report indicating that an outbreak of the dreaded livestock malady known as "foot and mouth disease" has occurred in England, officials of the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, have taken every possible precaution to keep Pennsylvania free from infection.

Livestock owners have been asked to co-operate by reporting immediately to co-operate by reporting immediately to local veterinarians or to the State bureau of animal industry any suspicious cases. A sore mouth or sore feet are the best evidence of an infection.

The disease is not known to exist at the present time on the North American Continent, Dr. T. E. Munce, director of the bureau states. The last outbreak in Pennsylvania was in 1914.

Watches Health At Summer Camps

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Summer camps in the Pocono mountains are in good condition this season. Howard M. Haines, chief of the State Health Department's restaurant hygiene section, said today.

These camps, located in Monroe, Pike and Wayne counties, form the summer playground of thousands of people from Pennsylvania, New York and other nearby states. It is the aim of the health department to make the physical conditions of the camps and equipment as nearly perfect as possible, and to this end all kitchen and dining room employes are given thorough physical examinations, including laboratory tests to eliminate any diphtheria or typhoid fever carriers that may be so employed.

Refrigeration, screening, dish washing equipment and garbage and refuse disposal methods are all covered by the inspection, which this year extended to 130 camps. The summer population of each camp ranges from 25 to 1,000 persons.

Taxpayers are those queer people who vote for a bond issue under the impression that Santa Claus will pay the bill.

Erie Fish Catch Value Increases

HARRISBURG, July 23.—For the first time in recent years the total catch of fish out of the Port of Erie is more than double the number of pounds taken out in the previous year, according to a report compiled by the Board of Fish Commissioners for 1930.

The number of pounds in 1929 was 1,342,673 valued at $163,334.96, while in 1930 it increased to 3,653,134 pounds valued at $317,160.71. The increase in pounds was confined almost wholly to whitefish and blue pike, which are two of the finest fish taken from the lake. The cisco headed the list in previous year and is a well known commercial fish but catches have been steadily decreasing.

Until recent years the catch always exceeded 20,000,000 pounds and was looked upon as a "million dollar industry." But during the last few years, the majority of the commercial fishermen were severely handicapped owing to the conditions along the lake and many of them had little or nothing left at the end of the year.

Vote On Age At Primary Election

Young men and women who become of age this year before the date of the primaries, September 15, can vote at the primary on age, no tax receipt being necessary, as in cases of persons over 21 years of age.

If arriving at 21 between the date of the primary and the date of the general election, the young man or woman can vote on age at the general election. It is well, however, to see that your name is on the registration list before election day as it sometimes saves complications.

Fortunately, depressions always come to an end in spite of all the professional fixers can do.

Scientist Produces Rye-Wheat Cereal

(International News Service)

VIENNA, July 23.—A new cereal species, combining the virtues of both rye and wheat, was produced by the Austrian scientist, Professor E. Tschermak, according to a recent announcement published by Vienna newspapers.

Professor Tschermak crossed successfully rye and wheat, and then the grain so produced he crossed again with the parent cereals.

The result was pronounced highly satisfactory, and Professor Tschermak hopes by this way to solve an agricultural problem of high importance. He predicts, that this combined cereal will gradually replace pure wheat and rye growing all over the world.

Kit Carson—10. On The Upper Missouri

RESTLESS, EVER ON THE MOVE, KIT CARSON AND HIS TRAPPER COMPANIONS LEFT CALIFORNIA IN 1828 AND RODE EASTWARD, ACROSS THE DESERTS AND OVER THE ROCKIES, UNTIL THEY CAME TO THE HEADWATERS OF THE MISSOURI RIVER.

FINDING THE REGION RICH IN GAME OF MANY KINDS, THEY PITCHED A CAMP, AND FROM THIS BASE WENT OUT IN TWOS AND THREES ON HUNTING EXCURSIONS WITHIN A RADIUS OF A HUNDRED MILES.

BY THIS TIME KIT HAD BECOME THE MOST EXPERT TRACKER OF THEM ALL. HIS EVER-READY RESOURCEFULNESS, HIS UNCANNY SKILL WITH THE RIFLE AND HIS COOL COURAGE LED THE OTHERS TO REGARD HIM, IN SPITE OF HIS YOUTH, AS THEIR NATURAL LEADER.

THE TRAPPERS WERE NOW IN THE LAND OF THE FIERCE BLACKFEET, AMONG THE MOST DREADED WARRIORS OF THE PLAINS. NOW AND THEN THE WHITE MEN MET SAVAGE HUNTERS WHO GREETED THEM SULLENLY AS THEY PASSED.

Sharkey-Walker Fight To Draw In Good Battle

Experts Surprised At Showing Made By Walker Against Bigger Man

KEARNS INCENSED OVER DECISION

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 23. — Mickey Walker 'a little man with a big fighting heart' was the pugilistic hero of the hour today as a result of his surprisingly strong showing against Jack Sharkey 'the garrulous Boston heavyweight' in their fifteen round bout at Ebbets Field last night for the benefit of the Free Milk Fund For Babies Inc. Spotting Sharkey twenty nine pounds in weight and bleeding badly during the fight from a cut over his left eye, the "Toy Bulldog" by sheer aggressiveness and will to win, earned a draw with the highly-touted Blue-Jacket.

Sharkey's inability to whip his smaller opponent sent his prestige down to a new low and disputed his right to the claim he is the man who should fight Max Schmeling of Germany for the heavyweight championship of the world next summer.

It was a close fight—so close, in fact, that for hours afterward the experts were in the throes of discussion regarding the fairness of the verdict. Many of them thought Walker won; others said the decision should have gone to Sharkey. No matter how the bout is figured, however, it was a moral victory for Walker. For it was the concensus before the fight, that Sharkey would surely win by a knockout inside of ten rounds.

Kearns Incensed

"The decision was outrageous," declared Jack Kearns, manager of Walker and former manager of Jack Dempsey.

"I am going before the New York Boxing Commission and ask them to reverse the verdict."

Sharkey himself was greatly disappointed. He thought he won the fight handily. He could not understand how the referee and the two judges could arrive at a draw verdict.

"I should have been awarded the fight," said Sharkey. "I came out of the bout unmarked and everybody will have to admit I cut Mickey up quite a bit. I'll admit he did better than I thought he would. I figured going into the ninth round that I was perhaps a round behind. But from then on, it was my fight. I figure I walked away with most of the remaining rounds. I am sure I won the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth by wide margins. It was a bad decision."

Walker Shows Courage

Mickey displayed magnificent courage all the way. It was by virtue of his great fighting heart and blazing courage, that he earned the draw. He took everything Sharkey tossed at him and came back for more. In many of the rounds, he was the aggressor.

On the other hand, Sharkey's timing was bad and he missed frequently with his right. His most effective blow was a straight left jab to the face. After Sharkey ripped open a cut over Mickey's left eye in the fifth round with a right cross, Sharkey caused Walker plenty of annoyance by peppering the injured optic with that straight left.

But Mickey came out gamely, round after round, taking Sharkey's best punches and ripping the bigger man's body with hard right and lefts time and again. He stopped Sharkey's bull-like rushes with terrific body punches. After the fight Sharkey admitted there was plenty of power behind these blows.

Once in the fifth round, Sharkey dropped Walker with a right uppercut that clipped the chin.

Mickey disdained a count. He was on his feet almost instantly and giving Sharkey as good as he sent. Even that early in the fight, he made it apparent to all that Sharkey had a man's size job on his hands to knock him out.

Sharkey entered the ring a three to one favorite to win. He held every natural advantage over Walker. He weighed 198½ pounds, as against 169½ for Walker. He towered over his smaller opponent and he had a much longer reach. The crowd, however, was with Walker from the opening gong until the final bell and they cheered him at every turn.

The credit was greeted with mingled cheers and boos. The referee, Arthur Donovan, gave the fight to Walker; Charles Athisom, one of the two judges thought the bout was a draw, while the other judge, George F. Kelly, said Sharkey won the fight.

After the fight, a canvass of opinion of twenty one newspapermen at at ringside, showed that sixteen of them thought Walker won, four gave the verdict to Sharkey and one called the fight a draw.

GORDONS WIN AND LOSE

The Gordon A. C. mushball team split even in two mushball games on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Shadyside A. C. beat them 14 to 13 at Taggart field, and the Gordons beat the Rose Avenue team 10 to 9 in a game played at the Rose avenue field.

Shenango Nine In Second Place

Scarazzos Fatten Lead By Win; Commissioners Act On Protested Games

NORTH HIGHLAND TRIPS UNIVERSALS

Four fast contests were played in the Lawrence County league race on Wednesday night. The league leading Scarazzos avenged for the defeat at the hands of the Wampum nine last Saturday by trimming the Cement City boys, 3-1. The Shenango Pottery nine advanced to second place by walloping the Bessemer nine 8-1.

One of the big surprises of the day was the North Highland victory over the Universal Sanitary aggregation. The score was 3-1. Hillsville also avenged for its defeat by Brent by winning over Brent, 6-4. Big crowds were present at the games last night.

Act On Protests

This morning County Commissioners Louis "Pick" Glitch and Charles Bugs Walther acted on three protested games. All three protests involved the Scarazzos. In the first protest the Scarazzos-Universal Sanitary game which was won by the Universals and which decided the first half pennant winner, the commissioners ruled that the game stands. This means that the Universals are the first half champs.

In the second protest the Shenango Pottery-Scarazzos game which ended in a 5-5 tie the two commissioners ruled that this game must be played in two weeks. The third protest was the Wampum-Scarazzo game last Saturday afternoon. Wampum won, 3-2. The Scarazzos claimed that Hall, Wampum hurler was not eligible to play. The commissioners ruled that this game stands as played.

A contract signed on June 27 was presented for Hall. On Friday night on the Universal field the West Pittsburg nine and Universal team will play. This game was called off recently. Dunn and Ross will officiate.

Wednesday's Results

Scarazzos 3; Wampum 1.
North Highland 3; Universal Sanitary 1.
Shenango Pottery 8; Bessemer 1.
Hillsville 6; Brent 4.

Hillsville Nine Defeats Brent, 6-4

Evening up for the defeat administered them last week, the Hillsville baseball team defeated Brent on Wednesday night at Hillsville in a Lawrence County league game. The score was 6-4.

Hillsville took an early lead and held on to it until the game ended. Brent made a determined attempt to overcome their opponents by scoring four runs in the fifth and sixth innings but failed. C. Grist with a homer and F. Sanders with two hits featured for Hillsville while Houston and Stanbirk were the feature performers for the Brent aggregation.

SCARAZZOS TOP WAMPUM NINE, 3-1

Two Teams Battle In Great Contest At Wampum Last Night

On Wednesday night the Scarazzo baseball team, leaders of the second half of the Lawrence county league, captured its fifth victory at the expense of the strong Wampum aggregation at Wampum. The score was 3 to 1.

Frank "Jewie' Coen, who since playing with the league leaders has not lost a contest, took over the strong Wampum boys. He limited the Wampum nine to five scattered bingles while the Scarazzos finally got on to Dubrovich for seven hits to win. Dubrovich has proven tough for the Scarazzos all season.

George Byak made a pretty hit in the fourth inning to deep center field. Byak attempted to stretch the hit into a homer, but was caught at home by Romeo. The hitting of Byak, Grinnen and Carl Genock featured for the league leaders while Butchelli and Dubrovich were the best for Wampum. Both teams played errorless ball.

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT

Written for Central Press and The New Castle News
Number 5.

The keystone to good golf is relaxation.

Glenna Collett

Relaxation is necessary because the good golf stroke is a swing developed through rhythmic practice.

Tense, restrained muscles cannot produce this swing. Therefore, from the very beginning, a player, if she wishes satisfactory results, must first mentally visualize this easy, unrestrained motion and set out, determined to product it.

I can best tell you how by describing my own swing.

When I take my stance I attempt to become as limp as possible in every portion of my body except my feet.

I grip the ground firmly with my feet, sending the entire bodily energy into them as the player must be strongly "anchored" to get the best out of a swing.

This means that above my feet I have created a lazy, slouchy feeling that when called upon to respond to action, will usually do so without my muscles unduly tightening.

Why balance is so necessary in the act of hitting the ball and how to attain balance will be the subject of our next golf chat.

Two New Castle Boys Qualifiers

William "Bill" Long And Charles Kay Shoot Qualifying Golf In Junior Tourney

START BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

William "Bill" Long and Charles Kay, local Field Club junior golfers are among the Western Pennsylvania Junior golfers starting championship play today over the tricky Alcoma Country Club course at Pittsburgh. Both Long and Kay qualified yesterday, Long with a total of 168 for 36 holes and Kay with 177 over the same grind. Herman Green, the third member of the New Castle contingent had two 93s for a total of 186 which did not qualify.

The qualifiers were led by Wilson Marks, of Kiski with a total of 154 with a pair of 77s. Claude McKee of South Hills tied for second with an 83-75 for 158 and with Sid Carson Jr., of Greensburg shot 158 also.

In the pairings for the championship play that started this morning William "Bill" Long drew O. D. Bleakley of Franklin, Pa., who is representing the Mamango Country Club. Kay drew Joe Totten of Sewickley as his opponent.

The work of the New Castle boys will be watched with interest. Marks is the top heavy favorite to win the title now held by Regis Wolf, who is ineligible this year.

Quite a large field attempted the qualifying round yesterday.

North Highland Trims Universals

Close Game Is Played On Wednesday Evening—Final Score 3-1

E. Bauman was in superb form for the North Highland baseball team on Wednesday night on the North Highland field and as a result the Highlanders handed the Universal Sanitary aggregation a 3-1 defeat before a big crowd.

Bauman, who is a collegiate hurler looked impressive as he downed the first half champs of the Lawrence County league. The Highland representatives scored their three runs that proved enough to win in the third and fourth innings. Coates was on the mound for Sanitary team and he was touched up for six hits by the winning nine.

Culbertson featured at the bat for the losers with two singles. Fabian with a double and a single and the hitting of Bauman proved a chief factor in the victory for the North Highland nine.

Italian A. A. To Play Bessemer

Tonight the strong Italian A. A. will go to Bessemer for a game with the fast Bessemer All-Stars of the Lawrence County League. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock. A fast game is anticipated.

On Monday night of next week the Marcellas mushball team meets the strong Elephants Clubs at the B. & O. field.

Mahoning Plays W. Pittsburg Nine

Tonight on the E. & A. grounds the West Pittsburg nine of the county league will meet the strong Mahoning A. A. team. The game starts at 6 o'clock fast time.

The Mahoning team has been going strong and hopes to add the county league aggregation to its victory list.

GAME FOOD PLENTIFUL

HARRISBURG, July 23 — An abundance of natural food for all species of game is being reported by the field officers of the Game Commission.

One eminent astronomer thinks the whole universe was evolved from a single atom. We wouldn't have imagined less than two.—The Duluth Herald.

Lawther Takes Charge Of Westminster Athletics

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 23.—John D. Lawther, director of athletics, head coach of football and basketball, and assistant professor of psychology, has arrived in town from Freeport, L. I., to assume his duties.

Lawther, a graduate of Westminster in 1919, was head coach of basketball and assistant football coach at his alma mater from 1926 to 1930. He resigned a year ago to take graduate work at New York University and to coach the Freeport, L. I. high school athletic teams.

Upon arriving in town, Lawther immediately set about to get things organized for the fall football campaign. He conferred with Graduate Manager Andy McDonald concerning plans for the football training camp which opens September 1, and started to check on the material available.

At Freeport high school last year, Lawther developed a championship football team and a championship basketball team, the first in the history of the school. A follower of no set system in football, Lawther leans toward the Pitt and Notre Dame styles of play and will probably use such a combination at Westminster.

Unaware Neck Is Broken For Day

DENVER, Colo., July 23.—La Verge Jochim, 18, was fighting for life in a hospital here today, with a broken neck, which he didn't know he had until 24 hours later.

Jochim went swimming Thursday with two companions, and struck his head on the bottom of an irrigation ditch when he dived. The accident partly paralyzed him, but he was dragged from the ditch by his companions. After a few minutes of massage he regained use of his arms and legs.

He belittled his injuries, and spent the rest of the day, and the night at home. The following day his neck and head pained him and he called a doctor.

An X-ray revealed two vertebrae were fractured.

Demolition Work Removes Hazards

HARRISBURG, July 23—Demolition of dilapidated buildings at the present time will not only serve to remove dangerous fire hazards but also help relieve the unemployment situation, J. W. Morgan, fire marshal of the Pennsylvania State Police said today.

Lumber and other material which may be salvaged in the demolition process often pays for the costs incurred, Morga asserted.

Shenango Pottery Defeats Bessemer

The Shenango Pottery baseball team advanced in the Lawrence County league race by walloping Bessemer on Wednesday night at Centennial field. The score was 8-1.

W. Soho on the mound for the Shenango team proved puzzling to the Bessemer nine. Four hits were chalked against the Shenango hurler. D. Nord and Brakavich were touched for 12 blows.

The hitting of P. McCullough and Glasser featured for Shenango while Pepe was the best for Bessemer.

Brooklyn Fails To Gain Ground

Dodgers Flop Before Pirates When Giants Take Licking From Reds

ATHLETICS DRIVE CLINCHING NAIL

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Having seen Jack Sharkey in his annual flop, we turned to the Brooklyn Robins today with the bright idea that cheese is cheese no matter how much you smother it with mayonnaise.

With a chance to move closer on the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals against the weak Pittsburgh team, the Brooklyn Robins were only able to divide a double-header and remained stationary in their pennant pursuit. One hit, a couple of fumbles and a walk or two gave the Pirates six runs in one inning in the opener, which Pittsburgh took 10 to 6. Pittsburgh was bad enough, but Brooklyn was much worse. A double by Frederick and Heimach's amazing ability in the pinches won the night cap for Brooklyn, 3 to 2.

Reds Beat Giants.

Lucas checked the fallen Giants of New York with eight hits and the men of McGraw slid before the declasse Cincy Reds 4 to 3, plunging into fourth place.

The champion Athletics took their ninth straight as they topped the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 3. It was Walberg's 19th hurling triumph. He gave but six safeties.

McManus, Tiger second baseman, made two thrilling catches to save Pitcher Uhle's hide, Detroit turning back New York 3 to 2. Gehrig hit his homer No. 29 and Babe Ruth whacked Nos. 24 and 25 to snatch the second game for New York, 9 to 5.

Cubs Beat Braves.

Woody English poked a single in the 11th to score Hemsley for a 5 to 4 finish for the Chicago Cubs over Boston. The Bruins moved into third place, a game and a half behind Brooklyn.

MacFayden outpitched Urban Faber and the Boston Ruddy Sox tripped the Chicago Hose, 3 to 2. Webb's single and a double by Sweeney scored the run that counted most. Al Thomas refused to give up more than six hits in the finale, Chicago annexing it 9 to 3.

Gray limited Washington to six hits, while St. Louis bagged 15 off Crowder and Burke, wrapping it up, 8 to 4.

FIGHT RESULTS

(International News Service)

AT NEW YORK—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Mickey Walker, Rumson, N. J. drew (15).

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stock Prices Today Are Slightly Higher

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 23.—Sprinkling of professional selling of the Industrial stocks and Specialties was Wall street's only response today to the adjournment of the London financial conference.

Stocks fell off a point or more at the opening, hesitated for a brief period and then recovered half the distance. Some of the favorites, in fact, rose fractionally above Wednesday's close and the market as a whole gave a better account of itself than any of the important foreign bourses.

The 1 per cent boost in the Bank of England rate had the natural effect of forcing a recovery in the British pound, which advanced about half a cent above the previous close. German government bonds were again the weak spot in the security markets here, the Reppublic 8 falling 4 points to 81 and the German International 5 1-25 down 2½ to 58. Further weakness was reported in all the principal South American exchanges.

The lowest prices of the day were recorded in the first half hour. The high-priced Industrials and Utilities fell off about a point on the average, with no outstanding weakness in evidence. Losses of 1 to 3½ points in the righ-priced Rails was due to the "thin market" for stocks of this class rather than to unfavorable developments in Railroad business. Car loadings last week were up to expectations, even though showing a drop of 152,404 cars from the same week last year.

Chrysler and General Motors near the noon period led a moderate rally in the Automobile stocks and sold in good volume above Wednesday's final prices. U. S. Steel rallied a point from the opening price. Utilities and Oils were also in good form in a dull and featureless market.

HIS HEART ALRIGHT

(International News Service)

SAN JOSE, Calif.—There's nothing wrong with J. G. Jahn's heart. He tested it thoroughly. Driving a heavy truck loaded with gravel, Jahn started over a bridge spanning the Coyote river near here. Without even so much as a crackle, the structure collapsed, plunging Jahn, truck, gravel and bridge into the river 25 feet below. Jahn was not hurt but everything else was ruined.

Heads Mounties

Up from the ranks of the famous organization which "always gets its man," Major-General J. H. MacBrien (above), formerly chief of staff for Canada, has been named to take command of the Northwest Mounted Police. He assumes leadership of the noted law-enforcement body August 1, and thus returns to his early career. General McBrien started his military service as a constable in the Mounties.

Plea Made Here For Disarmament By State Workers

International Relations Department Of Women's Club Sponsor Meeting

Petitions Circulated That Will Be Sent To President Hoover Urging Disarming

That the advancement of the movement to have the nations of the world disarm is a real move in the direction of preparedness, as it will prevent wars and advance the friendship and interchange of products between the nations of the world and insure a greater prosperity for all was in effect, the message of the members of the Pennsylvania Disarmament Caravan, that visited the city last evening under the auspices of the International Relations Department of the Woman's Club.

Several hundred people were in attendance at the meeting held in the auditorium of the Cathedral and showed deep interest in the messages conveyed by Morris B. Storer of Pittsburgh, Walter W. Beachboard of Philadelphia and Miss Ruth Wanger of Philadelphia.

Petitions Circulated

At the conclusion of the addresses and program, members of the International Relations Committee of the Woman's Club were in the lobby with copies of the petition that will be presented, first to President Hoover and congress, asking that this country disarm and lead the movement for World Peace and later to the Disarmament Conference in Geneva next February. The petitions were signed by practically all persons in attendance.

Miss Ruth Wanger, leader of the Caravan, and Miss Jean daCosta, of Philadelphia, arrived here during the afternoon from Slippery Rock, where a meeting was held at noon. They were the dinner guests of Mrs. William Cosel, chairman of the International Relations Committee of the Woman's Club and of the meeting held here. The other members of the party went to Pittsburgh following the Slippery Rock meeting, returning here about seven o'clock, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Storer, parents of Morris B. Storer, principal speaker of the evening. This group included Morris B. Storer, W. W. Beachboard and Miss Helen Goldsborough.

This group was met just beyond the city limits, near the Senator Weingartner property by a motorcycle officer of the city and five cars in which were members of the Woman's Club and other ladies' organizations of the city, and escorted to the Cathedral.

Meeting Opens

The meeting started promptly at eight o'clock with a pipe organ recital with Edwin Lewis at the console. The numbers were received in an appreciative manner by the audience. At the conclusion of the recital, Mrs. A. B. Street, president of the Woman's Club, Mrs. William Cosel, chairman of the evening, Rev. D. C. Schnebly, president of the Ministerial Association, Mayor William H. Gillespie and the Caravan speakers, Miss Ruth Wanger, Morris B. Storer and W. W. Beachboard, advanced to the center of the stage, which was most attractively decorated with flags of all nations.

Mrs. Street opened the meeting, expressing pleasure of the club in sponsoring a meeting, based on love of and loyalty to our country and for the purpose of gaining a better knowledge of what the Disarmament Conference really means to this country and the World, after which she introduced Mrs. William Cosel as chairman of the evening.

Mrs. William Cosel assumed her duties as chairman in an unusually charming manner, her remarks expressing her pleasure in being honored with such a place in a meeting of the kind.

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church and president of the Ministerial Association, then delivered the invocation, asking the blessing of God on the meeting and the purpose for which it was held.

A most impressive feature of the evening occurred at this time as the lights of the auditorium were dimmed and Lois Marion Smith, a girl scout, and Ralph Davies, a boy scout, lead in the Salute to the Flag, which presented an inspiring sight, as it waved in a light that was centered on it. The entire audience joined in this tribute to the flag.

Welcome Caravan

Mayor William H. Gillespie officially welcomed the members of the caravan and extended them the freedom of the city. In the course of his remarks, Mayor Gillespie said that there was one word that was the cause of all wars. This word, he said, is "Greed," which means as the case may be, the greed of one nation for the power, the territory or the wealth of another nation and extends even into the dealings among individual men. He expressed the hope that the Disarmament conference might bring about the reduction of the armaments of the nations to the simple status of mere police power.

At this point, the audience, with R. E. Johns directing and Edwin Lewis presiding at the pipeorgan, rendered "America,' The Beautiful". This was done in an enthusiastic manner.

Storer Speaks

Morris B. Storer of the Caravan, then spoke. He said among other things "It is the time for realism and the facing of facts as they are today. If we don't, the time will come when the forces, which we are able to control today, will be beyond control.

"In the world war, we, American, did not drink the dreggs of poisoned bitterness because we did not enter it until late in its course. For this reason we suffered much less than he others. Had it lasted a little longer, we too, would have suffered as did the others.

"It would seem that whatever our belief in regard to the method, that we are united in the matter of preparedness but definite action and a decision is needed as to the method. One thing is sure, none of us want war. Preparedness is a problem of the world in the near future.

"Another war will mean the destruction of civilization. We all know that warfare today does not end in victory. It is no longer defensive, regardless of which side is the victor. It is all aggressive and both seek to do damage to the country of the others. Today, it is the greed of a few men that is responsible for war. Enduring peace through disarmament will mean true national defense, good will on earth and the coming of the Kingdom of God."

Mrs. Gladys Rosenthal rendered a solo in her usual delightful manner with Mrs. Paul Welch as accompanist.

Beachboard Speaks

Walter W. Beachboard of Philadelphia, a law student, was the next speaker, who opened his remarks by telling of a young German whom he met after he came to this country as the husband of a girl classmate of his and who was possessed of physical disabilities that were very noticeable. These, Mr Beachboard said, he learned, were the result of the privations that this young man had suffered as a child during the World War. This had caused Mr. Beachboard to determine on fighting anything that would deprive others of necessities. For this reason, he had taken up the battle against war and the fight for disarmament. He went on to show that there would be no defense possible against the horrors of war, in the next possible conflict and that the only sensible thing to do was to work for the disarmament of the nations and the advancement of the ideals of peace.

Miss Wanger Speaks

Miss Ruth Wanger, of Philadelphia, a teacher of history in the public schools of that city was the concluding speaker and her address was in substance, a summing up of what the other speakers had said.

She said that after all the whole matter was the determining of what is the basis of patriotism, what is our duty to our country, what our obligation in such things is to our country and what our love of country demands of us.

She said among other things that "history at all times shows that armaments of nations have never prevented wars, but have rather been the cause of all wars. Scientists have shown that armaments are futile.

"Our prosperity depends on our World Trade. The best way to retain it is by peaceful methods rather than by armaments. We promed the boys in 1917 that the war was a war to prevent war. We must make our pledge of world peace in the Kellogg peace pact. Otherwise we stand convicted as a nation of hypocrits."

She concluded her remarks with a plea for signatures for the petitions that the caravan had with it.

Mrs. Cosel brought the meeting to a close by thanking those who had made the meeting a success.

STRANGE NATURE TALE

(International News Service)

SALEM, Ind.—Two local fishermen brought back a strange nature tale from their latest fishing trip. Enroute to fish in a stream northeast of here, their attention was attracted by the continuous cries of a crow. The cries seemed to emanate from a small branch near the road. Investigating, they discovered a turtle measuring eight inches across the back, holding fast the wing of a big, black and very much alive crow. The supposition is that the crow had alighted at the edge of the shallow creek to drink and the turtle had come along and seized the crow.

EYE WITNESSES GIVE DETAILS OF HORROR

tween two houses, where George Masters had stopped him with a revolver.

"You killed your wife, your sister-in-law and about two or three others—maybe more, I shouted at him as he was lying on the ground. 'Did I,' he shouted back. When I told him yes, he closed his eyes and didn't say anything. Then he gasped: 'Did I?' He sort of cried and turned over."

Mrs. Bell Zock lives up the street about six houses from where the trouble started, handy the Siciliano home where the maddened maniac shot at Tony Ciciliano, about nine years old.

"Run into your house, I shouted at him when I saw Uncle Marco coming up the street. He's my uncle but I could see the gun in his hand, had heard the gun shots and presumed something was wrong. Tony didn't get into the house in time. He was shot first. Uncle John killed Aunt Esther (his wife) probably just before coming up the street."

Donato Vecchio, who operates a grocery store right over the hill from the avenue of houses, was sleeping at the time. It was in this fashion that he told it:

"I heard the gun shots, they kept on, and I jumped out of bed, naturally wondering what was about. I went down into the street where it occurred, but in the meantime the crowd had gathered. Then someone, I don't know who, grabbed me and asked to use my phone. He called Mercer for the police on the store phone."

Heard Shots

Mrs. Marie Hedglin lives just below the Demofonti home. She recalls it this way:

"I have two small children who were sleeping when I heard the first shot. Right away I ran outside and there I saw him (Demofonti) standing, I mean staring around. I think he had a knife. Naturally my first thought was for the babies, sleeping upstairs. I woke them up and together we sought shelter inside. Demofonti kept standing outside, near enough to see him. Whether he looked at me as I closed a door I don't know. I was too scared. Pretty soon he started up the street."

So shrieking was the crying of children, barking of dogs and cracks of the shotgun in the vollage that residents nearly half a mile could hear the excitement. Mrs. Ann Stone, who lives on the Leesburg slag road, was the only one that heard it from a distance.

"Hear it? I should say! At our place we could hear the racket, and I can't describe the shrilling voices of the kids. I came over with the family as quick as I could. It was all over then and Masters had finally put an end to the massacre, that's what it was."

Nearly 30 families reside about the village, and of that number Demofonti killed or injured someone in about five or six. At one place, the Deddyk home, where there fortunately was no one at the time, Demofonti left his mark by firing into the frame home and setting it afire. It is believed the bullet struck a kerosene lamp, upsetting it and causing the house to take fire. Village firemen laid a hose in quick time and extinguished it before the flames had gone too far, although the house was badly wrecked.

Two ambulances were on the scene in no time, the Cunningham ambulance from Leesburg and one from Mercer. It only took a short time to determine that certain victims of the mad-man were dead, and even less time to rush the injured into the Mercer hospital.

State police, hearing news of the holocaust almost as soon as it occurred, sped to the scene from the Mercer barracks. With them went Sheriff Callahan and his deputies. They had arrived too late, although their part was to return order to the place. They were on hand practically all day.

Coroner W. J. McGrath of Mercer county made the investigation and pronounced certain of the victims dead. His staff came to photograph the places in which the bodies were found.

Clustered on practically every No. 2 mine porch about two or three hours after the calamity were the townspeople, discussing something that hardly could be discussed.

As one eye-witness reported Demofonti as yelling: "I'll wipe out everyone in No. 2," the mad-man almost did. George Masters is probably the answer to why he didn't.

Masters, the manager of the Union Supply company, located near the mine, is a quiet, unassuming man. It was all that he would do to retell his early-morning experience. Persuasion wouldn't work, but in his conversation to friends he did review, in a matter-of-fact way, how Demofonti had attempted to get him, but the gun didn't fire that time.

"I fired a shot into the ground with my revolver when he aimed and then found it didn't go off. I wanted to scare him, not hit him. But he continued and began to point again, and I pulled the trigger again . . . aiming at the ground. Three times I fired away from him, but his rage wouldn't cease."

He finally was forced to send a bullet into his leg to stop him.

No. 2 mine was working, but things closed down temporarily as excitement reigned. Within a few minutes after the news left the village, the neighbors and persons from greater distances were on hand. The one-street community silently mourned this afternoon.

Capitol Goes Wet!

Imagine the ignominy of it! Here's the serene and staid figure of Miss Freedom, atop the U. S. Capitol at Washington, getting her neck and ears washed with the same thoroughness with which a fond parent would tackle a son when "company" is expected. This cleaning is done every four years and forms a part of the Capitol's $28,000 general clean-up program.

Movieland-Bound

Society Composer

For a long time Mrs. Charles E. Mitchell (above), well-known society woman of New York, was "out for a walk or out of town or out of health" when friends invited her to luncheons, bridge parties and all the functions of society. And now the secret of Mrs. Mitchell's "disappearances" is out! She has been composing the orchestrations for various instruments used in rendering Chopin's "Polonaise No. 1, Opus 26." Mrs. Mitchell's work is being played by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

Hawks Breaks Havana Record

Captain Frank Hawks, Makes Trip To Havana, Cuba, Today In 8 8 Minutes

(International News Service)

HAVANA, July 23. — Captain Frank M. Hawks, American air speed king in pursuit of a new round-trip speed record between New York and Havana, arrived here at 11:08 a. m. (12:08 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time), established a new one-way record for this flight.

Hawks, who hopped off from New York at 4 a. m., Eastern Daylight Time, made the flight here in 8 hours and 8 minutes, including the time taken in two refuelling stops, one at Wilmington, N. C., and one at Miami, Fla. This was 31 minutes better than the record set last week by James G. Hall, New York flying broker.

Hawks' plane was first sighted from the General Machado airport at 11:06 a. m., about two miles from the airport. The plane was coming in low and with the swiftness of a bullet toward the field two minutes later the speedy plane had rolled to a stop and Hawks, smiling broadly, was climbing from the cockpit.

Wins Balloon Race

Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, U. S. N., won the right to compete in the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett trophy when he piloted the Navy balloon to victory in the 1931 elimination race, which started from Akron, Ohio, July 19. Lieut. Settle (above), with his aide, Lieut. Wilfred Bushnell, covered 215 miles before being forced down.

People Making Less Money But Playing More Games

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 23.—Perhaps it is the economic depression, the summer season, or the post-post-war influence but everybody seems to be playing the games these days.

The old games are coming back and the new games are going forward.

There is auction bridge and contract bridge—according to the way you like your arguments. There are poker games at home and poker games abroad—according to whether you are married or a bachelor—and when.

There is chess for the thoughtful, parchesi for low stakes and mahjong for high stakes, dominoes for those who like dominoes, cross-word puzzling for the boys and girls who can read and write, and guessing games of all kinds for the old and the young and the politicians.

It takes only two to make company or a game of double canfield or backgammon. This last pastime, resurrected from the days of the French court, is sweeping through the wide open spaces in drawing room, pullman car and hotel porch.

And then there is another redis-covered continental game which has just caught on along Park Avenue and the ritzy "cabanyas" on the beaches.

It is supposed to have been excavated by a party of societeers who went slumming in a Russian restaurant and sighted a duchess in an apron playing it with a former Russian duke in overhalls.

Salvo was played by the aristocrats in Russia before it was ignored by the Soviet five-year plan. It was reputedly popular among the officers of the Czar's army and navy calling for mental strategy and studying the "maneuvers" of the enemy.

It is played on pads of paper each of which is stamped with areas of 100 squares. One area represents the opponent's territory. The other represents the player's. The player or "admiral," places his fleet in what he considers a strategic position. The admiral who sinks the enemy's fleet first is the winner.

There is a picturesque slanguage which goes with the game. These phrases include "Hit me amid ship," "I've got your range" and other and other nautical cutisms.

I suppose if you wear a sailor hat you can play a better game.

Heigh, ho. Life is more than a game—it is a whole flock of games.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Dressed up in a flock of three dollar words, and sprinkled through with technical phrases, thicker than raisins in an old fashioned rice pudding, a letter of protest and request reached this department today. And customers what a letter!

It concerned the reference the other day to the "Dyediscus" on display in a florist's window which was merely a bouquet of wild carrots, colored. Seems to me we called them wild parsnips but it was merely a mistaking of Vegetables.

The writer has in capital letters THIS IS NOT FOR PUBLICATION and so the letter will not be published but it goes on giving us the real low down on wild carrots. Queen Anne's Lace is another name for the flower or to delve into the latin "Daucus Carota". He also suggests that it might have been a "Didiscus" or Blue Lace Flower and here is where the rap comes in.

Sezze, "was it spelled the way you had through ignorance or through a pun in very poor taste"? How can you answer that one. He reads us into a hole either way and so a dignified silence is the only answer for that one. Further he says he asked the Lexicographer, Homer C. Drake, (who hasn't been lexing much lately) and he didn't know.

However here's the real answer. The flowers were dyed, hence the dye-discus. The flower was not a Didiscus but Queen Anne's Lace which I hope satisfies the gentleman. And the letter was appreciated Mr. Treser. Al, not Stan.

For the information of some of the folks, those gadgets on the front lawns in the North Beaver and Grant street districts have nothing to do with rain precipitation or the direction of the wind. They are beetle traps.

Driving down this district yesterday afternoon we noticed the peculiar looking arrangements stuck in the lawns and got out to inspect them. In shape they look like a tin funnel with a fin on the top of them, and a half pint jar under neath.

Every jar had water in it which led to the idea that they were for rain precipitation but inquiry revealed the fact that they were for Japanese beetles. The idea being apparently that the beetle tries to hop over the fin on top, failing to do so he slides down the side. For a time everything seems lovely and then he hits the hole at the bottom and drops into the jar.

Rather a snide trick to play on the beetle, but having the Jap beetles in your garden is much like having ants in your soup. For some reason what few beetles ever visited New Castle must have had friends or acquaintances on Beaver or Grant street and hence the traps are laid for them in that district.

If they happen to get over into your yard, don't keep it a secret. The darn things are more pestiferous than a case of prickly heat and the state and national governments are spending plenty of money to eradicate them.

Poultrymen Hear Experts Talk On Tour Thru County

Better means of marketing eggs and latest poultry raising practices were told to about 80 poultrymen from Lawrence and Mercer county who completed a tour of the leading poultry raising farms in the county yesterday.

Sponsored by the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association and County Farm Agent McCullough, the tour was complete with talks by State College experts who attended.

Dr. Hunter, poultry expert of the college, addressed the poultrymen on "Nutritional Research." H. H. Kaufman, another college expert spoke on poultry in Western Pennsylvania. An address on feeding the laying flock was made by Mrs. J. A. Evarts of Energy. Harry Mason of West Middlesex spoke on "Marketing of Eggs and Poultry."

Mahoning Girl Missing From Home

Josephine Lambasi, a fifteen year old lass of 211 South Liberty street, has been missing from her home since Monday and her father, Mike Lambasi, is much concerned about her absence and asks that any one who might have information that would lead to finding her, get in touch with him.

Miss Lambasi is about 5 feet 3 inches tall, has dark hair and eyes and is quite a comely miss. She weighs about 119 pounds. When she left the house Monday she was wearing a dark skirt and white blouse.

It has been reported she went to New York, but this has not been confirmed. There had been no family trouble or anything that would lead to the girl's leaving.

City Refuses To Accept Refund

JACKSON, Miss., July 23.—Pangs of conscience over having three red lanterns belonging to the city a decade ago, brought a man back to the city hall here the other day.

He went to see the city engineer. "Cap," he said, "ten years ago I broke three red lanterns on the streets of Jackson. I still don't feel right about it, and now I've come to pay for these lanterns."

City officials found no record of three red lanterns having been broken that far back, and they would not allow the man to make restitution. Sorrowfully he turned away.

Letter Writers "Tell It To" Motor Bureau

HARRISBURG, July 23.—"The pulse of the motoring public."

Such is the designation that officials give the correspondence section of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Revenue. Letters that eventually find their way to it are expressive of every human emotion. There are letters containing legitimate questions; letters of complaint and letters that just provide the writers the opportunity of easing their minds on many and varied subjects. Some are signed. Some are anonymous.

The section handles the bureau correspondence through each step of the way from the time it reaches it from the mail openers until it goes into the file. The general correspondence file is believed to be the largest general correspondence file in use anywhere. Its equipment consists of 463 five-drawer file cases; or a total of 2,315 drawers of active material. The file unit handles between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 pieces of mail annually.

The personnel of correspondence section numbers 235 employes. Thirty per cent of the letters received are answered within 24 hours. Forty-five per cent are answered within 48 hours and 15 per cent within 72 hours. The remaining 10 per cent, on which replies are delayed are usually irregular in some way and require special checking or special attention of some kind.

Seventeen per cent of the employes of the section are college trained men and women. They represent 26 colleges, universities and normal schools. Besides this number 162 employes are high school graduates.

Sharkey Claims Injury To Hand

Sharkey Says That Injury To Left Hand In First Round Hindered Him

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 23.—A knocked-down knuckle in his left hand hindered Jack Sharkey in his bout against Mickey Walker last night, according to the Boston heavyweight.

After the fight Sharkey said he crumbled the knuckle in the first round of the 15-round battle.

"I am not claiming this as an alibi," said Sharkey "but I could not close my hand and hit properly with it until after the tenth round. Before that my left was practically useless. It pained me all through the fight. I thought I won just the same."

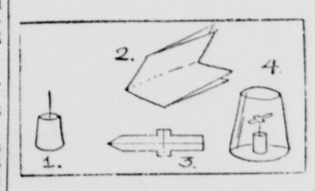
Puzzlers

Can you make this paper arrow point to any person or object you wish?



Drive a needle head downward into a piece of cork (Fig. 1); cut from a fourfold piece of paper (Fig. 2) an arrow (Fig. 3); affix the arrow lightly to the needle, without piercing the paper completely, so that the central part will be at the meeting of the two folds, cover with a glass, as in Fig. 4. Now, announce that you will make it point to a certain person, rub the side of the glass facing this person with a woolen cloth, and the arrow will turn until it points in the desired direction.

Youth Faces Auto Stealing Charge At Indianapolis

Indiana Officials Go To Pittsburgh To Return Alleged Thief Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 23—Waiving extradition, William Maynard, 22 year old Glendale, W. Va. youth, today left here in the custody of Detective William Kurrasch of Indianapolis, Ind., to face charges in connection with the alleged "conversion" of an automobile rented there last July 11 which the prisoner admitted he drove to Pittsburgh.

Maynard, a former chef at the Spink Arms Hotel in Indianapolis, was arrested here yesterday and held for Indianapolis police. Detective said he admitted taking the automobile, a sedan tpye at Indianapolis from a "drive-yourself" agency and driving it to Pennsylvania.

The youth denied any connection, however, with the $2,000 robbery of the Emboyd Theatre at Fort Wayne, Ind., last July 12 and the $800 stick-up of the Paramount theatre last June 7 at Marion, Ind.

Kurrasch arrived here this morning with a warrant for Maynard.
